NATIONAL PARK AT CONFLUENCE OF RIVERS URGED IN LAND-USE PLAN

Northeast Corner of County, Including Columbia Bottoms, Foreseen as Key Industrial Area.

The northeast corner of St. Louis county would achieve national as well as local importance under land-use proposals by the County Planning Commission.

The area, which contains Columbia Bottoms, is foreseen as the future principal industrial section of the county. Planners recommend also development of a national park at the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

The corner has been designated Study Area 1 in the commission's land use plan, which divides the county into 19 areas. Area 1 will be discussed at a public hearing beginning at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Larimore School, 1025 Trampe lane, Spanish Lake.

Municipalities Listed.

Bellefontaine Neighbors, Riverview and Moline Acres are the only incorporated communities in the area, which is bounded by the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, the city of St. Louis, the proposed Inner Belt Expressway and U. S. Highway 67.

Alfred Kahn, the county's assistant planning director, said the physical characteristics and the pattern of urban development thus far make planning in this area comparatively uncomplicated. The bottomland near the confluence of the two rivers is clearly delineated. Kahn said the same is true of the two communities in the area, the Spanish Lake community to the north and the Bellefontaine Neighbors-Riverview community to the south.

The Watkins creek flood plain and the St. Louis State Training School property provide an excellent greenbelt serving as a divider between the communities, Kahn said. The area south of the greenbelt "is pretty well filled up," he said, while development is increasing north of the dividing line.

4444 Acres for Industry.

The area now has 4.3 acres of industrial development. The plan allocates 4444 acres for that purpose.

Development of Columbia Bottoms for industrial purposes would be augmented by two other large industrial sites under the land use plan. These would include a 425-acre tract now in agricultural use and a 225-acre site which already has been partially developed for industry.

The larger development would be in the northern part of the area, northeast of the intersection of New Jamestown and Bellefontaine roads.

New Highway Link.

Kahn said development of the site would require construction of a highway connection of about two miles from Strodtman road to Missouri Highway 140 at U.S. Highway 67. The new road would connect the proposed industrial site to major roads leading to St. Louis as well as points west. It would run through the heart of the industrial tract.

The smaller industrial development is proposed north and south of U.S. Highway 66 partly in Bellefontaine Neighbors but largely in an unincorporated part of the county.

A new road is recommended

AMARILLO GLOBE-TIMES WINS PULITZER PRIZE

Takes Public Service Award for Fight on Corruption in Local Government — Other Winners Announced.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 1—The 1961 Pulitzer Prize for meritorious public service in journalism was awarded today to the Amarillo (Tex.) Globe-Times.

The Texas newspaper received the $1000 prize and gold medal for its successful campaign to smash corruption in local government. An inquiry launched by Globe-Times editor Thomas H. Thompson resulted in gambling convictions, the resignation and disbarment of a county judge and indictments against several law enforcement officers, the Pulitzer Prize citation said.

Subsequently, a reform slate of public officials was elected, the citation stated.

The Pulitzer prizes in journalism and letters were established under a trust fund created by the late Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the old New York World.

The Pulitzer award for international reporting was given this year to Ynn Heinzerling of the Associated Press for his coverage of the early stages of The Congo crisis "under extraordinarily difficult conditions."

Heinzerling also was cited for his "keen analysis of events in other parts of Africa."

For local reporting under pressure of deadline, the Pulitzer Prize was awarded to Sanche de Gramont of the New York Herald-Tribune for his coverage of the death of Leonard Warren on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera.

Gramont, a re-write man on the Herald Tribune staff, was rushed to the Metropolitan Opera by his city editor shortly after word of Warren's collapse on the stage reached the newspaper. He returned to the newspaper

ALDERMEN GET BILL TO BAR BIAS IN PUBLIC PLACES

Measure Sponsored by 11 Is Like One That Failed in Last Session.

A new bill which would prohibit racial or religious discrimination in places of public accommodation was introduced in the Board of Aldermen today.

The bill would prohibit discriminatory practices in any place of public accommodation in the city, and would prohibit operators of restaurants and similar establishments from setting aside special sections for serving persons other than white persons.

The measure would also prohibit the posting of any written or printed advertisement announcing that accommodation is refused or denied persons because of their race, color, religious beliefs, ancestry or origin.

Administration of the proposed law would be the responsibility of an anti-discrimination division of the St. Louis Council on Human Relations.

Eleven Sponsors.

The bill was introduced by 10 aldermen and Aldermanic President A. J. Cervantes. The aldermen were Archie Blaine, Sixth ward; William Clay, Twenty-Sixth ward; John T. Curry, Fifth ward; Harold I. Elbert, Twenty-eighth ward; John D. Gumersell, Twenty-fifth ward; Alfred I. Harris, Twenty-first ward; DeWitte T. Lawson, Ninteenth ward; T. H. Mayberry, Fourth ward; Wayman F. Smith, Eighteenth ward, and Lawrence E. Woodson, Twentieth ward. Elbert is a Republican; the others are Democrats. A bill needs 15 votes for passage.

The Council on Human Relations would have the right to initiate or receive complaints, to investigate them, and to try to adjust them through conciliation.

However, if the conciliatory powers of the council prove inadequate, the body is authorized to take a specific alleged violation to court. Violations would be misdemeanors, punishable by a fine ranging from $25 to $500.

A similar bill, introduced last session by 10 aldermen, died in committee.

Budget Cuts Sought.

Meanwhile, the aldermanic Ways and Means Committee today directed the heads of three city departments to attempt to cut their budget requests for the current fiscal year.

The committee, headed by Alderman Louis Aboussie Dem.), Ninth ward, began a series of hearings on the city's proposed $74,765,545 operating budget.

GIRLS, 11 AND 12, SHOT TO DEATH; YOUTH CHARGED

HOLLAND, Mich., May 1 (UPI)—The bodies of two girls missing since Saturday were found today less than half a mile from their homes and police were searching for a 16-year-old boy charged with murder in their killings.

The bodies of Carol Gee, 11 years old, and Margaret Chambers, 12, were found covered with leaves and lying in heavy brush.

(The Associated Press, said the Chambers girl had two gunshot wounds in the chest and two in her back. The Gee girl had been shot twice behind one ear and once in the thigh. They had been shot at close range. They were fully clothed.)

Forrest Flaugher of Holland told authorities he had seen some picked wild flowers and 22 bullet casings lying along a trail Saturday. Today he led searchers to the flowers and shells, and a short distance away they found the bodies.

Leaves Note.

The youth being sought, James Scott Stephens, a Boy Scout, had been target shooting in the area Saturday.

Police disclosed today contents of a note left behind yesterday and addressed to the boy's mother:

"Mom, I'm sorry but it was an accident. I tripped over a log and the gun went off a couple of times. I didn't mean to do it. When you read this I will be on my way to Arizona and New Mexico. Keep your chin up. I'll be back. Don't do anything rash. Your loving son, Jim." The note, left in his bedroom, added: "I will send back the $10.05 I borrowed" as soon as "I get a job."

Authorities had issued a warrant charging young Stephens with murder yesterday, even before the bodies were found, on the basis of the note.

The bodies had been concealed just beyond the first of the rough Macatawa hills.

Capt. L. R. Hunt of the Rockford state police post, said it appeared the girls had been shot somewhere on the trail and then dragged to the place where the bodies were found.

The girls, who lived near each other two blocks from Stephens's home, were last seen Saturday when they left to pick wild flowers in the Macatawa hills south of Holland.

Stephens disappeared yesterday morning after having a

Hunt On for Auto Tire Loaded With 16 Sticks of Dynamite

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 1 (UPI)—Sacramento county sheriff's deputies intensified their search today for a spare tire containing 16 sticks of dynamite. They fear that it may be on the automobile of an unsuspecting driver.

Authorities said a safe cracker told them he hid the dynamite in the spare tire of a girl friend's car without telling her and then re-inflated the tire.

The girl sold the car Friday to a Sacramento used car dealer, who in turn sold it to Roy Aquilar of Sacramento. However, Aquilar said the dealer had switched tires before he purchased the auto. Nobody knows where the dynamite went. Deputies presume it was put on another car, but do not know where.

They fear that the search may end tragically—either in a dealer's lot where deputies are cautiously checking tires on each car, or on the highway where an innocent driver may be rolling along on an explosive tire.

GEN. EISENHOWER CALLS FOR UNITY IN CUBAN CRISIS, OPPOSES INQUIRY

Urges Bipartisan Support for President, No Witch Hunt — Declines to Be Drawn Out on Laos.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 1—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower today urged bipartisan unity on the Cuban situation and said it would be a grave mistake to have a full investigation of the failure of the Cuban invasion.

Gen. Eisenhower told his first formal press conference since leaving the White House that "now is not the time to go back and rake over the ashes." He added that "let's by no means start a witchhunt" over the Cuban setback.

The United States, he said, "stands firmly behind the President in his effort to prevent the solidifying of a Communist regime in this country (Cuba)" or anywhere."

The former President, who has been out of office 101 days today, confirmed that his Administration had furnished equipment and training to the Cuban insurgents who hoped to overthrow the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

Lacked Leader.

He added, however, that there was no possibility of going farther at that time because the insurgents lacked a common front or a single strong leader.

Gen. Eisenhower disclosed also that he has called off his scheduled trip to Japan this fall on the advice of the State Department. Despite Japanese assurance of his safety, he said, he does not want to do anything that might weaken this country's position anywhere in the world.

His call for national unity in the face of the Cuban failure apparently was intended as a warning to Republican leaders against any post-mortem or critical attacks which might hamper President Kennedy's future efforts.

The former President, who has been restored to the rank of five-star general by Congress, met with reporters after a two-hour conference with G.O.P congressional leaders in his office on the Gettysburg College compus.

Backs G.O.P. Platform.

For the most part, he declined to be drawn out on his views about the crisis in Laos or on Mr. Kennedy's congressional program, although he did say at one point that he still supports the Republican program as set forth in the party's 1960 campaign platform.

Asked whether he agreed with some Republican leaders that American troops should never be used in Laos, Gen. Eisenhower told reporters that when grave issues such as this are placed before the President, we must rely on his decision and advice.

It would be, he declared, "a disservice to the American public" for him to comment on what he thinks Mr. Kennedy should do to counter the Pathet Lao advance in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

He pointed out that he no longer has access to the day-by-day information which Mr. Kennedy is receiving on the Laotian situation. The developments of the last week, he added, have been too rapid for him to make any informed comment on the situation.

Questioned for Half Hour.

The former President, tanned and ruddy after a golfing vacation in California, was questioned by reporters for a half hour after the meeting with the G.O.P. leaders, including Senate minority leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois and House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Asked whether he believes the American people are entitled to a "post-mortem" on the reasons for the failure of the Cuban invasion, Gen. Eisenhower said history will one day tell the whole story.

But he added that now is not the time. "The last thing you would want," he declared, "is a complete investigation, spreading it on the record." There are, he pointed out, things still to be done with respect to the Castro regime.

In so far as the American

KENNEDY CALLS STRATEGY CONFERENCE ON LAOS FOR FOURTH TIME IN 10 DAYS

Doorstep Greeting for G.O.P. Chiefs

PRESIDENT CUTS WEEKEND SHORT TO CONSULT WITH RUSK, M'NAMARA

Fulbright Opposed to Sending Troops — Says Kennedy Has Failed to Inform People of Crisis.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—President Kennedy called in the National Security Council again today to consider a more active roie for the United States in civil war-torn Laos.

Presumably, Mr. Kennedy and his military and diplomatic advisers were considering the possibility of United States and Allied military intervention as a means of countering Communist advances in Laos and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

Any intervention would be made through the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Met Only Saturday.

This is the fourth session for the top strategy group within 10 days. Its last meeting was on Saturday.

There was a chance that tension in Laos would be eased by the time Mr. Kennedy met with his advisers in late afternoon. The State Department was studying news dispatches from Laos which told of a rebel-backed cease-fire offer.

Although there was no official comment in Washington, one official here said privately the move by Prince Souvanna Phouma "is encouraging—if true."

The dispatches said Souvanna, who is recognized as premier by the Communist-dominated Pathet Lao rebels, proposed a meeting of military leaders on the front north of Vientiane, the capital.

Safe Conduct Promised.

Souvanna offered to meet with government representatives before Wednesday. Capt. Kong Le, rebel military commander, promised enemy delegates safe conduct to Ban Namon, the meeting place suggested by Souvanna.

Mr. Kennedy cut short his weekend rest in Virginia yesterday to review the Laotian crisis with top government officials.

Shortly after a helicopter deposited him on the White House lawn, Mr. Kennedy went into conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. They were joined by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, other State and Defense Department officials and by McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to Mr. Kennedy on national security affairs.

On emerging from the White House, Rusk told reporters the conference had been on "Laos and other matters."

Criticism by Fulbright.

Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, firmly opposed sending American troops into Laos.

Fulbright acknowledged yesterday that the United States faced a serious loss of prestige if Laos fell to the Pathet Lao.

"But," he added, "I don't think the terrain and conditions are right for sending in our troops. We must seek another solution and we are."

Fulbright said he would favor further United States military action in South Viet Nam, Thailand or Burma if those nations requested it.

Appearing on a television program, Fulbright said the Administration has failed to inform the American people of the crisis they face.

"I would hope the President would give some special attention to informing us over television," Fulbright said. "... He should have some educational interviews to inform all of us of the nature of the conditions we confront and what should be done about them."

Fulbright added that "of course" the Administration has his backing.

Troop Departure Halted.

While the Pentagon was silent, there was one clear sign of military preparations on this side of the Pacific. This came in the sudden, eleventh-hour cancellation of a 6000-man training mission to Europe.

Troops standing ready to board a fleet of about 300 transoceanic transport planes were returned to their barracks at Fort Campbell, Ky., at mid-

U.S. ASTRONAUT FLIGHT IS SET FOR TOMORROW

Countdown Under Way — Space Pilot to Be Given Limited Navigational Control.

By BRIG. GEN. THOMAS R. PHILLIPS, U.S.A. (Ret.).
Military Analyst of the Post-Dispatch.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., May 1—The long countdown began today on the Redstone rocket that is expected to carry America's first man into space. If all goes well, the planned flight may put the United States one scientific step ahead of Russia in determining man's ability to navigate the universe.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists said today that America's astronaut, whose identity remains secret, will be given limited navigational control of his Mercury capsule on the flight scheduled tomorrow.

The Soviet Union's Maj. Yuri Gagarin went higher and farther than America's proposed trip of 115 miles into space and 290 miles out into the Atlantic ocean. But Gagarin's space ship was at all times under control from the ground.

The space pilot and his alternate began preparations yesterday for the flight. They went into seclusion to undergo final physical and mental examinations. The alternate will be on the alert should something, even a slight cold, disqualify the first-choice astronaut.

The chosen two were selected from three candidates: Navy Comdr. Alan Bartlett Shepard Jr., from East Derry, N.H.; Marine Corps Lt. Col. John Herschel Glenn Jr., Concord, O., and Air Force Capt. Virgil Ivan Grissom, Mitchell, Ind.

Observers at the cape believe that Shepard, 35-year-old father of two girls, is the No. 1 candidate.

Support operations are ready. The ground-based crews whose task it is to get the astronaut up and down alive are at their posts. Final adjustments of myriad instruments are under way and recovery ships are en route to the target area.

All that remains is the agonizing wait while clocks tick off the minutes. Hundreds of hourly checks have been set up to keep operations smooth until 7 a.m. (St. Louis daylight time) tomorrow.

At that time, if there have been no slip-ups, the Redstone

LAOS DELAY KHRUSHCHEV'S FAULT, HARRIMAN INSISTS

U.S. Doing Everything Possible to Promote Cease-Fire, Ambassador Says.

VIENTIANE, May 1 (AP) — Pledging stanch United States support to the pro-Western government of Laos, W. Averell Harriman declared today that any delay in a cease-fire "is squarely up to Premier Khrushchev and he must bear responsibility for it."

The roving ambassador for President Kennedy came here from two days of conferences in the royal capital of Luang Prabang, where he and Cambodia's neutralist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, pressed for moves to establish a cease-fire as a first step toward peace.

Harriman told a press conference that the United States is doing everything possible to promote the cease-fire but will continue to stand behind the government in the Laotian civil war.

Relates King's Opposition.

Sihanouk told reporters in Vientiane earlier in the day that Laotian King Savang Vatthana now opposes a 14-nation peace conference on Laos, a development that might throw up another roadblock to a cease-fire.

But Harriman said the Laotian government of Premier Boun Oum and the United States both still favor the 14-nation conference after a cease-fire.

Sihanouk said he is withdrawing his sponsorship of the conference because King Savang Vatthana opposed anything but a settlement among the Laotians themselves.

Sihanouk has been acting in a role of mediator in the civil conflict and it was he who first suggested the 14-nation conference. The Communist-led rebels made this the cornerstone of their peace proposals.

Without elaboration, Sihanouk said in view of the king's position he now feels there is "a worse chance for peace."

Sihanouk told reporters that, at the urging of foreign diplomats, he had a number of peace plan suggestions at Luang Prabang. One was for India to send the International Control Commission to Laos at once, to work with both sides on arrangements for the cease-fire.

He said he had received word that India's Prime Minister Nehru had agreed to this. India is chairman of the commission. Red Poland and Canada are members.

In New Delhi, Indian chairman Samar Sen said the commission plans to fly to Laos in an Indian

RED CHINA HIT BY NEW DROUTHS, FLOODS AND HAIL

TOKYO, May 1 (AP) — Red China faces the threat of new calamities less than a year after the worst natural disasters of the century caused severe shortages of food for its 650,000,000 inhabitants.

The official New China News Agency disclosed yesterday that China has been hit by drouth in the northeast and east central areas, a series of hailstorms in the southeast and floods in the south.

Peiping already has been forced to go on the world market for food, placing huge orders with Canada and Australia.

Practicing Bagpiper Drowns Out Speech by British Princess

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 1 (AP)—A bagpiper on the ramparts of Edinburgh castle drowned out a royal speech Saturday with the strains of a Scottish lament.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal, 64-year-old aunt of Queen Elizabeth II, never gave up trying to make herself heard, but it was a losing battle.

The princess, who is colonel in chief of the Royal Scots Regiments, was opening a regimental museum in the castle when the leather-lunged piper started his daily practice session—unaware of the Royal presence nearby. Kilted soldiers were unable to track down the piper before the Princess finished her speech.

An army spokesman declined to disclose the piper's name. "He's a fine lad," the spokesman said. "He just didn't know about the ceremony and he's very, very sorry."

CASTRO BEAMS AS CUBA HOLDS MAY DAY RALLY IN SOVIET STYLE

Parade Banners Carry Pictures of Premier and Karl Marx—U.S. and Catholic Church Denounced.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 1 (AP) —Fidel Castro looked on with obvious pleasure today while masses of Cubans marched and sang in what was described as the first May Day celebration in the Western Hemisphere "with the working class in power."

The Prime Minister watched thousands of his countrymen troop through an "arch of triumph" topped with a big white peace dove and the legend: "Toward the union of all the workers of the world."

A Havana telecast picked up here showed Castro on the reviewing stand. Huge banners bore pictures of Castro and Karl Marx, founder of Communism.

Castro, like many others at the rally, wore a big red kerchief around his neck. There were floats and banners with slogans lashing the United States as an imperialistic aggressor and the Catholic Church as the "parrot of imperialism."

Commentators said Russia's Ambassador to Cuba was among the dignitaries with Castro on the presidential reviewing stand.

The parade, scheduled from early morning until late at night, included marching militiamen, Czech-made anti-aircraft guns, soldiers, workers, farmers, and children with balloons.

Few military weapons were seen in the parade. It had been announced that troops were being kept on the alert against the possibility af another invasion such as the one Castro's regime crushed last week.

The May Day observance brought about the first general work stoppage by Cuban workers in the 58-year history of the United States naval base at Guantanamo Bay. Only 10 Cuban workers in two cars and 35 workers aboard a ferry entered the base. Normally, about 3200 Cubans are employed there.

The stoppage was expected to last only through the day.

Castro, who yesterday was awarded the Russian Lenin peace prize, President Osvaldo Dorticos and Economic Chief Ernesto (Che) Guevara were scheduled to address multitudes of workers and militia brought into the capital for the day. The Havana radio said about 3,000,000 persons would participate in the rally.

Yesterday, the Cuban masses were criticized by Guevara in a three-hour television speech in which he complained they were short on Socialist fervor and slackening off on their work.

TSHOMBE LIKELY TO BE SHIFTED TO LEOPOLDVILLE

COQUILHATVILLE, The Congo, May 1 (AP)—Prompt transfer to Leopoldville is expected for President Moise Tshombe of Katanga, arrested by the Congolese central government in a new try at unifying the country's provincial factions.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko said Tshombe will be kept under house arrest indefinitely while the central government pursues its policy of ending all threats to nation-wide stability.

Tshombe's secessionist government at Elisabethville sent word yesterday that he should return to the unity talks from which he stormed away last Wednesday. That act of defiance caused the Congo army to hold him in hopes of preserving the conference.

Action Too Late.

"This is no time for hesitation and delaying actions," said Bomboko. The young Foreign Minister said it was too late now for Tshombe to rejoin the talks. Bomboko explained:

"Even if he came to an agreement with us, he could later claim it was made under constraint. Tshombe came to Coquilhatville with the idea of ruining the conference. He did not want to collaborate. Under conditions like this we have prevented him from leaving."

The humiliated Katanga President, in recent months considered the strongest man in The Congo, walked out on the conference because President Joseph Kasavubu of the Leopoldville central government agreed to co-operate with the United Nations Command by demanding the exit of all foreign advisers not connected with the United Nations.

White Officers in Army.

Tshombe's own army is largely officered by white mercenaries and the civilian advisers surrounding him are mostly Belgians. His mineral-rich province has been able to stand on its own.

"We fought against (the late former Premier Patrice) Lumumba, who wanted to destroy The Congo," said Bomboko. "We will fight everyone who follows Lumumba's example."

The Coquilhatville conference decided that Kasavubu should take "immediate necessary measures to rid Katanga of occupation by mercenaries and harmful foreign elements."

Bomboko explained that eventual disarming of "all private armies" — that is all forces not under Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's command — applies as well to the forces under Antoine Gizenga in rebel Oriental and Kivu provinces.

Backs U.N. Accord.

In its plans to restore Congo unity, the conferense also approved fully Kasavubu's accord with the U.N. Command. It asked Kasavubu to force the expulsion of all foreign diplomats, chiefly Communist, in Gizenga's capital at Stanleyville who are not accredited in Leopoldville.

Alleghany Stockholders Extend Voting on Control of Company

BALTIMORE, May 1 (AP)—Stockholders of Alleghany Corp., subject of a power struggle for control, met today for 90 minutes and recessed their annual meeting until next Monday without deciding a contest to depose Allan P. Kirby as chairman.

Opposing forces agreed to keep open voting until 9 a.m. tomorrow, delaying the start of a count that will decide whether Kirby stays on or surrenders control to dissident stockholders led by Texas financier John D. Murchison.

The session was conducted in basic harmony despite disorder by a pair of minority share owners who were forcibly ejected after a demonstration against the present management of the $6,700,000 corporation.

May Take Two Weeks.

Completion of the proxy count and the determination of the winning side was expected to take possibly two weeks.

At stake was control of a holding company which, although it has only 10 persons including secretaries on its payroll, governs the destiny of the $2,500,000,000 New York Central Railroad and Investors Diversified Services, $3,700,000,000 investment company complex.

I.D.S. manages pooled investments of more than 1,000,000 persons.

Alleghany has multi-million dollar holdings in the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and Missouri Pacific Railroad and in Trans-America Corp., an insurance holding company.

The heavy artillery was drawn up by rival camps yesterday with transport from New York of huge blocks of proxies, or votes.

Kirby's management forces, with the extra responsibility of security for the official stockholders' list and other corporate records, had theirs delivered by armored truck.

Special Cars Used.

The Murchison group brought theirs along by train, using two special cars hired for the occasion.

Neither side claimed a majority of the 9,844,970 common shares eligible to be voted. The Kirby group is on record as owning outright about 3,300,000, the Murchison group 2,850,000.

In addition, each side held sizable numbers of proxies from "independent" stockholders gathered in seven weeks of intensive, nation-wide solicitation by professionals.

OUSTED POLICE CHIEF DENIES CHARGES AT KANSAS CITY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1—Bernard C. Brannon, ousted Kansas City (Mo.) police chief, was arraigned today on charges of perjury and willful misconduct in office. Brannon, indicted on the charges last Friday, appeared before Circuit Judge Richard C. Jensen in Kansas City.

His brother, John G. Brannon, a lawyer, entered a plea of not guilty for the ex-chief on the two counts. The ex-chief was released on bonds of $2500 on the perjury charge and $1000 on the other one.

The charges involve accusations that reports on major crimes in the city had not been forwarded to the police records center. Brannon was dismissed April 18 by the police board which said he was responsible for a "breakdown in supervision" in the department.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS JOB CUT IN RAIL MERGERS

8-to-1 Decision Against Unions in Interpreting Interstate Commerce Act.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The Supreme Court decided today the Interstate Commerce Act does not require that employes of merged railroads must be continued in active employment status.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the 8-to-1 decision. Justice William O. Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion.

The court ruled on an appeal by the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and the Railway Labor Executives' Association. The organizations asked for better job protection for workers affected by the 1960 merger of the Erie and Lackawanna Railroads.

The Interstate Commerce Act says that as a result of railroad mergers no employes may be placed "in a worse position with respect to their employment" for four years from the date of the Interstate Commerce Commission's merger order. For those who worked for a railroad less than four years, the protective period would equal the time of their service before the merger.

Railway labor sought conditions that would prevent dismissal of any employe because of the merger, allowing reduction of working forces only by natural attrition, such as deaths, retirements and resignations.

The ICC merger order included a guaranteed wage for four years to those dismissed, no salary loss for four years to those transferred to other jobs, and retention by all affected employes of pension, health and other fringe benefits.

The Erie and Lackawanna merged last October, but all jobs have been frozen pending outcome of the litigation.

The high court was told the merger would result in elimination of 1982 jobs and transfer of 2159 others. The merged railroad operates 2961 miles of track in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

Refused to review, and thus let stand, lower court rulings that states must produce voting records on demand of the United States Attorney General. The case involved an appeal filed by Alabama election officials.

Ordered further arguments next fall on the controversial issue of whether states are unfairly discriminating against city voters in apportioning state legislative districts. The test case involves Tennessee but the final decision will have impact in several states.

Declined to look into a California state complaint that natural gas accounting procedures are improperly opening the way for increases in consumer rates.

Rusk Tells Senators U.S. Plans No Armed Intervention in Cuba

Morse Quotes Secretary as Saying Refugees Decided on Invasion—Got American Arms, Training.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured investigating Senators today the United States has no plans for armed intervention in Cuba.

Senator Wayne Morse, (Dem.), Oregon, said Rusk made this clear in three hours of closed door interrogation by the Latin American affairs subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Morse, the subcommittee chairman, reported Rusk made an able, factual and candid statement concerning this country's role in the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba.

Morse quoted Rusk as saying the invasion decision was made by the Cuban refugees themselves, but that they did have arms, financial and training assistance from the United States.

Rusk was the first witness in the subcommittee's effort to determine the extent of the United States involvement in the invasion fiasco. He will be followed later this week by Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence agency.

While it was a subcommittee inquiry, all members of the full committee were invited to sit in. Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, the committee chairman, attended this morning's session.

Complaint by Morse.

Morse has complained vigorously that the Administration failed to inform his subcommittee in advance of the ill-fated invasion of Cuba by Cuban exiles.

Had his group been consulted, Morse said, all its members would have warned that the operation would "encounter severe trouble in Cuba and that it would have serious repercussions elsewhere in the hemisphere, especially if it failed to dispose of Castro."

Senators are taking various positions on what future United States policy in regard to Cuba should be.

Senators Herman Talmadge Dem.), Georgia, and Hugh Scott (Rep.), Pennsylvania, say the United States should act forcefully to depose Prime Minister Fidel Castro if Latin American nations refuse to help.

Appearing yesterday on a television program, Talmadge and Scott agreed they were willing to risk the loss of Laos, Iran and other areas in retaliatory action by the Communists if military measures were needed to oust Communism from Cuba.

On the same program, Senator Joseph S. Clark (Dem.), Pennsylvania, said any such adventure would involve "a grave risk which has to be very seriously considered."

Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep.), Kentucky, on another TV program, counseled waiting to see what happens and what support the United States can get from the Organization of American States.

Senators Styles Bridges (Rep.), New Hampshire and Allen Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, said in broadcasts that they favor immediate imposition of a full-scale economic boycott as a first step toward bringing down the Castro government.

Notes of Caution.

Notes of caution were sounded by two other Republican Senators, Everett M. Dirksen, the Minority leader from Illinois, and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey.

The State Department, meanwhile, advised American citizens to leave Cuba. The Swiss embassy in Havana, which has been taking care of United States interests since the United States broke relations with Cuba, has notified Americans it would be in their interest to return to the United States.

CIA headquarters in Washington was picketed by 90 pacifist-led demonstrators yesterday.

HEAD OF FRENCH AERIAL DEFENSE SEIZED, JAILED

Arrest of Gen. Jean Nicot Presumably Part of Purge Following Algerian Revolt.

PARIS, May 1 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Jean Nicot, the man entrusted with the aerial defense of France, was arrested and placed in a military prison yesterday.

A communique from the Defense Ministry did not say where Nicot was being held or why he was arrested. Presumably, his arrest was part of the purge of French military forces following collapse of the Algiers military coup.

The 60-year-old Nicot was the fifth general to be arrested and imprisoned following collapse of the rebellion last Wednesday. The others, including retired Gen. Maurice Challe, ringleader of the coup, are held in Sante Prison in Paris.

Nicot, a bomber specialist with a brilliant war record, perfected the night bombing techniques used by the Free French air force in World War II.

Besides Challe, the other generals in prison here are Maj. Gen. Pierre Bigot, air force commander in Algeria; Brig. Gen. Andre Petit, deputy commander in the Sahara region and former military adviser to Premier Michel Debre, and Gen. Maurice Gouraud, who commanded in eastern Algeria at Constantine.

In another development connected with the Algerian situation, a suitcase bomb wrecked the lobby of American House Saturday night. Quick action by two young women saved many in the crowded lobby from injury or death. The bomb injured six persons, including the two women. None of the victims was American.

Police blamed rightist terrorists angered by United States support for President De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

Eva Khatar, a Lebanese, and Guiseppina Sportono, an Italian, told police they saw smoke coming from a suitcase near the entrance to the lobby. They shouted a warning and many in the lobby ran to safety.

Meanwhile armored cars and half tracks rumbled into Algiers to bolster already heavy military concentrations. Word had spread through the city that Moslems planned a May day holiday demonstration.

43 FLEE PARAGUAY PRISON

ASUNCION, May 1 (AP) — Forty-three men, all political prisoners, have escaped from a Paraguayan penal colony on Hermosa island and fled to Brazil with machine guns, rifles and ammunition.

An official source confirmed the breakout last night. A newspaper said some prison guards were injured.

GAGARIN HONORED AT MOSCOW FETE

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—Moscow celebrated May day with cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin a place of honor on the Red Square reviewing stand next to Nikita Khrushchev.

Gagarin stood with a half-smile on his face as Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky addressed the paraders and the 10,000 spectators admitted to the square.

Gagarin, Khrushchev and top Soviet leaders watched as Malinovsky, saluting from an open automobile, reviewed the ranks of soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Russians poured into the capital for the holiday, one of the biggest days of the year in the Communist world. The day in Moscow was cold and cloudy.

Moscow's festive mood was tempered somewhat by shortages of party food and drink, the worst in some years.

As if to acknowledge that shortages were in people's minds, Malinovsky started his speech with an assurance that the Soviet government was determined to provide an abundance of food and goods.

The marshal then began an attack on "aggressive imperialistic forces" who he accused of "having more and more recourse to military action to crush the mounting national liberation movements in Africa, Asia and Latin America."

He charged that "imperialist quarters of the United States" organized the recent anti-Castro invasion of Cuba and declared:

"Those who are addicted to such ventures should do well to remember that the peoples fighting against imperialist slavery, for their freedom and independence, have on their side the adamant solidarity of the working people of all lands, the sincere and unselfish sympathies of the peoples of the Soviet Union and the entire socialist (Communist) camp."

In honor of the day, the Soviet government conferred Lenin Peace prizes for 1960 on Cuba's Fidel Castro, Guinea's President Sekou Toure, Mrs. Rameshwari Nehru of India, who once led a campaign against the United States—Pakistan military pact, and William Morrow, Australian labor figure.

4 OF 7 ON COUNTY COUNCIL LOOK ON NEW WORKHOUSE PLAN WITH FAVOR

Indicate They Might Back Mayor Tucker's Proposal That Site Be Subject to Their Approval.

Four of the seven St. Louis county councilmen indicated today they would consider favorably Mayor Raymond R. Tucker's proposal that any site chosen by St. Louis for a workhouse in the county be subject to County Council approval.

The Mayor, at a meeting attended by three councilmen yesterday, said the city would be willing to amend its bill, pending in the Missouri Legislature, permitting a city workhouse or a joint city-county workhouse to be built in the county.

Councilmen Edward E. Murphy Jr. (Rep.), Fourth District, and Maurice M. Abramson (Dem.), Third District, who attended the breakfast meeting at Chase Hotel, said they would support the bill as amended.

Councilman John J. Dowling (Dem.), Second District, who is chairman of the council's jail and prison rehabilitation committee, said the proposal "needs further study" and that he would suggest immediate consideration of the matter by the council. He was the third councilman attending yesterday's meeting.

Concerned About Details.

Councilman John F. Molloy (Rep.), Seventh District, who was unable to attend the meeting, said Tucker's proposal "sounds better" and would seem to warrant favorable consideration. He said he was concerned about details of the proposed joint city-county operation of a workhouse.

Councilman Albert M. Bailey (Dem.), Sixth District, said he would favor the amendment, but that he was opposed to either a city or joint city-county workhouse in the county. He said he thought the requirement for council approval of a site would have the effect of preventing a workhouse in the county since the council would reject any site proposed by the city.

Council Chairman Russell A. Grantham (Dem.), Fifth District, was unable to attend yesterday's meeting because of an arm injury suffered Saturday in a fall when mowing the lawn at his home. He could not be reached today.

Councilman John O'Hara (Dem.), First District, was out of town.

Others Attending.

Also attending yesterday's meeting were County Counselor William E. Gallagher and City Counselor Thomas J. Neenan. Mayor Tucker had also invited County Supervisor James H. J. McNary, but McNary was out of town. McNary said early last month he opposed the bill because there was no provision for county control over site selection.

Mayor Tucker said after yesterday's meeting: "It is my hope that this amendment will show the city's willingness to secure mutually acceptable conditions for solving the common workhouse problem of the city and county."

Members of the House Committee on Civil and Criminal Procedure suggested at a committee hearing on the bill last week that city and county officials get together on possible modification of the measure.

About 30 north St. Louis county residents picketed the hotel during yesterday's meeting, carrying signs protesting against the proposed workhouse construction in the county. Residents of this area also spoke against the bill at the hearing at Jefferson City.

A workhouse site preferred by the city is in north St. Louis county near the St. Louis Training School.

Proposed Industrial Area

By Albert Schweitzer, a Post-Dispatch Artist.

Northeast corner of St. Louis county, which would be highly industrialized under recommendations of the County Planning Commission. Area includes Columbia Bottoms and two smaller industrial sites. Land-use plan recommends development of national park at confluence of Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

SUIT FILED OVER SMALLER LOTS IN PARKCHESTER AREA

A suit to prevent St. Louis county officials from permitting the Terra Development Corp. to develop a 55-acre tract north of Manchester into lots of 12,000 square feet each was filed today in circuit court at Clayton.

The plaintiffs, including 10 residents of the area, trustees of Parkchester, Inc., and the Parkway Consolidated School District, contended the County Council acted illegally in rezoning the tract from one-acre residential tracts. The rezoning bill was approved last Nov. 30 after being approved by the County Planning Commission.

The bill was described in the suit as illegal spot zoning and contrary to harmonious development of property. Property values in the area will be reduced, the suit alleged. Defendants include the council; Supervisor James H. J. McNary; Herbert G. Poertner, county director of public works, and the development corporation.

WEBSTER GROVES TO VOTE TOMORROW ON BOND ISSUE

Webster Groves residents will vote tomorrow on a $2,880,000 bond issue for parks and streets, and a proposed amendment to the city charter.

Three propositions are included in the bond issue: A $2,000,000 issue for reconstruction and repair of arterial streets, including the widening of sections of five major streets; a $500,000 issue for establishment of a revolving fund to finance public improvements, and a $380,000 issue for the purchase of new park sites and the improvement of existing ones.

The charter amendment would permit property owners to pay special street improvement assessments over a 10-year period instead of the five-year period now permitted. The bond issue proposals will require a two-thirds majority for approval, and the charter amendment a simple majority.

YOUTH IS CUT AND BRUISED; THROWN FROM CAR IN CRASH

Larry Williams, 16 years old, suffered possible head injuries, cuts and bruises of the face today when he was thrown from an automobile in a collision at Sulphur avenue and Potomac street.

Police said the car, driven by John Gray, 16, was struck on the right side by an automobile driven by John Miegendt, 5346 Chippewa street, when the two cars entered the unmarked intersection. Gray was driving east on Potomac and Moiegendt north on Sulphur. No charges were filed. Williams was treated at City Hospital.

REALTY BOARD OPPOSES SCHOOL BOND AMENDMENT

The Real Estate Board of Metropolitan St. Louis has sent letters to Missouri legislators urging defeat of a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit school bond issues in St. Louis to be passed by a simple majority vote. A two-thirds majority now is required.

A bill to amend the constitution to allow the change has been introduced in the House of Representatives. The bill is part of the Board of Education's legislative program.

53RD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Markloski, 3220 Harper street, celebrated their fifty-third wedding anniversary recently with a party for relatives at their home.

Markloski, who is 72 years old, is a retired employe of the Meyer Drug Co. His wife is 73. They have two children and seven grandchildren.

Land-Use Plan

also to aid development of this area. It would run north from the end of Gourock street across Bellefontaine Church road to Larimore road, a distance of about 1.5 miles.

The plan would designate a crescent-shaped strip between the Columbia Bottoms industrial development and the two rivers as permanent open space to preserve it from urban development. In the open space at the confluence of the rivers, a national park is proposed.

"This is one of the most important physical points in the United States and it ought to be recognized," Kahn said. "This is a project involving far more than St. Louis county. Illinois already has set aside land on its side for such use but Missouri has done nothing."

The steep limestone bluffs along the Missouri river and the wooded area to the south also ought to be retained as open space, the plan recommends, as should Spanish Lake and the greenbelt dividing the northern and southern communities.

Population to Double.

Planners expect the population of the area to grow from 24,745 to 54,656 in 20 years. Most new development is anticipated north of Highway 66.

The plan would create a focal point for the community to the north at Parker and Bellefontaine roads. The center would include shopping facilities, office buildings and a compact group of high-density residential units.

The community to the south would have a focal point at Bellefontaine and Chambers roads in Bellefontaine Neighbors. Existing schools, churches and stores in that vicinity form a good nucleus, Kahn said. The plan would add some multi-family dwelling units south of the intersection.

Would Provide Diversity.

High-density development is recommended at a few other scatttered points in the area to provide a diversity of residential accommodations.

In addition to commercial facilities to serve the Spanish Lake community, the plan proposes establishing three smaller business centers on Bellefontaine road at Larimore road, Larimore at Trampe lane and Parker road at U. S. Highway 67.

Completion of the proposed Inner Belt and Circumferential highways "will efficiently connect the communities of this area with all major sections of metropolitan St. Louis," the plan states. Improvements are recommended for Highway 67, Bellefontaine, Chambers, Columbia Bottoms and Strodtman roads to bring them to arterial standards.

VITO BIONDO PLEADS GUILTY TO STOLEN BONDS CHARGE

Vito J. Biondo, who lives in the 1500 block of Hogan street, pleaded guilty in United States district court today to a charge of receiving and concealing $13,300 worth of stolen series E United States savings bonds.

His sentencing was deferred until May 11 by United States District Judge Roy W. Harper, who directed the probation and parole office to investigate Biondo's background. The defendant was permitted to remain at liberty on $10,000 bond.

Sherman A. Gendron, an ex-convict, 400 block of Iron street, who was arrested with Biondo, announced he will stand trial. The court begai selection of a jury. The bonds, stolen in a Collinsville burglary, were found by police here last Jan. 25 in an automobile occupied by Biondo and Gendron.

JOHN PETER ZENGER TRIAL TO BE RE-ENACTED IN COUNTY

The trial of John Peter Zenger, eighteenth century colonial newspaper editor, will be re-enacted at 8 o'clock tonight by members of the St. Louis County Bar Association in Division Five courtroom at Clayton.

Zenger was tried in 1735 on a charge of libeling the British colonial governor of New York. His acquittal is regarded as the first victory for freedom of the press in America.

The defendant will be played by Daniel V. O'Brien, assistant county prosecuting attorney. Others in the play are Hal B. Coleman, past president of the St. Louis Bar Association, and George E. Schaaf, attorney for the county Board of Election Commissioners.

MO. PAC. TAKES STEP TO ABANDON TRAIN TO PACIFIC

State Commission Asked to Study Service, Boost Rates for Test Period.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1—The Missouri Pacific Railroad asked the State Public Service Commission today to investigate the suburban train service between St. Louis and Pacific to determine whether the service should be abandoned.

It suggested that the commission authorize a schedule of much higher commuter fares for a test period of 60 days or so, in order to ascertain "whether there is sufficient public need for the trains to support a fare schedule whereby they may be operated without loss."

The Pacific local, only St. Louis commuter train still in operation on week days, leaves Pacific in the morning and makes 19 stops en route to Union Station. It makes the return trip from St. Louis each evening.

One-way fares to Union Station now are 35 cents for passengers getting on at Kirkwood, Woodlawn or Oakland, and 25 cents for those boarding at stations between Webster Park and Tower Grove.

Rate Schedule Proposed.

The railroad proposed a 60-cent fare for all stations from Tower Grove through Webster Park; 65 cents for Webster Groves, Algonquin and Glendale, and 75 cents for all stations from Oakland through Valley Park. There would be no change in fares to Union Station from Pacific, Allenton, Eureka and Jedburg.

To support its request for increased fares or elimination of the commuter service, the railroad presented figures showing that revenues in 1960 amounted to $32,769, while out-of-pocket operating costs totaled $68,792.

There were 149,119 passengers in 1956; in 1960 the total had dropped to 104,630, the railroad reported.

Bus Service Available.

Of the 19 stops made by the Pacific local, 13 are between Kirkwood and Union Station. The railroad pointed out that St. Louis Public Service Co. provides express bus service at five-minute intervals at morning and evening rush hours for the stations between Kirkwood and St. Louis. To the west of Kirkwood, Valley Park, Eureka and Pacific have intercity bus lines providing four schedules in the morning and evening, the railroad noted.

Express bus riders pay fares to downtown ranging from 46 cents at Kirkwood to 32 cents at Maplewood or Tower Grove.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad's total income declined more than $3,500,000 last year, and the first two months of 1961 brought an operating loss of $305,000, the petition reported, emphasizing that the railroad must increase revenue from losing operations or else terminate unprofitable services.

Tucker, Symington Urge Senate Approval of Riverfront Funds

$9,497,000 Appropriation Sought — Senator Says Project Would Be Held Within Original Authorization.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 1—Approval of a $9,497,000 appropriation for completion of work on the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial in St. Louis was urged today by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker and United States Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri.

Appearing before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, Symington pointed out that if the appropriation for the 1962 fiscal year beginning July 1 was approved, only $510,000 in federal funds would be required for the project the following year.

"I should like to emphasize that, under the present schedule, the project will be completed within the original authorization. There are no plans for construction that will require any expenditure of federal funds beyond the $17,250,000 already authorized by the Congress," Symington said.

He explained that, in addition to the federal funds for 1962, the City of St. Louis will make available $2,835,667, representing the final expenditure of local funds for the project.

If the $9,497,000 appropriation request is approved, the riverfront memorial will be completed on schedule, in time for the 200th anniversary celebration in 1964 of the founding of St. Louis, he noted.

Mayor Tucker told the committee he hoped the appropriation would be approved, and thanked the committee members for their assistance and interest in the project.

Senator Carl Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, chairman of the subcommittee, said in response that he felt "quite sure it (the appropriation request) will have some support in the committee."

Spokesmen for the National Park Service yesterday told the Post-Dispatch that two transportation museums planned for the memorial may have to be eliminated to keep the cost of the project within available funds.

However, it was emphasized that no final decision has been made, and that the museums could possibly be erected later if additional money becomes available.

If the full federal appropriation is voted, the total available for the coming fiscal year, including local funds, will be $12,332,667. Of this figure, $9,994,662 is earmarked for the 630-foot stainless steel Saarinen arch, the central feature of the memorial.

TWO WOUNDED BY BULLET FIRED BY YOUTH FROM AUTO

Two persons were wounded last night by a bullet fired from a moving automobile in the 1300 block of North Garrison avenue, police reported.

Willie Jones, 16 years old, of 1615 Glasgow avenue, suffered a wound in the right arm, and William Smith, 44, 4041 Fairfax avenue, suffered a grazing wound of the scalp. Police later arrested Donnell Woods, 18, of the 3000 block of Thomas street, who admitted firing the shot.

Woods told police he had a quarrel with Jones earlier in the day. He returned home, obtained a revolver, and was riding with a friend when he saw Jones walking along the street, he said. Police said the bullet also struck Smith, a passerby, who was walking near Jones. Woods was booked suspected of assault with intent to kill.

POLICE FIRE SHOT IN TAVERN ARREST

Customers in Ballwin Bar After Closing Time Jostle County Officers.

A shot fired into the floor scattered a group of customers of a Ballwin tavern early yesterday when they began jostling two St. Louis county police detectives who were making an arrest.

The shot was fired by Detective Robert F. Goodman from behind the bar of the Ballwin Inn, 338 Manchester road, Ballwin. Goodman said he and Detective Sgt. William Carson were being threatened by about eight patrons of the establishment.

The officers entered the tavern at 1:50 a.m., 20 minutes after the legal closing time, and were served beer. With business still in progress about 40 minutes later, they identified themselves and arrested the manager, Charles W. Blankenship, and the barmaid, Mrs. Betty L. Lauderdale.

Some of the 15 customers objected to the intrusion of the officers. All were ordered out of the tavern.

They left, but a few minutes later, several of them returned. Goodman said some began shoving and pummeling Carson, backing him against a wall. When others came after Goodman, the detective jumped behind the bar and fired his revolver into the floor.

Ballwin police and other county police came to the rescue, but order had been restored by the time they arrived.

Blankenship, 34 years old, of the 300 block of Temple avenue, Ballwin, was charged in a warrant with permitting sale of intoxicating beverages after hours. Mrs. Lauderdale, 29, of Pacific, was charged with selling liquor after hours.

Two customers were arrested and booked suspected of assault but were released when the prosecuting attorney's office refused to apply for warrants.

No one was injured in the scuffle.

UNION LOCALS SIGN WITH MATERIAL FIRMS

Three-year contracts with the St. Louis Material Dealers Association have been approved by five union locals in St. Louis and St. Louis county following seven weeks of negotiation, it was announced last night.

Construction Teamsters' Local 682 and Hoisting Engineers' Local 513 met yesterday to approve the terms of the new contracts. Locals 42, 110 and 53 of the Building and Construction Laborers' Union approved their contracts last Thursday.

Spokesmen for the hoisting engineers and laborers said their men will receive an immediate 10-cent hourly wage increase and additional 10-cent increases next May 1 and May 1, 1963.

General laborers also will receive a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase today under an old contract, bringing their wage rate to $3.02 an hour.

Member firms of the Material Dealers Association employ about 250 laborers and 100 engineers. The teamsters' contract for 525 members was signed with the 41-member association and four other ready-mix concrete and building material yards.

The truck drivers will receive an immediate 10-cent hourly wage increase, 9 cents next May 1 and 8 cents May 1, 1963. Drivers and warehousemen who have been receiving $2.72 an hour will receive additional 2-cent increases now and next May 1, and an additional 1 cent May 1, 1963.

Payments into the teamsters' health and welfare fund also will increase from $2.50 a week to $3.50, and payments into the pension fund from $4.50 to $5. Pension payments will go to $6 weekly April 1, 1964.

A. J. Ahner, industrial relations consultant, said negotiations will be resumed later this week between Local 682 and the St. Louis Quarrymen's Association and St. Louis County Hardwood and Softwood Lumber Dealers Association. The contracts involved expired last midnight.

Tentative agreement on a new contract granting wage increases has been reached by the Associated General Contractors of Illinois and 13 downstate Illinois teamsters' unions, it was announced yesterday at Springfield, Ill. Union members will vote next Friday on the proposed contracts. Details were not announced.

PROPOSAL FOR ST. CHARLES COUNTY HEALTH UNIT FAILS

A proposal to establish a St. Charles county health unit was defeated 5876 to 739 Saturday in a special county-wide election.

The proposal, which would have increased the tax rate by 10 cents for each $100 assessed valuation, would have set up a county health program dealing mainly with communicable diseases. A county health engineer and several nurses would have been hired.

A special committee of the St. Charles Community Council, which proposed the unit, argued that the county now has only one health nurse for 52,000 residents. Opponents of the measure maintained the tax increase was not justified for the services which would be performed.

50 MILLION CUBIC FEET MORE NATURAL GAS FOR GREATER ST. LOUIS AREA

MISSISSIPPI RIVER TRANSMISSION CORPORATION announces the completion of its new 100-mile natural gas pipeline into St. Louis. The new pipeline, turned on today, makes available 50 million cubic feet of gas supply to the Greater St. Louis area.

Deliveries up to 42.5 million cubic feet per day will be made to the Laclede Gas Company, at the point in north St. Louis where MISSISSIPPI RIVER TRANSMISSION CORPORATION'S new line connects with Laclede's system. An additional 7.5 million will go to the Illinois Power Company, in the Illinois area adjacent to St. Louis.

New Source of Gas

This is a new, additional supply of gas from sources in the great Gulf Coast gas fields of Texas and Louisiana. The new 18-inch line connects with the Trunkline Gas Company's system in eastern Illinois, carrying the gas westward to St. Louis.

More Gas to Come

The new line is designed to handle much more gas. Already MISSISSIPPI RIVER TRANSMISSION CORPORATION has contracted to bring another 25 million cubic feet per day to the gas distribution companies, starting in December. This additional gas supply will be available on schedule, if approval is received from the Federal Power Commission in Washington.

And Still More

Still another 25 million cubic feet of gas per day is under option to the gas distribution companies for future delivery. The line has ample capacity for this additional gas. Application will be made to the Federal Power Commission, as soon as the gas is needed by the gas distribution companies.

Beyond That

There is additional capacity in the new line, beyond that quantity.

Underground gas storage in the area of St. Jacob, Illinois, will be tested as soon as approval is received from the Federal Power Commission. Such underground storage reservoirs can use gas available in "off peak" summer months for delivery the following winter, thus serving even greater needs.

hearty breakfast at the home of his mother and stepfather.

Stephens' bicycle was found late last night near railroad tracks. Detectives said they thought the boy hitchhiked from there. A bloody shirt also was found in the area.

Police said his parents told them the youth appeared nervous and upset Saturday night. They said he acted queerly.

Ray. Stan, scoutmaster of Stephens's troop, said, "He was a good scout, but a strange boy —a very strange boy."

The youth was known as a crack shot, "one who could sit up on the sand dunes and pick off a dime at the bottom," according to a classmate.

Eisenhower

people can be told the facts about the Cuban situation, without tying President Kennedy's hands or hampering his actions, Gen. Eisenhower said, he would think this should be done.

Congressional Resolution.

Asked whether he would favor a congressional resolution backing the President on Cuba, as was done with respect to the Formosan and Middle Eastern situations in his administration, Gen. Eisenhower said he did not know whether or not that would be useful in the Cuban crisis.

He recalled that the resolutions on Formosa and the Middle East were aimed at showing the Communist world that if this country's national interests were violated, "we would act and act with all the force necessary."

As a general principle, the former President said, "If you don't warn an aggressor, he probably will think he can go ahead."

On Other Questions.

In response to other questions, he made these points:

1. He has not discussed with President Kennedy any specific assignments which he might undertake now that he is no longer President. Gen. Eisenhower said he was willing to take on any assignment which might benefit the United States.

Mr. Kennedy, he added, "has been kind enough to say he would like to consult with me from time to time."

2. He still regards former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "as one of the young, splendid citizens of this nation and as one of the leaders of the Republican party."

Gen. Eisenhower said he was sure that whatever Nixon decides to do in the future will be in the public interest.

3. His own immediate plans include a speech at a Republican fund-raising dinner in Washington on June 1 and a visit to the Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga., this weekend.

He said he would also attend a testimonial dinner for Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton in Cincinnati on June 12. The dinner is being given by former Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy.

4. If the Republican party will stay unified and continue to support "constructive measures," it will win control of at least the House of Representatives in next year's congressional elections.

5. In answer to a question on how he would compare this country's prestige abroad with its standing last fall, the former President said he thinks we should be careful how we use that word prestige.

Strong nations are never popular in times of crisis, he asserted. The important thing is how much respect there is for the United States' words and the actions that implement these words.

The United States, he asserted, must be ready to take the actions and the risks necessary to carry out its declarations of policy.

afternoon Saturday. They had been scheduled to begin arriving in Germany Sunday.

Obviously, the immedate reason was to keep these forces readily available for quick use elsewhere if needed. The White House made it plain that the cancellation was an immediate result of Saturday's Security Council meeting, presided over by Mr. Kennedy.

Another planned exercise in in which United States forces were participating was underway —this one off the tip of Southeast Asia.

United States ships from Seventh Fleet, together with marines, were conducting "Exercise Pony Express" with SEATOL units off the coast of Borneo.

In the United States there were rumors — not confirmed — that some reservists were receiving letters alerting them for possible call-up.

The readily available ground forces for rapid strategic deployment consists of three divisions plus smaller units, and a Marine division.

Aldermen

sentatives of the Department of Public Safety, the Department of Public Utilities, and the Department of Public Welfare, the committee asked the department heads to cut $150,000 from the public safety budget, and $100,000 each from the public utilities and public welfare department requests.

Joseph P. Sestric, director of public safety, told the committee that the proposed $8,858,280 budget for his department constituted a $672,000 increase over last year.

Most of the increase is due to a proposed expansion of personnel to compensate for reduction of the firemen's regular work week from 67 to 60 hours, he explained. He estimated he would need an additional 240 men, but noted that the budget request provided for a minimum of an additional 165 men. The department presently has a strength of 1090 men, he said.

After a complaint by Sestric that the proposed cut was too much, Aboussie said an attempt should be made to cut "as much as possible." He said that the cut should be made "without strain."

Walter T. Malloy, head of the Department of Public Utilities, told the committee that his department's proposed $3,672,775 budget was about $361,000 more than last year.

Most of the increase is needed for maintenance and repair of the city street lighting facilities, he said. Other necessary work, he said, included $50,000 for a new refrigerating unit for Homer G. Phillips Hospital and $21,000 for building repair at the city-owned Union Market.

Jail Needs Cited.

R. Brant Murphy, commissioner of adult services in the Department of Public Welfare, told the committee that the department was seeking about $266,000 more than last year. This year's proposed department budget is $2,007,355, he noted.

Principal item in the increase, he said, is a "necessary" $50,000 repair project at the city jail. Asked by Aboussie if the work could be delayed, he answered it could not if the safety of the inmates and jail personnel was to be assured.

All department heads were requested to report to the committee tomorrow with revised budget figures.

Restaurant Fees.

At the board meeting, the aldermen adopted, under a suspension of rules, an ordinance which reduces the restaurant license fees of some establishments by changing the method of computing the seating capacity.

Under the new ordinance, establishments which have both liquor licenses and restaurant licenses may count two seats as one. Thus, in some cases, they would be placed in a lower classification.

There are four classifications for restaurant licenses, ranging from $25 a year for places seating less than 50 persons to $250 a year for those seating more than 201 persons.

Alderman James E. Geisler (Dem.), Tenth ward, said the new ordinance was intended to make the licensing law more equitable for neighborhood taverns which operate small restaurants in conjunction with the taverns. The bill was passed today because restaurante are due today to renew their licenses for six months.

Prices for Dance Studios.

A bill to require dance studios to post their prices was introduced by Alderman Joseph P. Roddy (Dem.), Seventeenth Ward. The bill would require studio operators to post the rate of instruction for each hour, half-hour and quarter-hour; the rate for each lesson, the length of a lesson, the rate for a course and a description of each course.

Penalty for violation of the ordinance would be a fine ranging from $100 to $500.

Roddy said the bill was introduced "to prevent frauds from being perpetrated on persons desiring or contracting for dancing instructions." The practices of some dance studios were severely criticized by a circuit court grand jury in April 1960. The jury urged enactment of an ordinance similar to the one introduced by Roddy.

Roddy also was sponsor of a bill requiring users of plastic and plastic-like bags to print a warning on them about the hazard of children's suffocation. The bill specifies the size of print and the exact wording to be contained on each bag. Punishment for violation would be a fine of up to $100.

Two bills appropriating a total of $3,250,000 in 1955 bond issue funds for clearance and redevelopment of land in the Mill Creek Valley and other urban redevelopment areas were introduced today.

Another bill, appropriating $1,600,000 in 1955 bond issue funds to pay the city's portion of the cost of acquiring the rights of way for expressway routes, was also introduced.

A bill was introduced which would bar parking within 300 feet of polling places on election days. The bill would prohibit parking between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., except for Election Board officials and those desiring to vote. Violations would be misdemeanors, punishable by fines ranging from $5 to $100.

$394,000,000 MEASURE FOR DEPRESSED AREAS SIGNED BY KENNEDY

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP).

PRESIDENT KENNEDY signed into law today the $394,000,000 depressed areas bill to help communities with chronic unemployment problems.

The act sets up a federal loan and grant program to try to attract industries into areas which have lost their main economic support and to retrain workers with obsolete skills.

The bill is the first of the "big five" Kennedy measures to get through Congress. Others are school aid, minimum wage, housing and health care for the aged.

William L. Batt Jr., Pennsylvania labor commissioner, was appointed to administer the program.

Among areas likely to benefit from the new bill are Flat River and Washington, Mo., and southern Illinois.

For local reporting without the pressure of a deadline, the 1961 Pulitzer Prize went to Edgar May of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Evening-News for his 14-part series on public welfare problems entitled, "Our Costly Dilemma."

Financial Writer Wins.

The $1000 prize for national reporting went to Edward R. Cony, news editor of the Wall Street Journal, for his analysis of a timber transaction which involved business ethics. The story concerned the Georgia-Pacific Corp., plywood producer, and Carrol Shanks, a director of the corporation and at that time president of the Prudential Insurance Co.

The award for drama went to "All the Way Home," by Tad Mosel.

Harper Lee's novel "To Kill a Mocking Bird," won the prize for fiction.

CALLS FOR REDEDICATION TO AMERICAN PRINCIPLES

Americans should rededicate themselves to the basic principles of loyalty, courage and hardihood, Fred W. Emig, St. Louis insurance agent and past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, declared yesterday in a Loyalty Day address at Ste. Genevieve.

Emig, pointing out that May 1 was proclaimed Loyalty Day by former President Eisenhower, asserted that while this country was built on these basic principles, in the last few decades "termites have bored from within. Treason and conspiracies have taken place, all perpetrated by men who enjoyed the freedom granted by the Bill of Rights."

Too many citizens have been apathetic in upholding these principles, he said. "How unfortunate that a few mistake liberty for license. I think you will agree that Communism took root in the United States because disloyal Americans had the opportunity to operate with the greatest individual, personal freedom ever enjoyed by mankind," he said.

GRANITE CITY YOUTH WINS JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT HONOR

George Haven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Haven, 2548 East Twenty-fourth street, Granite City, has been named "President of the Year" for Junior Achievement of Mississippi Valley Inc., it was announced today.

Haven is president of J. A. Dow Co., a Junior Achievement company counselled by Dow Metal Products Co. at the Granite City business center. He was chosen over 166 other Junior Achievement presidents, all teenagers.

Runners-up in the contest were Patricia Graham and Mark Huelsman of Southside center and John Dowd of Big Bend center. Other winners included Robert Sklar of Big Bend center, vice president; Patricia Hunt of Northside center, secretary, and Fred Neal, Northwest center, treasurer. All winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to the National Junior Achievement Management Conference at Ohio State University in August.

MORRIS SAYS S.I.U. BRANCH WON'T HURT OTHER SCHOOLS

Establishment of Southern Illinois University's new Edwardsville campus will not cause a decline in enrollments in other colleges in the St. Louis area, S.I.U. President Delyte W. Morris told the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce today.

Morris said he felt some concern at the outset that the new campus would cut enrollments at St. Louis and Washington universities and Belleville Junior College. However, he said "every study of future enrollment trends bears out the conclusion that the large number of students wishing to attend college in the decades ahead will tax all available college facilities."

He called also for an accelerated program of junior college construction to permit freshmen and sophomores to live at home and perhaps continue in their jobs. About two-thirds of the site for the new campus has been acquired, Morris said.

METROPOLITAN

announces a service for all fathers

FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Family Security Check-Up

Now you can check up on your financial health, just as you check up on your physical health. This service is more than an interview. It is a review every father should have regularly—whether he needs insurance or not.

EVERY YEAR, millions of fathers have health check-ups. Yet, millions of fathers don't check up on their family's financial health.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company now offers a service which lets you do just that: The Family Security Check-Up. It is a service which can bring you new information and correct mistakes. It lets you make sure you've planned your family's future with your head as well as your heart.

What you could lose without one

Our experience with millions of families shows there are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan, or too often it simply falls behind the times. For example—

You can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

Social Security benefits for your wife and your children may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs.

As much as 20% more actual cash can be provided, depending upon the mode of payment selected.

A guaranteed income—until your youngest child is grown up—can be provided even if you are a man with a moderate income.

Times change; many changes can affect your plans. Changes in income, occupation, in children's ages, in the cost of living—all these mean that a father should have a financial check-up regularly. And he should also make sure he has taken advantage of the most modern insurance provisions and benefits.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

You'll see, at the right, all the steps you go through to satisfy yourself that the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street . . . as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

Family Security Check-Up

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

With the help of your Metropolitan man—

1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.

2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.

3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points . . . whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.

4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

AFTER-HOURS RAID AT BAR ON HAMPTON

James A. Michaels, operator of Michaels bar and restaurant, 5215-17 Hampton avenue, and the son of James (Jimmy) Michaels, former Cuckoo gangster, was arrested by liquor squad detectives in a raid on the bar early yesterday.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Shannon today refused to sign a warrant on the ground the arrest was made only five minutes after the closing hour. Shannon said he thought the matter could be handled best by the excise commissioner.

A liquor squad detective entered the bar at about 1 a.m. and remained there until the doors of the establishment were closed and locked at 1:30 a.m., police said. About 15 persons continued drinking after the closing hour, the detective said.

Announcing the raid, the detective seized a mixed drink from a customer, but it was spilled when someone bumped into him. Three other detectives then entered and seized on open bottle of liquor and a bottle of beer.

The elder Michaels was in the establishment at the time, but was not arrested, police said.

Michaels, 25 years old, who gave an address in the 900 block of LaSalle street, was arrested two years ago in a basement bar at the tavern. Several customers were drinking in the basement room after hours, police said.

A warrant was refused in the 1959 raid, but the bar's liquor license was renewed with a restrictive clause denying use of the basement room.

2 BOYS FLEEING RESTAURANT BURGLARY SCENE SEIZED

Two 15-year-old boys were arrested by East St. Louis police last night after officers went to a restaurant in response to an anonymous tip that the establishment had been broken into.

When police approached the Beef and Bun Grill, 2100 State street, East St. Louis, they saw a youth leap out of a side window and run west with a meat cleaver in his hand. Patrolman Robert Simpson ran after him, firing two warning shots. The boy surrendered when he saw another officer, Patrolman Harry Seper, running toward him from the opposite direction.

The officers arrested a second youth they saw riding a bicycle near the restaurant. He had $13 in small change in his cap and pockets, police said. Entry to the place was gained by breaking a window. The pinball machine had been forced open and the money in it taken, officers said.

Champaign Paper's Price Up.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 1 (UPI)—The home-delivered price of the Champaign News-Gazette is being increased by 10 cents, to 40 cents a week. The increase, effective yesterday, was necessitated by increased operating costs, the News-Gazette said, and is the first in 10 years.

LAW DAY U.S.A.

MAY 1—proclaimed by the President of the United States as LAW DAY U. S. A.—reminds each of us of two important things:

- Our priceless American heritage—providing freedom and justice for all, regardless of social status, creed, or color—flourishes only in a society governed by the rule of law.
- Our rights and privileges—which we enjoy by reason of our system of laws and courts—also obligate us, among other civic duties, to serve willingly and thoughtfully as jurors when called upon.

To these points, Mercantile Trust Company (whose Trust Department has worked so closely with members of the Bar since 1890) adds a salute to those dedicated lawyers whose service through the years has been so helpful to so many.

A typical example of this service, touching literally everyone, is the preparation of a proper will. There is no better way to observe LAW DAY U. S. A. than to have your lawyer review your will each year on that day.

TWO MEN AND BOY INJURED BY AUTOS

A boy and two men were struck by automobiles in accidents in the city yesterday.

Kerry Green, 5 years old, suffered head injuries and cuts of the left leg when he was struck by an automobile near his home, 3821 Flad avenue. He was admitted at City Hospital.

Driver of the car, Lloyd Wilson of High Ridge, told police the boy ran from between parked automobiles. Wilson, a carpenter, was driving east. Kerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green.

Floyd Vardell, 65, was struck by an automobile when he was crossing the street in the 200 block of South Broadway. He was treated at City Hospital for internal injuries and cuts of the right hand and left leg.

Driver of the car, William D. Parker, 1027 Park avenue, said he was going south and the pedestrian suddenly appeared in front of his automobile. No address was listed for Vardell, who was crossing to the west said of South Broadway when he was struck.

Clifford Coon, 49, suffered head and back injuries when he was struck by an automobile at Seventh street and Delmar boulevard. The driver did not stop.

Coon told police he was returning to the bus station to resume a trip from Chicago to Denver when the accident occurred. He said he was crossing to the east side of Seventh when a northbound car struck him. He was taken to City Hospital.

DRIVER STABBED, ANOTHER BREAKS ANKLE IN DISPUTE

One man was stabbed and another suffered a broken ankle yesterday in a fight in the 4600 block of St. Louis avenue, police reported.

Willie Jackson, 26 years old, 3842A Windsor place, was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital suffering stab wounds of the chest and abdomen. Chester Hannah, 50, of the 4900 block of St. Louis, was also taken to the hospital with a fractured left ankle.

Witness said the fight occurred after Jackson, who was driving west in St. Louis, narrowly missed colliding with Hannah's automobile, which pulled away from the curb as the Jackson car passed. The drivers began arguing, and Hannah drew a pocket knife and struck at Jackson, witnesses told police. Hannah told police he was injured when he tripped on the curb. He was booked suspected of assault with intent to kill.

Space Flight

with a man aboard will blast off. At any point in the countdown, however, Mercury Project director Robert R. Gilruth and his scientists could order a delay of minutes, hours or days. No untoward chance will be taken with the life of the astronaut.

(KSD and KSD-TV, the Post-Dispatch stations, are scheduled to carry a live broadcast of the Redstone firing tomorrow, beginning at 7 a.m. (St. Louis time).

Details that could cause a postponement appear to be unlimited. There is the question of weather — high winds or clouds could cause delays that might run into days. And the complex rockets and space capsules often seem perfect in checks one day and full of "bugs" the next.

The NASA, for the benefit of about 600 reporters assembled here for the space try, listed 32 things that could go wrong and added a notation that it was "not a complete study . . . of all the vexing (ifs) which must be considered."

Tomorrow's "sub-orbital flight" is part of a program started in October 1958, a few days after the NASA came into being. Its purpose is threefold:

1. It will familiarize a man with a brief but complete space flight experience including lift-off, powered flight, weightless flight, entry and landing phases of space flight.

2. Man's ability to perform useful functions in space flight will be evaluated by demonstrating manual control of the space ship before, during and after firing the retro rockets and by using voice communication in flight.

3. Man's physiological reaction can be studied in flight to determine if man is capable of enduring extended space flight.

The contract for design and manufacture of the mercury space ship was won by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis. The contracts for designing and building 20 space ships in 1959, 1960 and 1961 amount to about $134,000,000 or about $6,700,000 a space ship. This includes ground support equipment and flight simulators.

More Capsules Ordered.

(McDonnell spokesmen in St. Louis announced today that the firm had been given an order to build six more capsules, bringing the total devices built here to 26. The new purchase order contains a provision limiting expenditures on long lead-time parts to $2,500,000. The six new McDonnell capsules will be designated Mark II, indicating differences from the earlier capsules.)

Two independent systems in the Mercury capsule can keep the Astronaut alive for 28 hours. These are the pressurized cabin circuit and the suit circuit. Both operate simultaneously and either will operate in case of failure of the other. Both systems have safety features so that they will continue operation in spite of failure of certain components. The systems operate automatically and can be operated semi-automatically or manually by the Astronaut.

The astronaut's environment supplied by the capsule provides oxygen under pressure of five poudns per square inch, maintains a cabin temperature between 50 and 80 degrees in orbit and keeps the temperature from rising above 200 degrees maximum for a short period during launch and re-entry. It also removes carbon dioxide and water and maintains a comfortable humidity-temperature combination.

In case of decompression in the cabin, the suit regulates the pressue. If the suit also fails, an emergency valve directs an oxygen flow through the suit. The valve can be operated manually if there is failure of the automatic sensing. Red lights indicate the failure of any of the systems. The pilot can correct this by pressing buttons next to the lights. If the function resumes, this is shown by a green light.

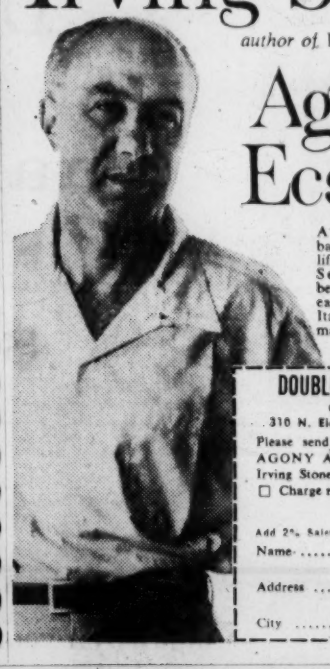

Communication System.

The capsule contains two-way voice radio with a range of 700 to 1000 miles under poor conditions and 4000 miles under good. There are two such systems, one in high frequency, the other in ultra high frequency.

Through much of the flight the astronaut will have jobs to perform. He must report to the ground stations below at regular intervals. He must handle some of the controls to determine if he can guide the craft during flight stresses.

Before it is over, Project Mercury will have cost about $500,000,000. It carries the nation's highest priority.

Laos Meeting

Site for Cease-Fire Talks.

The rebels, meanwhile, proposed a no-man's truce meeting but showed no sign of slackening their military drive.

A government officer carrying a white flag was to try to make contact with the Pathet Lao near Ban Namon, about 35 miles north of this administrative capital. A similar mission Saturday was ignored by the rebels.

This time neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, whom the Communist bloc recognizes as Premier of Laos, said he would agree to a military meeting in Ban Namon before Wednesday. Capt. Kong Le, commander of one faction of the rebels, followed up with a broadcast promise of safe conduct to Ban Namon.

Would Set Date.

Kong proposed that each side send a defegation of five to 10 persons "to discuss the fixing of a specific date and hour at which a cease-fire should begin, and to discuss the rules governing the cease-fire."

It was the first time the rebels had proposed a meeting outside their stronghold at Xieng Khouang, on the central plain, or at Vang Vieng, 45 miles north of Vientiane, which the rebels seized recently.

The rebels control the region around Ban Namon, but the area between it and Van Vieng is considered no-man's land.

This cheering note was offset by enemy attempts to seize Ban Keun, only 25 miles north of Vientiane.

Military circles were apprehensive the rebels might strike next at Nam Tha, about 70 miles northeast of Luang Prabang. The city, which has a big airstrip, is easily accessible from the Chinese frontier.

Rebel moves in the northwest were seen as part of a general attempt to seize as much territory as possible before a cease-fire takes effect.

In New Delhi, the International Control Commission completed its organizational meeting and asked Britain and the Soviet Union for instructions. The commission, originally established by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, is made up of India, Canada and Poland.

A decision on sending the commission to Laos and its instructions there depend on Britain and the Soviet Union, the co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference which created the commission.

Sen said the British and Soviet governments would have to decide whether the commission will function by majority vote or by unanimous vote.

NEW GAS PIPELINE IN OPERATION HERE

Natural gas from a newly constructed pipeline began flowing into the Laclede Gas Co. system here today at the rate of 42,500,000 cubic feet a day.

The new supply is from a line completed last week by Mississippi River Transmission Corp., a subsidiary of Laclede's main supplier, Mississippi River Fuel Corp.

The 94-mile line brings gas from Johnsonville, Ill., where it taps the line of Trunkline Gas Co.'s system in eastern Illinois. The gas originates in the Gulf coast fields of Louisiana and Texas.

Laclede Gas receives 85 per cent of the 50,000,000 cubic feet of initial deliveries, while the remainder is taken by Illinois Power Co., in the East Side area it serves.

An officer of Laclede Gas said the new supply has permitted the company to grant all applications for space heating filed up to last Dec. 8. New applications are received at the rate of about 300 a week, he said.

The transmission firm has contracted to bring another 25,000,000 cubic feet a day into the St. Louis area starting in December if the Federal Power Commission grants authorization. The line has a capacity of about 150,000,000 cubic feet a day.

A company official said the gas comes in under sufficient line pressure to store it in Laclede's north St. Louis county underground reservoir without further compression.

The pipeline company has entered into an agreement with a newly formed storage company to build a high-pressure gas compression facility to test the suitability of an underground storage facility near St. Jacob, Ill. If successful, this reservoir could store billions of cubic feet of natural gas which, together with the additional deliveries from the new pipeline, would be available to handle peak demands in the St. Louis area for years to come, an official said.

Quality of Eggs Superb; Good Time to Master Art Of Making Souffles

By DOROTHY BRAINERD
Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

ARE YOU OF FAINT HEART when it comes to making souffles? Come now, don't let them intimidate you. All you need is a good basic recipe to follow exactly, and you are on your way to making successful ones. This most elegant of egg dishes can make a culinary reputation for you if you become really expert.

There is no better time to learn than right now, while eggs of superb quality are abundant and reasonably priced.

Start with a simple cheese souffle first; later you can try interesting variations such as cheese combined with broccoli, bacon and deviled ham for main-dish menu variety.

Souffles do need to be livened up in flavor, but the seasoning should not be overpowering. In this basic recipe tabasco (a liquid red pepper) gives the necessary piquancy. It can be measured easily and blended smoothly with other ingredients, an important factor if you are a beginner.

Cheese Souffle.

One and one-half cups milk.
Six eggs, separated.
One-fourth cup butter or margarine.
One-fourth cup flour.
One teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon tabasco.
One-half pound sharp American cheese.

Heat, do not scald, milk. Separate eggs.

In double boiler, melt butter; stir in flour, then milk, salt and tabasco. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and thickened.

Thinly slice cheese into mixture; stir until cheese melts and sauce is smooth.

With fork, beat egg yolks. Stir in a little bit of the cheese sauce, then stir this mixture back into the remaining cheese sauce. Cool slightly.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually fold in cheese sauce. Pour into ungreased two-quart casserole to one-fourth inch from top.

To make crown, make shallow path in souffle about one inch from edge with teaspoon. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) one and one-half hours until top is golden brown. Serve immediately.

Yield: Six servings.

Variations:

Vegetable-Cheese Souffle: Follow above directions; into cheese sauce stir one package (10 ounces) chopped broccoli or spinach (thawed and drained). Fold into stiffly beaten egg whites.

Bacon-Cheese Souffle: Follow souffle directions, folding in three-fourths cup crumbled crisp bacon with the cheese sauce.

Ham-Cheese Souffle: Follow souffle directions using only one-half teaspoon salt. Stir one can (four and one-half ounces) deviled ham and one-fourth teaspoon dry mustard into the cheese sauce.

Tabasco Cheese Souffle for Four People: Use one cup milk, four eggs, three tablespoons butter or margarine, one-fourth cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon tabasco and one-fourth pound sharp American cheese.

Follow souffle directions and turn into ungreased one and one-half quart casserole.

IF YOU ARE still too timid to try, perhaps it will give you confidence to start with this "never-fail" type of souffle made with slices of white bread. (Naturally, this will not give you the same texture as the classic variety, but it is quite good in its own right).

This souffle, served with herb-scented tomatoes stuffed with green beans, recipe for which is included below, and a fruit dessert makes an ideal menu for Sunday supper or a bridge luncheon.

Very probably the seasonings used in this recipe already are on your spice shelf. However, if you are a new cook, here are some brief pointers.

Chervil is related to the parsley family but is brighter, with a more delicate flavor. It can be used with almost any food other than desserts.

The beau monde seasoning is a well-balanced blend of salt, monosodium glutamate, ground celery seed and onion powder. Instant toasted onions, one of the newer spice products, have the crisp crunchiness and flavor of golden sauteed onions (without the work.).

The salad herbs used with the tomatoes are an all-in-one blend of lemon thyme, basil and tarragon. This mixture adds zest to both salads and vegetables.

Never-Fail Cheese Souffle

Four slices white bread.
Butter or margarine.
One-half pound sharp processed cheese.
Three eggs.
Two cups milk.
One-half teaspoon beau monde seasoning.
One teaspoon dry mustard.
One-fourth teaspoon chervil.
One-half teaspoon instant toasted onion.

Trim crusts from bread, butter lightly and cut into one-inch squares.

Grate cheese.

Beat together eggs, milk, beau monde seasoning, dry mustard, chervil and instant toasted onions.

Into greased two-quart casserole alternate layers of cubed bread and grated cheese, ending with cheese. Cover with egg-and-milk mixture.

Set casserole in shallow pan of water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour.

Yield: six servings.

Herb-Scented Bean Stuffed Tomatoes

Six small tomatoes.
One No. 2 can French style green beans.
Two tablespoons chopped pimiento.
One-half cup Parmesan cheese.
Two tablespoons salad oil.
Two tablespoons wine vinegar.
One-half teaspoon beau monde seasoning.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
One-half teaspoon salad herbs.

Cut each tomato into five sections almost to stem end and spread apart slightly.

Drain green beans and combine with pimiento and Parmesan cheese.

Combine rest of ingredients and toss lightly with green bean mixture.

Fill tomatoes with green bean salad mixture and chill. Serve on salad greens.

Yield: six servings.

THERE IS still another type of souffle—the one served for dessert.

If you have ever wanted to try this delicate dessert, hesitate no longer. It isn't difficult to do, since the basis usually consists of thick cream sauce and eggs. To this basic mixture sugar and such flavorings as vanilla, chocolate or orange may be added. This one is made from a sweet orange-flavored mixture.

Orange Dessert Souffle

Three tablespoons butter.
Three tablespoons flour.
Three-fourths cup milk.
One-half cup granuated sugar.
Dash of salt.
One-fourth cup fresh orange juice.
One tablespoon grated orange rind.
Four eggs, separated.
Additional sugar.

In a saucepan over low heat melt butter; add flour and stir until blended, smooth. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly to avoid lumps. Cook, stir until smooth and thickened.

Add sugar, salt, orange juice and grated orange rind; blend well and cook three to four minutes.

Remove from heat, cool slightly. Beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Stir into first mixture.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into orange mixture.

Into an unbuttered one and one-half quart souffle dish, pour the mixture. Bake at 350 degrees in pan of hot water for 45-50 minutes.

Five minutes before cooking is completed, sprinkle some granulated sugar over souffle. Finish cooking.

Yield: Six servings.

Off to a good start—add tabasco to melted butter, flour and hot milk in double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture is smooth and thickened.

Another important step in souffle making is to beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually fold cheese sauce mixture into egg whites.

High and handsome is this finished main-dish cheese souffle. For luncheon serve with spiced crab apples and crisp raw vegetables.

Here the souffle is served for dessert. It is delicately flavored with fresh orange juice and grated rind. Serve with crisp, dark chocolate wafers.

Meringues are in the gourmet class, but they adapt with perfection to family uses. New twist is the addition of golden wheat germ for a nut-like, chewy quality along with a nutritional bonus. Shown here are Chocowheat Meringue Pudding, Wheat Meringue Kisses and a heavenly berry filling to be served with them.

There's a New Twist To These Meringues

ANOTHER DELIGHTFUL way to enjoy the unusually high-quality eggs now in market is to rediscover meringues.

Meringues, those delicate baked morsels made from stiffly beaten egg whites and sugar, always have rated as culinary high spots despite their simplicity.

The basic, simple process of meringue-making hasn't changed

Paddock Potatoes, Beef with Bourbon Sauce, Carrots and Horseshoe Aspic with a horseradish sour cream sauce comprise the main course of a meal planned especially for Kentucky Derby day but equally delicious at any time of the year.

Here are the "extras" for that Derby meal—Mint Juleps (naturally), and for dessert a choice of Derby Delight pie or Daily Double sundae.

Delicacies From Dixie For a Derby Day Party

NOT EVERYONE is fortunate enough to go to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby, but anyone can get into the spirit of the day with a party in honor of the occasion. Traditional Kentucky food and hospitality that leaves nothing to chance can be duplicated in St. Louis as thoughts turn to Churchill Downs, skittish three-year-old colts in the fabled run for the roses, and mint juleps, the drink of the Kentucky colonels.

Since these delicacies come from the bluegrass country, as famed for its food as for its beautiful women and horses, it is to be expected that they are seasoned with the South's favorite flavoring—fine, aged bourbon. Although created especially for the Derby, they can, of course, be enjoyed throughout the year.

The "right" way to make a mint julep is a point which will be argued for hours by self-designated experts. To avoid taking sides in this dispute, here is the recipe given by no less an authority than the Bourbon Institute.

Mint Julep: Muddle four mint leaves, one small lump sugar, one tablespoon water in a tall glass. Fill with crushed ice. Add two ounces bourbon. Do Not Stir. Garnish with fresh mint.

The following recipes will add the Kentucky touch to the main course:

Paddock Potatoes.

One envelope instant mashed potatoes.
One-half cup milk.
One teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon butter or margarine.
One egg, well beaten.
One stick cream puff mix.
Two eggs.
Hot oil for deep frying.

Follow directions on package for one envelope instant mashed potatoes, adding one teaspoon salt and one tablespoon butter. When slightly cool add the well-beaten egg.

Follow directions on package for one stick cream puff mix.

Combine cream puff dough with mashed potatoes and beat until well blended.

Drop by teaspoons into deep hot fat (380 degrees) and fry until puffed and brown. Drain on paper towels and serve hot.

Bourbon Sauce For Filet Mignon.

Two tablespoons butter or margarine.
One shallot, finely chopped.
One onion slice.
One-half small carrot, chopped.
Two cloves.
One small bay leaf.
Two tablespoons flour.
One cup canned consomme or beef broth, undiluted.
One-eighth teaspoon meat extract.
One-fourth cup bourbon.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Melt butter in medium saucepan and add shallot, onion and carrot. When shallot turns golden color, take from flame and add flour, stirring until smooth. Put saucepan back over a very low flame and cook, stirring until flour turns lightly brown. Stir in bouillon slowly, add cloves, bay leaf and meat extract, and bring to a boil stirring constantly. Simmer for 10 minutes.

Strain sauce through coarse sieve, discarding residue. Add bourbon, salt and pepper, and reheat slowly.

Yield: One cup.

Horseshoe Aspic.

Three envelopes gelatine.
Three-fourths cup undiluted bouillon.
Two No. 2 cans tomatoes (about five cups).
Three dashes hot pepper sauce.
Three tablespoons sugar.
One cup tomato sauce.
Two teaspoons salt.
One onion, sliced.
One tablespoon worcestershire sauce.
One teaspoon horseradish.
One avocado, diced.
Soften gelatine in bouillon.

Simmer tomatoes, tomato sauce, hot pepper sauce, sugar, salt, sliced onion, uncovered for 30 minutes.

Strain sauce into softened gelatine. Stir until dissolved. Add worcestershire sauce and horseradish. Refrigerate until sirupy. Fold in diced avocado. Pour into one and one-half quart ring mold.

Refrigerate. Stir twice before mixture sets. Serve with horseradish-sour cream sauce.

Horseradish Sour Cream Sauce.

One cup sour cream.
One-third cup horseradish.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.

Blend all ingredients. Chill for one hour or longer.

Kentucky Carrots.

One bunch carrots, scraped.
Two tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons dark brown sugar.
Pinch of salt.
One tablespoon plus one teaspoon bourbon.
One teaspoon fresh dill.

Slice carrots crosswise at an angle. Put in saucepan with butter, brown sugar and salt. Simmer over low flame, covered, until crisp-tender. Add bourbon, simmer uncovered one more minute. Serve sprinkled with dill.

For dessert, choose between Derby Delight Pie or Daily Double Sundae. It's a tough decision; if it proves too much for you; serve both and let the guests cope with the problem.

Derby Delight.

Four eggs, separated.
One-half cup dark brown sugar.
One and one-half tablespoons cornstarch.
One and one-half cups milk.
10 tablespoons bourbon.
Two squares bitter chocolate.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.
One envelope gelatine.
One-half cup granulated sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar.
One-half cup heavy cream, whipped.

In top of double boiler, combine egg yolks, dark brown sugar and cornstarch. Beat until light and fluffy, then gradually stir in one and one-half cups milk and six tablespoons bourbon. Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly until custard is thick and smooth. Remove from fire.

Take out one cup of the custard and stir into it one and one-half squares bitter chocolate, melted, and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Cool this custard and pour it into pie shell or crumb crust.

To the rest of the custard add one envelope gelatine dissolved in four tablespoons bourbon. Cool slightly.

Beat four egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff, then beat in one-half cup granulated sugar. Combine with custard. Pour into pie shell over chocolate layer. Chill for several hours.

Pipe or spoon a border of whipped cream around edge of pie and sprinkle with remaining one-half square chocolate, grated.

Daily Double.

One cup dark brown sugar, packed.
One-half cup bourbon.
Four tablespoons cornstarch.
Three tablespoons heavy cream.
One tablespoon butter.
One teaspoon vanilla extract.

Sift together brown sugar and cornstarch into saucepan. Slowly add bourbon, blending to a smooth paste. Bring to boiling point over a medium flame and boil for two minutes, stirring frequently. Add cream, butter and vanilla extract.

Cool to room temperature and serve over coffee ice cream.

Shrimp Sublime

Place one pound shelled shrimp on a broiler rack. Brush with a mixture of one-fourth cup melted butter or margarine blended with two teaspoons fresh lemon juice, one-eight teaspoon instant minced garlic, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper. Broil on both sides, brushing frequently with sauce.

Meringue

from the day in 1720 when a noted Swiss chef, Gasparini, invented the first meringue by beating egg whites into snowy mounds with sugar, then watching the soft peaks transform into crunchy treats in the warmth of the oven. The fame of this dessert later spread to the gay French court of Marie Antoinette.

There is a modern twist to these meringues, however; the addition of golden wheat germ adds a nut-like, chewy quality along with a nutritional bonus.

Meringues can be used in a number of delectable ways. Dropped from the spoon onto a greased baking sheet, they are crisp and chewy morsels that children adore. Used as a pie-topping, they transform an everyday pudding into party fare. Baked in a pie-shell form to be filled with fruit, they become a dessert to serve a gourmet.

Chocowheat Meringue Pudding.

Filling:

One cup milk.
Two squares unsweetened chocolate.
Three egg yolks.
One and one-half tablespoons cornstarch.
One-half cup sugar.
One teaspoon instant coffee.

Melt the milk and the chocolate in the top of a double boiler. Beat the egg yolks in a small bowl, add the cornstarch, sugar and instant coffee. Beat all together for a few minutes until light and fluffy.

When the chocolate has dissolved in the milk, pour some of the hot milk mixture onto the egg yolks, stir until smooth, then return all to the double boiler. Stir (or better still, use a small sauce whisk) over rapidly boiling water for seven minutes, until mixture is thick and creamy. Pour into an eight-inch pie plate. Pudding can be spooned out for serving.

Meringue:

Three egg whites.
Dash of salt.
Two-thirds cup superfine sugar.
One-third cup wheat germ.

Beat the egg whites with the salt until stiff. Add two tablespoons of the sugar and beat again until very stiff and glossy. Combine the remaining sugar and wheat germ. Sprinkle over egg whites and fold in with a sharp-edged kitchen spoon or rubber spatula until just mixed. Do not beat or stir.

Pile around the edge of the pie plate, making swirls with the back of a spoon. Bake in a 300-degree oven for 12-15 minutes until the meringue is brown and crisp on top. It should be soft and creamy inside.

This final browning also can be done under a low broiler flame, keeping the pudding as far as possible from the flame. Serve hot or cold.

Yield: six servings.

Wheat Meringue Kisses.

Four egg whites.
Dash of salt.
One cup superfine sugar.
One-half cup wheat germ.

Lightly oil two cookie sheets; cover with foil, then oil again lightly (too much oil can cause the meringues to stick).

Beat the egg whites with the salt until stiff; add three tablespoons of the sugar and beat again until glossy and so stiff they hold straight peaks. This is the most important step in insuring good meringues.

Combine the sugar and wheat germ and sprinkle over the egg whites. With a sharp-edged kitchen spoon or spatula, fold the sugar and wheat germ into the egg whites. Do not stir or beat, but cut through the mixture with the spoon, fold the mixture over onto itself, turn the bowl around a little, then repeat these movements until blended.

Put the meringue onto the prepared cookie sheets in heaping tablespoonfuls, and bake in a 200-degree oven for one hour or until dry. Lift the foil carefully from the cookie sheet, then lift off the meringues. Allow to cool before storing in an airtight tin.

Heavenly Berry-Wheat Meringues.

One package frozen strawberries.*
One cup whipping cream.
Meringues.

Defrost the berries at room temperature, or immerse the package in hot water for about 10 minutes if in a hurry. Open the berries, pour off excess juice (use for making milk drinks or sodas).

Whip the cream until stiff, then fold in the berries until almost mixed but still slightly marbled.

These may be served in several ways. Either pour over whole meringue shells in a glass dish just before serving, or prepare individual desserts by sandwiching a large spoon of the cream between two meringue shells. Or if some meringues have broken, break them in smaller pieces, put in parfait glasses and spoon the sauce over them at the moment of serving.

*Fresh berries also may be used. Crush one cupful with one-fourth cup sugar (or to taste) and fold into the whipped cream.

Yield: about two and one-half cups sauce.

Meringue Crust Pie.

Prepare meringue as for Wheat Meringue Kisses, then heap on prepared cookie sheet. With back of spoon, round out into shape of a pie shell. Bake in a 200-degree oven for about one and one-half hours, or until dry. Slide a spatula under the foil, then carefully peel off the foil. Allow the meringue to cool; use at once or store in an airtight tin ready for a quick dessert.

To Serve: Meringue crust may be filled with fresh fruit (peaches, strawberries, raspberries, blueberries) topped with whipped cream, or with any cold creamy pie filling such as the chocolate pie filling. Do not fill too long before serving or meringue will lose its crispness.

Bourbon Frosting

This frosting is delicious for a large sheet cake or eight-inch layer spice cake.

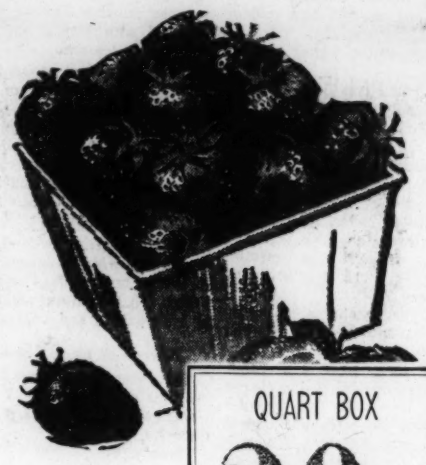

Cream one three-ounce package softened cream cheese with one tablespoon bourbon. Add dash of salt. Add three cups sifted powdered sugar gradually, blending well.

Decorate top and sides of cake with chopped California walnuts or walnut halves.

Dessert For Dieters

Oscar Wilde once claimed that he could resist anything but temptation. Most dieters have the same problem, particularly at dessert-time. Chiffon desserts are spectacular enough to provide temptation but there's no struggle with the conscience involved. The waistline-whittler can have her fill of the low-calorie sweet.

Fruit Chiffon is made with whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals rather than whipped cream, and maintains its fluffy texture with unflavored gelatine. Fruit Chiffon, unlike many dieter's desserts, looks elaborate enough to serve to dinner guests.

This delectable dessert may be made with canned fruit cocktail, blueberries, or diced peach slices. Because of its unflavored gelatine content, it needs no involved cooking. Simply combine the ingredients and place the mixture in the refrigerator.

(During the days when the thermometer will soar, you'll welcome the convenience of this speedy dessert.)

Fruit Chiffon proves additional versatility in the shape in which it comes to table. The pudding can be turned into a mold, baked pie shell or cookie crumb crust, or into dessert dishes.

To make a towering chiffon topping to a cake layer, chill the mixture until firm on a cake layer. Just fit the cake layer with a paper collar that extends two inches above the cake and secure the collar with transparent tape. Pour in the chiffon mixture, chill for an hour or two, and remove the collar.

Three-Way Fruit Chiffon.

One envelope unflovored gelatine.

One-half cup sugar, divided.

One can (one pound) fruit cocktail, blueberries or peach slices.*

Six tablespoons lemon juice, divided.

One-half cup ice water.

One-half cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals.

Mix together unflavored gelatine and one-fourth cup of the sugar in saucepan. Drain sirup from fruit into saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved.

Remove from heat; add four tablespoons of the lemon juice and drained fruit. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

While mixture is chilling, whip instant nonfat dry milk. Pour ice water into mixing bowl; add instant nonfat dry milk crystals.

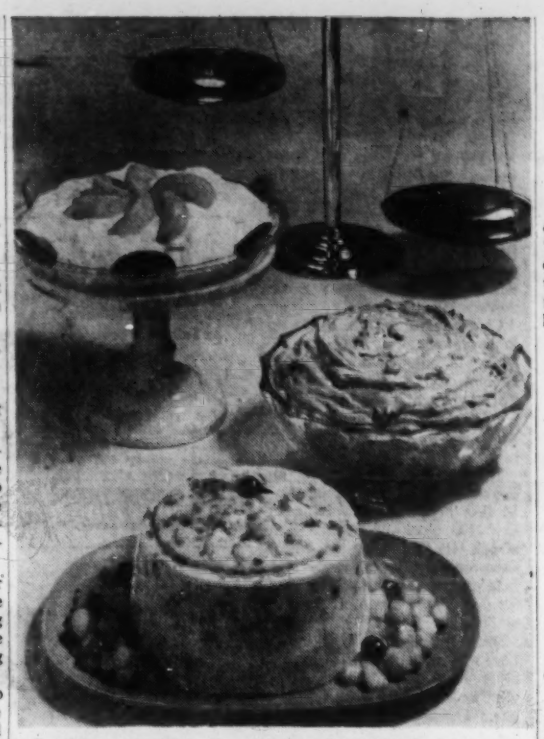

Add remaining two tablespoons lemon juice and continue whipping until stiff, three to four minutes longer. Add remaining one-fourth cup sugar. Fold in gelatine mixture.

Turn mixture into a nine-inch pie plate; put vanilla wafers around sides.

Or, turn into a six-cup mold, or one large serving bowl.

Yield: six servings.

*Cut peach slices into small pieces.

Combine a favorite canned fruit with whipped nonfat dry milk crystals and unflavored gelatine for a dessert that is light, refreshing, and low in calories. This chiffon dessert needs no cooking; may be served as a festive mold, as a spoon pudding or as a pie filling.

Surprise Inside These Apple Cheese Puffs

These apple cheese puffs are golden brown and crispy-crunchy on the outside—fork into them, and discover soft, fluffy hot rice with pockets of delectable melted cheese. Then the final surprise—the taste of apples, because the rice has been cooked in apple juice.

The puffs are served with hot spiced applesauce.

Apple Cheese Puffs

Three-fourths cup rice.

Three-fourths teaspoon salt.

Dash cayenne pepper.

One and one-half to one and three-fourths cups apple juice.

One egg, well-beaten.

One cup American cheddar cheese (about one-fourth-inch cubes).

Four tablespoons chopped parsley.

Two cups dry cereal flakes, slightly crushed.

Put rice, salt and pepper in saucepan. Cook rice according to directions on package using apple juice instead of water and omitting package directions for seasonings. Cook until all juice is absorbed.

Remove from heat. Add egg, cheese and parsley; stir well. Cool 30 minutes. Divide into eight portions. Shape into rectangles, three by one and one-fourth inches; roll in cereal flakes. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in 425 degree oven 10 minutes. Serve hot with Hot Spiced Applesauce.

Yield: Four servings.

Note: If desired, Puffs may be partially made a day ahead of time. Before cooling in saucepan, pour rice and cheese mixture into a small bowl. Cover and place in refrigerator. Next day, divide into eight portions and continue as above.

Hot Spiced Applesauce:

Two cups canned applesauce.

One-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Combine applesauce and cinnamon in a small saucepan. Heat, stirring constantly.

Beef Slices With Onion Gravy

With a bit of imagination, second-day meat dishes can be as interesting as the original roast.

Leftover beef in the refrigerator? Try heating the slices in a gravy made with onion soup and horseradish.

Beef Slices with Onion Gravy.

One pound cooked beef slices.

One-half cup water.

One tablespoon cornstarch.

Two tablespoons butter or margarine.

One teaspoon horseradish.

One can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup.

Combine water and cornstarch in a saucepan. Add butter, horseradish and soup. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add beef slices and cook until heated through.

Yield: Four to six servings.

Chickens are such an outstanding value that it is to be expected they would be the main dish in this week's menu planned around foods which are currently "good buys" in the St. Louis area.

Spicy Grapefruit

The youngsters in the family will be delighted with these spicy grapefruit sections. Heat one-fourth cup fresh grapefruit juice with one to one and one-half tablespoons red cinnamon candies until candies dissolve.

Pour over two cups fresh grapefruit sections and chill.

COUPLE BOUND AND ROBBED IN THEIR HOME

Dr. and Mrs. Harley G. Stanton were tied and blindfolded yesterday in their home, 1818 North Fortieth street, East St. Louis, by two men who fled with $87 and jewelry after an unsuccessful search for narcotics, police reported.

Dr. Stanton, 74 years old, said a man appeared at his front door about 4:15 p.m., pointed a revolver at him and forced the physician to accompany him into the doctor's office in the home. Dr. Stanton was forced to lie on the floor. His wrists were bound behind his back with surgical tape and his eyes blindfolded with a hand towel.

The intruder demanded to know where Dr. Stanton kept his narcotics. When the physician said he had none, the robber took $7 from the victim's trouser pocket and walked out of the office, police were told.

Meanwhile, the robber's accomplice had slipped into the house undetected and made his way to Mrs. Stanton's second-floor bedroom. He pointed a revolver at her and ordered her to sit on a rocking chair, after removing two diamond rings from her fingers. Mrs. Stanton valued the rings at $600.

Tied to Chair.

The robber tied her wrists to the chair with two of Dr. Stanton's neckties, and blindfolded her with a third tie. He then removed $50 from her purse and left the room.

After some time, Mrs. Stanton managed to free herself. She went downstairs and untied her husband. The pair then discovered that the telephone wires had been cut. They went to a neighbor's home and summoned police.

The Stantons found that a chest in the dining room had been ransacked and $30 in pennies taken from it.

The robbers were described as being in their early 20s. One was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds and wearing a plaid shirt. The other was said to be about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighing 135 pounds and wearing a red sweater.

Robert L. Wilson, 25 North Forty-first street, East St. Louis, was beaten and robbed of $70 early yesterday in the 1500 block of East Broadway, East St. Louis.

Wilson, a truck driver, told police he was walking toward his truck after eating breakfast in a nearby restaurant when two young men grabbed him from behind and beat him on the head and face with their fists, knocking him down.

Grabs Billfold.

One of the robbers tore his trousers pocket and grabbed his billfold, which contained the money, Wilson said. He was treated at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis for lacerations of the forehead.

Joe Chaney, an attendant at a service station at 7842 North Broadway, was robbed of $35 yesterday by two men, one of whom was armed with a revolver.

Chaney said the men drove up in an automobile. When he approached, one pointed a revolver at him and demanded money. Chaney gave him the money from his pocket, and the men drove north on Broadway, he said.

Jeff McCollum, 1300 South Fourteenth street, was robbed of $6 last night when walking in the 1100 block of South Sixth street. He told police three men accosted him, and while one held him, the other two searched his pockets. The men fled north on Sixth.

Darrell LaChance, 11, a newsboy, was robbed of $1.25 by another youth who threatened him with a knife, he reported to police. The boy said he was in a rear yard in the 2000 block of Shenandoah avenue, when the other youth, about 15 years old, crept up behind him, put a knife to his throat, and demanded his money changer. The LaChance boy lives at 2866 Missouri avenue. He was not injured.

Day's Complete New York Stock Transactions

COPPERS-SPACE ISSUES STRONG IN MIXED MARKET

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Aircraft-missile stocks and coppers advanced as the stock market closed mixed today.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point or so were the general rule among most key stocks.

Uncertainty over the Laos situation dampened trading. At the same time, a number of the defense-related issues made gains because of the tense international situation.

Coppers advanced as major producers upped the price of the metal by a cent a pound.

Anaconda rose a fraction, Kennecott more than a point and Magma about 2.

McDonnell Aircraft and Republic Aviation advanced more than a point each as interest remained keen in space exploration.

The list had a slight edge to the upside at the start but soon became uneven.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.7 million shares compared with 3.71 million Friday.

The market was higher at the opening, then turned iregular as trading quieted following the initial rush of transactions.

American Stock Exchange prices up to late afternoon were mixed in active trading. Viewlex "A" spurted about 4 points. Bar-Chris Construction was down about 3, Liberty Fabrics around 2 and Hudson Vitamin more than a point. Ahead about 2 points were Aerojet-General and Associated Test Laboratories.

LONDON MARKET IRREGULAR

LONDON, May 1 (AP) — A stubborn dock strike which is hampering both exports and imports restrained buyer enthusiasm on the stock exchange day and the over-all appearance was irregular.

Industrials were generally quiet with a few bright spots caused by selective buying.

British Government bonds opened quietly firm but sagged toward the close.

Gold mining and copper issues drifted lower in a thin market. Oils were selectively better.

Call of Preferred Stock.

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Directors of Associated Dry Goods Corp. have called for redemption of 50,000 shares of the company's 5¼ per cent preferred stock June 19 at $110 plus dividends accrued from June 1. The shares to be redeemed will be determined by lot. The issue has 144,556 shares outstanding.

STEEL RATE IN NEW 4.1 PCT. WEEK RISE

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Steel production last week moved upward for the seventh straight week. The improvement over the previous week was the best since the upturn started almost two months ago.

The American Iron and Steel Institute reported mills poured 1,858,000 tons, highest in 11 months. The weekly production is watched closely as a major indicator of the health of the nation's economy.

Output for the latest week was 4.1 per cent better than the 1,784,000 tons produced by mills the previous week. However, production is still running at about 65 per cent of the industry's estimated capacity.

The relighting of furnaces by the three biggest steel makers helped push production higher last week. Steel men say order gains continued to grow. Some companies report customers placing orders further in advance.

For the 17 weeks of the year, the institute said, output totaled 27,044,000 tons or 32 per cent below the 43,740,000 production in the similar 1960 period.

The institute's production index by district: northeast coastal 103 per cent, Buffalo 100, Pittsburgh 90, Youngstown 84, Cleveland 105, Detroit 113, Chicago 102, Cincinnati 103, St. Louis 113, Southern 94 and western 121.

OVER-THE-COUNTER MARKET PRICES OFF

By ALEXANDER R. HAMMER
© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, May 1.—Sharp price moves were a feature of the over-the-counter market last week. The pace of trading slackened somewhat with previous weeks when dealers were hard-pressed to handle all orders.

Th price fluctuations were apparently triggered by the drop in stock values on the big board on Monday. The off-board market, however, rallied in the middle of the week but weakened again on Friday.

This was reflected in the National Quotation Bureau's price index of 35 industrial stocks. The index dropped to 125.75 on Monday after closing the previous Friday at 126.96. It fell to 124.42 on Tuesday and then moved ahead to 124.77 on Wednesday and to 125.20 on Thursday. It closed on Friday at 124.95, off 2.01 for the week.

Wide Price Ranges.

Two stocks which had wide price movements during the week were Electronics International Capital and Heublein, Inc. Electronics International went from a high of 29 to a low of 23 and closed at 24¼, off 3¾ points. Heublein fell from a high of 76 to 68 and closed at 71, off 4 points on the week.

Other issues that lost ground were Baxter Laboratories, down 3 points; Haloid Xerox, off 5 points, and Time, Inc., down 3 points.

R. C. Can, which has been strong in recent weeks, continued to show strength and moved ahead 3 points. Sprague Electric, which had been lagging behind some of the electronic issues recently, spurted ahead 5 points.

Pneumodynamics, which sold off a point early in the week, later recovered for a 2½ point gain. Pueblo Supermarkets advanced 4 points and Parker-Hannifin rose 3 points.

Utilities Are Weaker.

Tenax, Inc., moved ahead 1¾ points on reports that the home food delivery service company is negotiating to acquire a company in the same field.

The utility group was generally weaker. Arizona Public Service which announced a two-for-one stock split, was the exception with its when-issued stock gaining 2 points. Southern Nevada dropped 1½ points and Public Service of New Mexico fell ¾ of a point.

In the life insurance list, much of the interest centered on Franklin Life, which climbed 4 points. In the previous week the stock had jumped 10 points after the company announced it planned a 25 per cent stock dividend later this year. Another strong performer was National Old Line which rose 3 points.

The New York City bank stocks were fractionally lower, with Chase Manhattan, Chemical and Hanover showing slight declines. Morgan Guaranty showed strength and gained 1½ points.

TEXTRON, INC., BUYS FIRM

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Rupert N. Thompson Jr., chairman of the board of Textron, Inc., announced the firm has bought the Sprague Meter Co. of Bridgeport, Conn.

He said the sale was approved by stockholders of Sprague at a meeting in Bridgeport. He did not disclose the sale price.

Only 67 Strikes in Area in 1960, But Workers Out Rose to 44,400

Year's Stoppages Fewest Since Keeping of Records for Local Areas Was Begun in 1952.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent.

Strike activity in the St. Louis metropolitan area last year dropped to the lowest level in nine years data have been compiled for local areas, a report just issued by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics shows.

There were 67 work stoppages begun in 1960 in the St. Louis area, compared with 88 in 1959 and 71 in 1954, the previous low for the period beginning in 1952.

W. H. Kester

However, the strikes started last year involved more workers than in any year since 1952. There were 44,400 workers involved in the strikes started last year, compared with 26,400 in 1959. In 1952, there were 60,300 workers involved in work stoppages.

Despite the increase in numbers of workers involved, the amount of time lost because of strikes dropped sharply last year to the lowest level on record. There were 241,000 man-days lost in all stoppages occuring in 1960, compared with 519,000 man-days in 1959 and the previous low of 318,000 in 1956.

The improvement resulted from the shorter duration of strikes. The average number of days lost per worker involved last year was 5.4 days, the shortest average for the period covered. In 1959 the average duration of strikes here was 19.6 days, the longest for the nine-year period.

St. Louis strikes last year also were shorter than the 14.5-day average for those in the United States.

The number of strikes started in Missouri declined to 74 last year from 105 in 1959. But the number of workers involved and the amount of time lost increased, reflecting the prolonged stoppage by construction workers in Kansas City.

There were 62,200 workers involved in the 1960 strikes in Missouri outside the St. Louis area, compared with 24,600 in 1959. The number of man-days idle as a result of all strikes rose from 935,000 in 1959 to 1,220,000 in 1960. The lost time amounted to .41 per cent in Missouri, compared with a national average of .17 per cent.

Data in the report are based on all known work stoppages involving six or more workers and lasting a full shift or longer. The number of workers involved and idle man-days cover all workers made idle in establishments directly involved in a stoppage. They do not measure the indirect or secondary effects on other operations whose employes may be idle as a result of material or service shortages.

Phelan-Faust Paint Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis has acquired the resin manufacturing facilities of John H. Witte & Sons in Burlington, Iowa, it was announced today. The plant will be operated as the resins and plastics division of the company.

Fred C. Weber, vice president and technical director of Phelan-Faust, will be in charge of all chemical development in the division.

The company's sales in 1960 were a record and earnings increased substantially from 1959, William J. Phelan Jr., president, said.

General Steel Castings Corp. has changed its name to General Steel Industries, Inc., effective today.

The change in name reflects the growing diversification of its products. National Roll and Foundry Co., which produces iron and steel rolls for the steel industry, and St. Louis Car Co., which manufactures rapid transit and railroad cars, have been acquired since 1956.

The company's plants at Eddystone, Pa., and Granite City produce steel castings for industry, railroads and Army tanks.

SOYBEANS, GRAIN OPEN WEEK HIGHER

CHICAGO, May 1 (AP).—Grain futures prices hit a firm range today and held it most of the time without the usual pressure of profit selling.

Gains of a cent or more were posted for nearly all commodities in a relatively quiet trade. Transactions halted for long periods in the early afternoon as dealers appeared to be standing on positions already established on the market.

Brokers said the fact that the advances had failed to tempt profit takers suggested the trade may be awaiting developments in Washington on the Laotian fighting.

CORPORATE BONDS LOSE MOST OF EARLY UPTURN

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—The corporate bond list lost most of its early upward edge by late afternoon today. Volume remained at last week's sharply reduced rate.

The United States Government market was unchanged from Friday's close as investors and dealers concentrated on the Treasury's May refunding.

One over the counter dealer in Treasury securities said business was at a standstill.

Among corporates, rails and utilities fell back from a higher start and were mixed. Industrials continued mixed and high grade investment issues retained an upward margin. Volume on the New York stock exchange was estimated at 10 per cent behind Friday's pace.

In the foreign department Amsterdam 5¼s added 1 at 102½ and Greek 6s fell 1 at 29.

One Government dealer said the market's attention was centered on the Treasury's refunding. Subscription books were open today only for the cash sale of $7,750,000,000 of 3 per cent one-year certificates and 3¼ per cent 2-year notes. They will replace a similar total of notes and certificates maturing May 15.

TEXTILE MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Scattered sales of print cloths and broadcloths accounted for most of the limited activity in the cotton textile market Monday. Dealers were encouraged by the latest industry's estimates showing that during March unfilled orders for cotton textiles increased slightly over the preceding month while at the same time inventories were slightly lower.

Orders for wool goods were fair. Prices advanced one pence a pound at the Sydney wool auction, with Japan the leading buyer. Mills, which bid on the government serge order early in April, asked the Government to reconsider its cancellation of the order because the bids were "excessively high." Sentiment in the wool goods industry holds to opposite view that the bids were reasonable.

FORD BUILT MORE CARS IN APRIL THAN YEAR AGO

DETROIT, May 1 (AP)—Ford Motor Co. reported today it built more cars in April this year than in April, 1960, the first month in which 1961 has bettered year ago figures.

Somewhat Warmer Wednesday

—Associated Press Wirephoto. Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Somewhat warmer weather with rain is expected in the St. Louis area Wednesday, although temperatures will average below normal for the next several days, the Weather Bureau said.

Severe storms hit parts of Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Missouri late yesterday and early today, causing extensive property damage. The storms, set off in a clash of warm moist air from the south and cold air from the north, produced tornadoes, damaging winds, hail and heavy rain.

In addition to the storm areas, rain was reported in Kentucky, Tennessee, the Virginias, North Carolina, the Great Lakes region and coastal sections of Washington and Oregon. Light snow and snow mixed with rain fell in western Nebraska, parts of South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

More rain was forecast for tomorrow in the Atlantic states, Ohio valley, Gulf area, northern Texas, Pacific northwest and the Rockies, as indicated by the above map. Snow is expected in Wyoming.

Temperatures were in the 20-degree range this morning in North Dakota with below freezing readings in the northeast. The national high yesterday was 103 at Presidio, Tex.

Heating degree days in the St. Louis area yesterday, 12; the month, 455; the season, 4813.

EXECUTIVE SALESMAN

We are a large, very successful manufacturer of office copying equipment with sales increasing every day, but we have outgrown much of our organization. Many of our salesmen have recently been promoted to managerial positions, leaving vacant developed, high-potential territories.

As one of our salesmen, an existing territory would be turned over to you, already producing an exceptional high income from supply business. You would be given a steady flow of leads from one of the most highly successful national advertising programs in the office equipment field, constantly keeping you alerted to the prospective new customers in your territory. You will be thoroughly trained and undoubtedly achieve a new higher level of success in recognition than ever before as a salesman.

This job calls for a kind of self-reliance and maturity plus the energy of youth (23-34 years of age) because we would want to accept this man ultimately into our organization with its great opportunities for promotion, we would be sharply critical in our selection. If you think you are the man for this position we want to talk to you.

For an appointment phone Paul J. Shields, Regional Sales Manager.

POLIO SHOTS TO BE GIVEN AT 16 LOCATIONS

Polio vaccinations will be available to any St. Louis or St. Louis county resident at 16 hospitals and housing projects in the area in the next two weeks, it was announced today.

Vaccinations will be available for persons from 3 months to 40 years old. A charge of $1 will be asked for each shot but no one will be refused for inability to pay, Dr. Carl F. Vohs, chairman of the medical advisory committee of the City-County chapter of the New March of Dimes, said.

Dr. Vohs urged that all persons who can should receive vaccinations from their personal physician. All others should take advantage of the shots given at the hospitals and housing projects, he emphasized.

4 Shots Preferred.

Each person under 40 years of age should have at least three shots, but preferably four, he said.

"Virtually 50 per cent of all Americans, particularly those below school age and between 18 and 40 years old, have not been vaccinated," he said.

"I cannot help feeling that anyone failing to make use of this opportunity is irresponsible and does not deserve our aid if he or other members of his family are later stricken by polio," he said.

He pointed out that everyone stricken by polio who has not received vaccinations is diverting March of Dimes funds that are more urgently needed helping youngsters with birth defects and arthritis and older persons with long-term polio.

Annual Program.

"But more important is the fact that polio shots will prevent needless and tragic crippling of children who look to adults for protection," he said.

The vaccinations being given at the various hospitals and projects are part of an annual program sponsored by the local March of Dimes chapter, the medical profession and the Mothers March Against Crippling Diseases. Approximately 100,000 shots were given in each of the two previous years of the program.

The second phase of the program will be held in the week of June 5. The third vaccination will be available the week of Feb. 5, 1962.

Schedule Listed.

The vaccination schedule is as follows: Cardinal Glennon Hospital, 6 to 8 p.m. Wednesday through Friday; DePaul Hospital, 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday.

Lutheran Hospital, 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday; Missouri Baptist Hospital, 2 to 4 p.m. tomorrow, Thursday and Friday; Peoples Hospital, 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Homer G. Phillips Hospital, 4 to 5 p.m. tomorrow through Friday and 10 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday; St. Anthony Hospital, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 7 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday; St. John's Hospital, 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Cochran Apartments, basement of 1418 North Eighth street, 3 to 7 p.m. tomorrow and Wednesday; Darst-Peabody Community Center, 1304 South Fourteenth street, 3 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday; Carr Square-Vaughn Plymouth House, 1521 Carr street, 3 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Igoe-Pruitt, 2401 Dickson street, 3 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday; Normandy Osteopathic Hospital, Normandy, 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday; St. Joseph Hospital, Kirkwood, 6 to 8 p.m. May 10 through 12; St. Louis County Hospital, 4:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, and St. Mary's Hospital, 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

MSD Faces Double Problem Of Meeting Sewer Needs in County, Halting River Pollution

Service in Expanding Areas Will Cost Millions, Official Says—$105,000,000 Bond Issue Considered for Sewage Treatment Facilities.

By C. L. KELLIHER
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.
(TENTH IN A SERIES.)

ADEQUATE SEWERS, ONE OF THE MOST expensive public improvements needed by a fast-growing area, will be developed in St. Louis county only through the expenditure of many millions of dollars, engineers said yesterday.

"Financing and laying sewer lines fast enough to keep up with the expanding population is a big enough problem in itself," Peter F. Mattei, interim director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Sewer District, said today. "But coupled with this is our obligation to the Government to halt the pollution of the rivers."

The MSD, which includes all of St. Louis and the most populous parts of the county, is considering submission of a $105,000,000 bond issue proposal to voters next year, for building facilities for pollution abatement.

"The county's chief trouble is that we were 25 years too late in attacking sewer problems," H. Clifford Mitchell, director of sanitation for the county health department, said.

COUNTLESS inadequate septic tanks had been installed before stricter regulations were imposed, he said. In the county areas beyond the MSD boundary, such tanks and other unsatisfactory sewage conditions concern health authorities.

"This handicaps us in dealing with the sewer demands generated by rapid residential development," Mitchell said. "The demand for the utility almost exceeds the ability to supply it."

Virtually all of the almost countless sanitary and storm sewer problems inherited by the Metropolitan Sewer District, which became fully operative Jan. 1, 1956, existed or originated in the county part of the district.

Mattei said that at that time there were 2400 miles of public sewers, almost evenly divided between the city and county. In the county since then, more than 600 miles of new sewers have been built. No estimate of future requirements has been made, Mattei said, "but it is inevitable that hundreds of more miles of public sewers will be needed before the county is completely sewered."

SOME MEASURE of the head way being made by MSD toward meeting the sanitary sewer needs is indicated by bond issue subdistricts approved by the voters, he said. Chief among the bond issue programs are:

Coldwater Creek sanitary trunk sewer and treatment plant, $10,986,000; Gravois Creek, $4,750,000; Maline Creek, $1,700,000; Creve Coeur-Frontenac, $750,000; North Affton, $240,000, and Vinita Park, $125,000.

In addition, MSD has begun more than 130 special tax bill subdistricts with programs totaling more than $15,000,000.

The MSD western boundary roughly parallels Lindbergh boulevard along the drainage dividing line in the county. All land east of the line drains into the Mississippi. However, the MSD includes all of the city of Kirkwood and the area north of Kirkwood and extending west to the city of Creve Coeur, because this territory also is in the natural drainage area.

In addition, about 85 per cent of the northern county Coldwater creek watershed, which drains to the Missouri river, is included in MSD because the large population growth of the area demanded sanitation measures that could be provided only by a district authority.

Only one major sanitary trunk sewer project remains to be financed, Mattei said. It will be in the Wellston area. MSD trustees are considering submission of a $700,000 bond issue proposal to the voters in that area next July or August, he said.

"BUT THERE are literally hundreds of trouble spots in the county calling for improvements to be made through establishment of sewer subdistricts," Mattei said. Size of the approximately 130 subdistricts already formed ranges from three homes to 1500 pieces of real estate. Some of the subdistricts are formed when property owners petition for an improvement and pay for it through tax bills issued by the MSD. The cost is pro-rated among the property owners according to each one's land area.

St. Louis voters as well as those in the county would ballot on the looming $105,000,000 bond issue proposal for halting pollution of the Mississir . Exempted would be residents in the Coldwater creek watershed, which drains into the Missouri, and those served by Kirkwood Plant No. 2 in the southwest corner of the municipality, on Sugar creek.

The bond issue funds would pay for property and construction of large sewage treatment plants.

Costlier than sanitary sewers are storm water sewers, for which the MSD is also responsible in its territory. Mattei said relatively few sewer districts in the nation have been charged with building and maintaining both sanitary and storm sewers.

"Enough bonds could not be floated to build all the storm sewers needed in our district, because of state constitutional and MSD charter limitations on bonded indebtedness," Mattei said. Both instruments bar issuance of bonds in excess of 5 per cent of the assessed property valuation in the area to be bene-

STORM WATER drainage problems expand in the county as more subdivisions, stores and parking lots are built, with pavements and buildings causing increased water run-off.

An area subject to repeated flooding is in Lemay, near Broadway and Ripa avenues, where sink holes are the chief drainage treminals.

County Highway Engineer John J. Leslie said basement floods occur in an older subdivision on a water drainage course leading into Spanish Lake.

"There was no flooding before new subdivisions were built on higher ground," he said. Now the water run-off is stronger and at a higher level, causing the difficulty in the older homes, which were built too close to the drainage course to begin with."

Leslie said the proposed land-use plan drafted by the County Planning Commission would prohibit construction on sites subject to flooding.

MITCHELL SAID that before the County Council enacted an ordinance in 1955 requiring ground tests to determine if septic tanks would operate satisfactorily on a new

FTC Chairman Sounds Warning On Too Many TV Commercials

© New York Times News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 1.

THE CHAIRMAN of the Federal Communications Commission warned yesterday that if television stations squeeze in too many commercials, he will recommend action to prevent excesses.

Newton N. Minow made the comment in an interview. He was discussing specifically the American Broadcasting Company's plan to increase the time for station breaks from 30 to 40 seconds.

The additional 10 seconds did not in itself seem objectionable to him, Minow said. He said he would feel differently if the added time were used to make three advertising spot announcements in a station break instead of the usual two.

THE COMMISSION probably would have the power to adopt regulations against excesses, and in fact it is considering the matter obliquely in one pending case.

Recently the FCC voted, 4 to 3, to hold a hearing on a license renewal application by radio station KORD in Pasco, Wash. The majority declined to grant the usual automatic renewal because of doubt about whether the station had lived up to promises made in obtaining the license.

One of the promises was that KORD would carry only 700 spot announcements a week. It was alleged that the station carried almost 1600.

Triple-spotting is disapproved in the television code of the National Association of Broadcasters, but compliance with the code is voluntary, and violations occur.

ABC PLANS to increase the station-break time on nighttime network shows. This would allow more time to local affiliated stations for announcements and advertising.

Originally, in 1948, the networks allowed only 15 seconds for the station break. It was increased to 20 seconds in 1951 and 30 in 1956. The ABC move has brought protests from the advertising industry.

Originally the two other networks, the Columbia Broadcasting System and National Broadcasting Co., had no plans for a change. However, CBS has now announced that it will go to 42 seconds, and NBC is also expected to increase its station breaks.

Waste Charged In Grants for Health Study

Some Research Funds Reported Used for Office Equipment.

WASHINGTON, May 1 (UPI)

CONGRESSIONAL investigators said yesterday they had uncovered questionable practices and financial irregularities in the National Institutes of Health.

They called on the NIH—which handles federally financed research on such health hazards as cancer and heart disease—to set up stricter controls.

The recommendations came in a report published by the House Government Operations Committee.

The committee said investigation had uncovered "disturbing evidence of the kinds of financial abuses that can and do occur without detection under existing administration arrangements."

The report said one commercial firm, which had been granted $185,000 for research over a two-year period, spent some of the funds for desks, chairs, tables, carpets, curtains, venetian blinds, bookcases, lamps and pictures.

THE COMMITTEE said in a second case, a commercial firm was allowed to buy $17,000 worth of permanent equipment with taxpayer's money despite the fact that NIH officials had found no more additional equipment was needed.

The investigators discovered also that NIH funds for scientific conferences sometimes were abused. They said one grantee reported spending $3500 for a ballet concert as well as additional funds for other entertainment.

By the Associated Press.

The NIH is a unit of the Public Health Service under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The committee report summary said that the support of extramural research and training has grown from $21,900,000 in 1950 to $447,500,000 in 1961. About three-fourths of these research grants go to colleges

U.S. to Double South Viet Nam Arms Aid; Wary of Laos Threat

$41,000,000 More to Be Made Available—Fall of 2 Laotian Towns Could Speed Up Infiltration by Reds.

By E. W. KENWORTHY
© New York Times News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 1.

THE ADMINISTRATION HAS DECIDED to increase by $41,000,000 the amount of military aid to be made available to South Viet Nam in the fiscal year beginning July 1, it was learned yesterday.

The additional money, almost all of which will be spent on hardware, will roughly double the strictly military aid the United States has been providing annually to the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The meeting of the National Security Council at the White House Saturday informed sources said, dealt at length with the situation in South Viet Nam as well as Laos.

Attending the meeting were Frederick G. Nolting, the new ambassador to Saigon, and Lt. Gen. Lionel C. McGarr, head of the United States Military Assistance Group in South Viet Nam.

THE PENTAGON and State Department have been deeply disurbed by military developments in eastern Laos in the last few days. Reports from Vientiane and Saigon indicate that the Loatian towns of Tohepone and Muong Phine are in imminent danger of capture by Communist Pathet Lao forces.

The towns are on a principal road leading from Laos into South Viet Nam. Tohepone is below the Seventeenth Parallel, the boundary line between North and South Viet Nam established by the 1954 Geneva accord ending the Indochinese war.

Tohepone, according to reports reaching here, is surrounded by at least 1000 Pathet Lao troops. If the towns should fall, the way would be open for the insurgents to communicate much more easily with Hanoi, the North Viet Nam capital.

FURTHERMORE, officials here point out, the loss of the towns would clear a funnel down which Communist Vietminh troops could slip into South Viet Nam.

The deteriorating situation in Laos has made it much easier for Vietminh insurgents to slip into South Viet Nam. Over the last 18 months the number of these insurgents has increased from 3000 to 12,000, according to military estimates. Some of the insurgent bands in South Viet Nam contain 400 men. These bands are kidnaping young South Viet Namese peasants and pressing them into service.

The South Viet Nam government puts the number of military civilian deaths at the hands of the Viet Cong, the South Viet Namese Communists, and their Vietminh allies at 300 a month. Actually the figure is probably twice that, according to United States estimates. Again it is believed that the government's claim of 800 to 1000 Communists killed a month is probably exaggerated.

The United States is trying to get the South Viet Namese government to speed up its program of social and political reform.

MORE DEMOCRACY NEEDED IN U.S., SAYS JUSTICE CLARK

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark told his fellow Texans today "if we hope to export more democracy we are going to have to produce more of it right here at home."

Clark reminded his Law Day audience that the Declaration of Independence says all men are created equal. "It does not say some men—or most men—but all men," he said. "When we do not give full recognition to that fact, we can be certain that the Communists capitalize upon it throughout the world."

Clark's remarks were in a filmed address shown in high schools and telecast today throughout Texas.

LAW DAY U.S.A.
May 1st has been proclaimed Law Day U. S. A. by President Kennedy. This week has been proclaimed Law In Your Life Week by Mayor Tucker.
The objectives of Law Day U. S. A., first proclaimed in 1958 by the President of the United States, are: (1) to foster a deeper respect for law by teaching how laws serve all citizens. (2) To encourage responsible citizenship by demonstrating that individual rights and freedoms involve individual obligations. (3) To promote national strength and unity by reaffirming faith in the "rule of law," as the foundation stone of American life and government, and as an example to the world of what reliance upon the rule of law can mean to peoples of all nations.
This is a nation founded upon freedom under law. Its basic principles are: (1) that ours is a government of laws and not of men, and (2) that all men are equal under the law. Law protects the liberties of the individual. It enters into your daily life; determines the validity of your contracts and your rights and duties. You need the guidance of your own lawyer in many of your daily activities.
In connection with Law Day U. S. A., public tours of the courts are planned for today. On Wednesday special church services will commemorate the occasion and there will be special observances in the schools. For information call the Bar Association of St. Louis, GA. 1-4134.

Letters from the People

Spoiling Beauty

My husband and I derive week-end relaxation and inspiration from long trips into the magnificent hill country of Missouri or to the shores of what Pascal terms the "moving roads" of her rivers. Sometimes we have had lunch in the middle of a forest, while the snow fell whitely and noiselessly about us. There have been Saturdays when we parked our small car next to a waterfall almost hidden by over-hanging trees. My husband has photographed rustic bridges spanning light-dappled streams, old stone churches nestled between sheer hills, vine-grown log cabins set against the majestic backdrop of the Ozarks.

Much as we should like to share the loveliness of these places, we hesitate to speak of them lest the Billboard Barons discover they have not yet ruined all the beauty of Missouri. In the valley striped in many shades of green that lies at the foot of a scenic overlook which we love they would doubtless place a vast green, yellow and purple sign extolling the virtues of Chokey's Chewy Chocolate Chips, Paul's Piquant Poopsies, or Baby Bunting's Bubbly Barley Beer. If the Blazoners of the Blurb were to effect such desecration, we should have to discontinue our weekend odysseys.

If the Brethren of the Billboard are so wedded to the offensive and vulgar ugliness they propagate that they cannot live without it, they are urged to desecrate their own estates with the horrendous evidences of their craft. Let them set lurid exhilments to Winnie's Winning Wienies against the stone walls enclosing their properties, tack to every tree a paean to Frankie's Frantic Franks or Philip's Phizzing Phudgies. Let them by all means enjoy their handiwork to the full. Let them by the same token spare the rest of us. Anne Jennings

Tip to Buyers

Answering "Mrs. Being Took," why doesn't she get herself a savings account instead of buying on time payments? She should eat on the old breakfast set until she saved enough to pay cash for what she buys. All the money she pays out in interest and carrying charges will be so much gravy in her pocketbook. Why is it so hard for people to save the actual cash but dish it out without complaint for goods bought on credit?
Mrs. Pay Cash or No Buy

On Stock Options

The Administration in its search to raise more revenue is considering removal of the $50 deduction and the 4 per cent dividend credit now permitted to holders of corporate stocks. Let it be remembered that while the corporations are taxed on their earnings the stockholders are also liable again on the dividends which they receive.

A certain top official of one of our very large corporations could profit by $4,500,000 under the tax benefits of his stock option plan.

Senator Gore is proposing that Congress eliminate favored tax treatment of stock option plans. If Congress wants to approach this matter of closing tax loopholes in an equitable manner, let it give serious thought to Senator Gore's proposal. Also let all stockholders consider more seriously stock option proxy proposals made to them.

Bloody Accuser

Khrushchev talks of "peaceful co-existence." Can you co-exist with a hungry tiger?

And they dare point a bloody finger at us concerning the attempted counter-revolution in Cuba—a finger dripping with the blood of Hungary.

The masses of Russia and China and their satellites have merely exchanged masters; they have gone from serfdom under the landlord to serfdom under the state and they know not the meaning of the word freedom. Eleanor B. Sharp

Plenty Safe in Tucson

I would like to add Tucson, Ariz., to that list of cities where motorists do not charge down upon the pedestrian who believes he has the right to cross a street at an intersection even if there are no traffic lights. Tucson is one of the several fastest growing cities of the nation and its streets are busier than those of St. Louis yet the pedestrian is far safer there.

Tucson police say it is merely the result of letting the motorist know the law is enforced.

Officials Above Reproach

Nothing is more liable to undermine confidence in Government than the acceptance of private favors in return for official favors, or the use of official information for private gain. These and other conflicts of interest obviously are immoral. Congress has enacted no less than seven laws to prevent or punish such abuses of authority.

President Kennedy, however, is justified in requesting a broad and flexible Executive Employes' Standards Act. A study by three eminent lawyers shows that the present laws leave some important areas unregulated, that in other areas they raise unwarranted difficulties, and that they are full of overlappings and inconsistencies.

The requested legislation would apply only to the Executive branch. This indicates less need for laying down rules for the judiciary. In Congress, however, there may be as much temptation as in any administrative office. So while the President respects the right of Congress to act for itself, his desire for a tightening-up in the agencies should induce the men on Capitol Hill to consider prescriptions which would give greater assurance that all of them, too, believe that they "must act with unwavering integrity, absolute impartiality and complete devotion to the public interest."

Mr. Kennedy acknowledges that "criminal statutes and presidential orders, no matter how carefully conceived or meticulously drafted, cannot hope to deal effectively with every problem of ethical behavior of conflict of interest." Problems vary from agency to agency. Nevertheless the President wants Congress to establish clear guide lines. He also wants each agency to draft a code adapted to its activities. He wants a committee in each agency to give specialized advice as problems arise. He has set the tone by his personal policy of refusing gifts.

To avoid "a welter of conflicting and haphazard regulations," he proposes to appoint in the executive office of the President, a single officer charged with the responsibility of co-ordinating these activities, accumulating experience leading to more effective regulation, and reporting directly to the President so that the Chief Executive can exert his own influence most effectively.

Congress will want to examine closely the President's proposal to outlaw all ex-parte contacts in proceedings whose outcome is dependent on hearings. Is the plan realistic, or too severe? Also to be critically studied is the suggestion that conflict-of-interest rules be relaxed in the employment of part-time consultants.

The President, however, wants Congress to be stringent about the outside employment of full-time officials, and about gifts, favors and emoluments, including the most subtle. He wants the codes of the various agencies to have the full force of law, but he believes they will not be as effective as they should be if the only recourse, in case of violations, is criminal prosecution. He feels that agency heads should cope with the less obvious or less flagrant cases by suitable disciplinary action. Beyond laws and regulations, the President recognizes the importance of a good example set by higher officialdom.

We should like to see Congress do the most thoughtful and thorough job of which it is capable in creating a new body of conflict-of-interest law. The existing statutes are antiquated (five of the seven enacted before 1873), unco-ordinated, lacking in uniformity and sometimes inconsistent—a state of affairs which certainly offers fertile opportunities for legislative improvement. Even more, we should like to see the conflict-of-interest evil tackled more firmly than has so far been done from the preventive angle, to give honest officialdom the attractions, the tools and the rewards of honest service.

So Citizens May Know

A long overdue bill requiring all Missouri municipalities and other political subdivisions to prepare annual budgets has been favorably recommended by the Missouri Senate's judiciary committee. The measure would carry out a command of the State Constitution which provides that "as prescribed by law, all counties, cities and other legal subdivisions of the state shall have an annual budget."

A survey last fall by Governmental Research Institute of St. Louis, which helped draft the bill, disclosed that a great many cities in Missouri, including most of St. Louis county's smaller communities and special purpose districts, attempt to operate without budgets—which is to say their operations tend to be unplanned and haphazard. Maplewood, a city of 12,000, was disclosed to be operating without any formal financial plan.

The budgeting process provides an effective means through which the individual citizen may become informed about and participate in the workings of his local government. Without the precise outline of operations furnished by a budget, citizen action becomes difficult and at best ill-informed. This is the kind of dark atmosphere in which "city hall rings" are created. Mandatory budgeting in the spirit of the Constitution ought to be made part of Missouri law, and we are happy to see the judiciary committee agrees.

Sinking Queen of the Adriatic

It is all pretty long-range, but the gondoliers who went on strike in Venice to protest the growing use of heavy motorboats on the canals had a certain point. Mostly they objected to being tossed about by the wash from the power craft. But the waves produced by the engine-propelled boats also lap at the buildings and contribute to the slow sinking of the city—and to the possible disappearance eventually of gondoliers.

There is nothing new about the sinking city. It is already forecast that in a few decades St. Mark's Square will be awash at high tide and that within a few centuries the water will have invaded the ground floor of the Doge's Palace and St. Mark's Basilica. St. Mark's Square has dropped two feet eight inches since the twelfth century. The islands on which Venice is built have sunk as much as 20 feet since the Bronze Age, and five or six feet since the Roman Empire. Apparently they are now going down faster.

The principal cause of the accelerated rate (reckoned at about a fifth of an inch a year) is believed to be the drawing of water from the subsoil through artesian wells. Other causes are the waves from the power boats, the construction of large buildings on the sites of gardens and the dredging of canals.

Experts think the rate of downward movement can be slowed but not halted short of heroic measures which themselves would create grave problems. So descendants of the present gondoliers may be picking up passengers out of second-story windows—that is if singing cosmonauts are not by that time poling honeymooners along the canals of the moon.

The Trucks Get By

Compromise to the detriment of public interest seems to be the rule for road programs in both the Missouri Legislature and Congress. While the state legislators recently advanced a bill drawn to the specifications of the oil lobby and rural road interests, in Washington the compromise largely benefits the truckers.

As President Kennedy recognized two months ago, the federal interstate highway program needs an extra $900,000,000 a year if it is to remain on schedule. Mr. Kennedy proposed continuing the temporary 1-cent increase in the federal gas tax (which is now 4 cents a gallon) to obtain two-thirds of the money. The other third, he suggested, should come from increased taxes on trucks.

But the House Ways and Means Committee has reduced the liability for trucks by one half. While accepting the extended gas tax, the committee would raise truck fees by 150 and not 300 millions. The remainder of the money would be obtained by putting into the highway trust fund that part of the excise tax on trucks and buses which now goes directly to the treasury.

The American Automobile Association states that, under the committee bill, car owners will pay 71.4 per cent of the total cost of the highway program through 1972, while truckers will pay 28.6 per cent. Undoubtedly the truckers will answer that their taxes already are heavy. But the fact is that the Ways and Means Committee has ignored not only Mr. Kennedy's advice, but also that contained in a 360-page cost allocation study by the Commerce Department. This study found that big trucks were not paying their fair share of highway costs. And interstate highways cost a great deal more because they are built for truck traffic, not just for passenger cars.

We see nothing wrong with continuing that "temporary" gas tax increase, which falls on motorists and truckers alike. The interstate program is soundly based on highway use taxes, and Congress did not promise to end the tax simply by imposing it for a specific period. But it is wrong to require ordinary motorists to subsidize trucks. If Congress wants to subsidize truck transportation, it ought to do so out of the general revenue.

Fortunately the Ways and Means Committee bill now goes to the Public Works Committee. That is the specific committee for roads, and it ought to provide a fairer bill for the millions of motorists who use these roads. The Kennedy proposals are a good guide to follow around the trucks.

Thirst for Fame?

True to the American tradition of opportunity for all, a contractor is giving his 18-year-old daughter a $115,000 ranch house in Malibu, on sunny California's bathing-beauty strand, so that she may live in comfort while she tries to become an actress. This, of course, is rough on another old tradition which holds that stage people—like poets and painters—may achieve fame only after many labors and even more hungry years in an attic. And what of American pragmatism? Would it not turn in that house for a deposit-box full of safe shares or debentures providing an income and never give another thought to work—even as an actress?

The East Side Airport

If a new metropolitan airport is to be constructed on the East Side the Bi-State Development Agency will have to bring it into being. No other public agency in the metropolitan area has either the power or the financial resources to handle such a project.

This conclusion flows naturally from a Madison county supervisor's committee report the other day that such a facility would be far too costly a burden for taxpayers of Madison and St. Clair counties, the two largest political subdivisions on the Illinois side. A year ago the Tri-City Regional Port District, which covers Madison, Venice and Granite City, came to the same decision. The East Side evidently just does not have a tax base sufficiently broad to underwrite a metropolitan airport at reasonable tax rates.

Fortunately, Bi-State can meet the need. It has agreed to co-operate with the Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Park Corp. to develop both an airport and a giant industrial park on the Illinois side. The privately-controlled Park Corp. will play the role of catalyst in the deal, performing those necessary functions that Bi-State cannot handle. Essentially Bi-State is prohibited from taking financial risks; the Park Corp.'s function is to raise the initial capital and assume the risks.

The deal as conceived by the Park Corp. and agreed to by Bi-State is for the corporation to acquire about 5000 acres; it then will deed about 2000 acres for airport purposes to Bi-State. With this asset the public agency can obtain approximately half the cost of development from the Federal Government, with the remainder coming from a revenue bond issue sold to the Park Corp. The corporation expects to recapture its initial investment and wipe out the bond issue from profits realized by sale of the remaining acreage for industrial purposes. This will give the Illinois area an airport and an industrial complex that may mean as many as 30,000 new jobs to the metropolitan area.

Of course the whole project is much easier planned than accomplished. It will require a certain amount of financial risk-taking by metropolitan business men. It will need informed and friendly co-operation from public officials on the East Side. Most of all it will demand continuous and energetic leadership from Bi-State's board of directors; if they fail the whole project will be bogged down.

Let us hope the Bi-State board is prepared to roll up its sleeves and get to work. Bi-State must be made an effective force for metropolitan progress, and that result can be brought about only if its directors give their agency the substantial amount of personal attention it deserves.

When Spending Becomes Investment

Machinists' Union President Urges Federal Attack on Joblessness to Aid 'Human Capital'

A. J. Hayes Before the House Labor Subcommittee

Right now, our experience indicates that the American economy is in the midst of a cataclysmic change. For almost 10 years the employment opportunities of the American people have not been expanding rapidly enough.

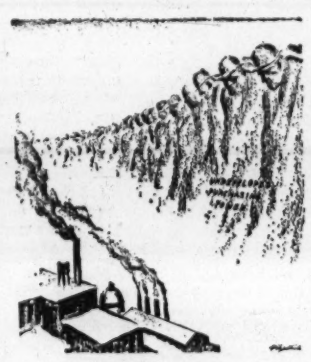

Let me describe, very briefly, what has been happening to our members. In small job shops, machine operators are already being displaced by electronically controlled multi-purpose machine tools. In giant aircraft plants, scores of job classifications are being drastically reduced and others are being eliminated entirely by electronically programmed devices.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

One major aircraft plant, for example, recently cut its tooling and machine costs 75 per cent by introducing five tape-operated machines. Another reduced the machine time required for one unit of production from 25 hours to 1.2 hours by means of automatic equipment. Because of automation and the shift from planes to missiles, it has been estimated that the aircraft industry alone has eliminated 200,000 production jobs in the past few years even though the industry's dollar volume has continued to rise.

And though I have pointed to automation as one of the underlying causes of this chronic unemployment, let me make it clear that organized labor welcomes automation. But we also know that technological progress — without human progress — is an exercise in futility.

If we go on developing ever greater production capacity without also developing an equal capacity for consumption, we may well achieve a superabundance of productivity — but little actual production. For production cannot exist in a vacuum.

—Post-Dispatch, Dec. 29, 1935.

New American Frontier

The remedies must go much deeper than many people are willing to admit. For example, although the President has publicly stated his disapproval of a shorter work week, I think that he — and industry — must begin to re-examine the causes that will make a shorter work week imperative in the years ahead.

Today, almost 6,000,000 workers are unemployed. These workers are potentially the nation's most precious resource. If only half of them were put to work today, they could produce —on an annual basis—50 billion dollars more in goods and services.

The broad lines along which proper government action should proceed have been indicated by much of the legislation that has already been introduced in this Congress. This legislation includes the distressed areas bill sponsored by Senator Douglas and others, Senate Bill 987 which would provide for retraining of workers beyond the age of 30, and Senator Humphrey's proposal for a Youth Conservation Corps.

In addition, existing vocational programs ought to be expanded and improved and much more ought to be done to encourage adequate apprenticeship training. It is estimated that only one apprentice is currently being trained for every 50 skilled workers. This is less than the replacement rate.

But, above all—and I cannot emphasize this too strongly — none of these approaches can be effective without a fully functioning economy.

There are two sectors in which the growth of the economy can be stimulated: the private sector and the public sector. The public sector has been sadly neglected to the detriment of this nation's schools, hospitals, parks and public facilities of all kinds. Because of our fear of so-called "government spending," we have allowed our cities to decay into slums, our rivers to degenerate into open sewers, and our resources to lie wasting.

It seems that "spending" is a bad word when it is applied to the public sector, even though, as Walter Lippmann has pointed out, what is "spending" when the government does it becomes "investment" when industry does it.

I know full well that any proposal seeking the expansion of the economy through the public sector will be immediately set upon as being inflationary. More dangerous than a deficit in the budget is a deficit in jobs. This is the deficit we must really worry about.

Unless we give proper attention to this deficit, our standard of living and our national strength will inevitably sink under the weight of a horde of job seekers competing at low and lower wages for fewer and fewer jobs.

Home To Roost From The Courier-Journal, Louisville

The British House of Commons was shocked the other day because the adjective "lousy" was flung into a heated debate. We think that "lousy" is improper in serious parliamentary discussion, but we wonder why the British believe, as The Associated Press says they do, that the term is an Americanism. It may be in more common use now in our country than it is in England, but its English ancestry is plain. The Oxford English Dictionary records the use of "lousy" in the sense of "mean, scurvy, sorry, vile, contemptible" in examples going as far back as Chaucer. In short, the British were our teachers in this respect.

Between Book Ends Born of a Peace Treaty

THE WALLS OF HEAVEN, by Robert McLaughlin. (Simon and Schuster, 381 pgs., $4.95.)

This foreign adventure story has all the right elements—the fascination of an ancient, little-known land, dramatic characters and a bit of philosophy to chew over. It is the story of a young American historian, Wade Hendrix, who flees the academic life and a broken marriage to try teaching and newswriting in Phrygia, a fictional Middle Eastern country. Phrygia, as persuasively reconstructed from ancient history, is typical of all those struggling little nations born of peace treaties, but prevented from reaching maturity by bitter internal strife.

Through fortunate chance, Hendrix is thrown into fairly intimate contact with the handful of personalities who can dominate such a small land. Foremost is the dedicated Neroun, Phrygia's first and only president, who perpetuates himself in office because he feels his people cannot survive true democracy.

There is the Greek Christian extremist Dr. Antonakis, a scholar with bloody hands, and Ahmed Arit, a Moslem fanatic who uses his American engineering training to make bombs.

Hendrix proposes to Neroun the theory that only such small countries as Phrygia can, in the modern world, produce great hero-leaders of the ancient pattern—unique personalities free to act and produce disturbances to which the great powers must react.

The theory appeals to Neroun, who is convinced he has divine inspiration in his mission of restoring Phrygia to past glory. He appeals to his countrymen to be Phrygians first and Christians or Moslems second, but the opposing forces are determined to destroy one another. The country is maneuvered into a civil war which leads to murderous excess and, finally, big-power intervention.

Some of the book's interest comes from its setting. Author McLaughlin uses ancient Phrygia, home of the Midas kings, of Croesus and the Gordian knot, and gives it as capital the city of Ephesus, famed in Christian history and literature.

Phrygia has a romantic, alien appeal for Hendrix, but he is not prepared, as a reasonable Westerner, to cope with the inhumanity of passionate forces which use violence as a first, not last resort. He accompanies an extremist raid, sees multilated corpses and is caught in a tangle of betrayal, murder and suicide.

The action underlines the theory. In these days of Laos and The Congo, the idea that world policy is determined by small countries and willful personalities has a point. Harriett Woods

THE MINOX MANUAL, by Joseph D. Cooper. (Universal Photo Books, 158 pgs., $4.95.)

Anyone who has used the tiny Minox recognizes it as a fine piece of machinery and an excellent camera despite its size. It has its handicaps, due chiefly to its smallness, but it can handle much of the routine work done by bigger cameras if properly used. This book is a step-by-step discussion intended to enable the average Minox user to get the most from it.

ARTHUR KROCK

Blow to Southern School Notions

WASHINGTON.

THE INTERVENTION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE to force the reopening and racial desegregation of the public schools in Prince Edward county, Virginia, is a smashing blow at two fond Southern illusions. One was a dream of Southern lawyers; the other was a dream of Southern Democratic politicians.

The illusion of the lawyers was that they could set up, within the Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling of 1954, a system of segregated schools if a token part of the cost was assumed by the parents of the pupils. The illusion of the politicians was that the election of Lyndon B. Johnson as Vice President on the Democratic national ticket would assure much more lenient federal enforcement of school desegregation than if the Nixon-Lodge ticket was successful. And when the returns demonstrated that the Democratic nominee would have lost if Johnson had not carried several Southern states, this illusion was fortified among the Southern politicians who had made this argument for his nomination and for Southern support of the national ticket.

Johnson

But the returns of 1960 also showed that the Southern leaders, who with their constituents were bitterly opposed to the Los Angeles platform, had gambled on the weaker of two available strategies against drastic federal enforcement of school desegregation.

Bargaining Power Lost.

The other, which was urged by a few Southerners and rejected by the majority of their state leaders, was to vote for Democratic electoral slates unpledged to cast their ballots for the national party tickets.

If this counsel had prevailed, the presidential election would have gone for settlement to the House, with platforms superseded by instant promise. And, since each state—small or large — has one vote in the choice of a President by this method, the pro-segregation Southerners would have had bargaining power for compromise that, it develops, their salvage of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket did not give them.

The illusion of the Southern politicians, however, was spun from more practical material than the dream of the Southern lawyers. The first was based on cynical experience in political trading. But the second was based on a weird legal thesis that public tax funds can be used, with federal judicial sanction, to support a county segregated school system if a small percentage of the total cost is privately supplied, and if the system is made available to Negroes also.

New Federal Attack.

The Department of Justice seized this golden opportunity to attack evasion of the desegregation decree on a broader front than the federal government has opened thus far.

If the federal courts hold that the refusal of Congress to empower the Department to initiate school-desegregation suits is no bar to its intervention as a plaintiff after suits have been filed, the full federal enforcement power will be employed for the first time.

But, even if it is denied this role, the Department's brief in the Prince Edward county case has supplied official imprimatur to private plaintiffs for such sweeping and varied pleadings as these under the Fourteenth Amendment:

Public tax funds cannot be used by a state for public schools in any county unless public schooling is provided in all counties. No county has the constitutional right to bar public schooling if provided by the state in other counties.

Other Legal Points.

No state constitution is valid that grants to each county the option whether or not to provide public schooling, And, ultimately, no state can abolish a public school system.

Affirmation of any of these contentions by the federal courts would also sweep away Prince Edward county's only remaining point: That a "private" school system is non-discriminatory when Negroes are offered similar facilities, and go unschooled only because they decline the offer.

The Southern politicians who shepherded the votes which put this Administration in office deserve no sympathy in their lamentations over their lost illusion.

Though for years they have rent the air with protestations that school segregation is a sacred moral and constitutional principle for which they would die politically, they took less lofty ground to support party nominees who ran on a platform pledging them to do away with it entirely.

This ground was that a Southern Vice President would have, and it would be politically feasible for him successfully to exert, the influence necessary to water down these pledges in performance.

NEW MUSIC CIRCLE IN CABARET CONCERT

Works of St. Louisans Included in Final Program of Season.

By CHARLES MENEES

Abandoning the conventional concert hall, the New Music Circle presented the final event of its second season last night in the Three Fountains restaurant on Gaslight Square. And for what was described as the first such cabaret concert of its kind here, the plush setting added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The room was not quite overflowing, and the audience of about 200 listened in apparent comfort.

Artistically, the evening more than justified the worthwhile effort of its energetic sponsoring organization. Two St. Louisans, Robert Wykes and Manus Sasonkin, were among five composers represented on a program of works which, with the possible exception of one by Arnold Schoenberg, were given either their first performance anywhere or their St. Louis premiere.

Composed especially for the New Music Circle were Wykes's Suite for Voice, Oboe, Clarinet and Bassoon, completed last month, and a work by Bain Murray, a music critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Valkyrian Treatment.

Murray's 1960 composition, titled after the Dylan Thomas poem "Do Not Go Gentle Into That Good Night," was sung by soprano Carolee Coombs, who seemed to interpret the music as calling for a Valkyrian vocal treatment that was unsuited to dramatic moments at top and bottom of the vocal line. The music itself lacks breadth in the spacing of musical ideas and is too devoid of mood to leave a lasting impression.

Elliott Carter's Sonata for Violoncello and Piano (1948), with its variety of tonal and harmonic contrasts, is laden with technical problems, but Cellist Gerald Kagan and his wife, Susan, proved themselves seasoned enough musicians to solve them. It was skillful, intense playing of fiendishly difficult music characterized by tension and thrust. Kagan is assistant principal cellist of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Kagan also distinguished herself as soloist in Schoenberg's Six Pieces for Piano, an atonal work dating to 1913. In fact, she was one of the concert's real stars, not only for her playing of Schoenberg and Carter, but also for her polished accompaniment for the Murray and Sasonkin contributions.

Music for Poems.

Sasonkin, a music critic of the Post-Dispatch, was represented by Four Songs, Op. 12 (1952), with texts from poems by the late Gerard Manley Hopkins. Sasonkin prefaced the songs by reading the poems. The singer was tenor Leslie Chabay, artist-in-residence at Washington University.

These works do have mood and are faithful, indeed, illuminating, settings of the texts. Chabay sang them in excellent voice and with exemplary attention to their strong and logical sense of devotion.

Wykes's five - movement suite was deftly performed by his wife, Rosalyn, a soprano; George Hussey, oboe; Earl Bates, clarinet, and Robert Wisneskey, bassoon. The outside movements call for a vowel-sound vocalise; the third is an unaccompanied soprano solo whose text is a poem by Lloyd Frankenberg; the other two movements are instrumental interludes that emphasize the contrapuntal and coloristic possibility of the combination. The work, with much to recommend it, bespeaks a sensitive musical personality.

The suite was repeated as a sort of send off for Wykes, who is going to Europe this summer as he begins a sabbatical from Washington University, where he is composer-in-residence.

FOLK SINGERS CAN SIT IN SQUARE, IF THEY DON'T SING

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Police, ruling that folk singers can be seen but not heard in Washington Square park, permitted about 60 of them to sit around the park's fountain yesterday but ejected those who started to sing. A student, William French, was arrested and charged with felonious assault. Police said he kicked a detective.

Folk singing in the park—traditional on warm Sundays—has been barred by Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris, who said the minstrels attracted large audiences that trampled lawns.

The 60 folk singing enthusiasts who made it into the park yesterday were the rear guard of some 2000 singing demonstrators who had held a block party nearby.

Police Inspector William F. Real permitted the 60 to sit around the fountain on the condition that they not sing or play instruments. When Real walked away, some members of the group burst into song. Patrolmen and detectives moved in and ordered the ones who sang out of the park.

'GOOD OLD DAYS' BAD TOO, PROFESSOR SAYS

He Tells Ethical Union Our Times Will Seem Simple to Posterity.

The "good old days" were no less complicated than the present despite what most Americans like to believe, Columbia University professor of philosophy and religion, said here yesterday.

The past only appears more rational and orderly because the correct decisions were made, Joseph L. Blau told the forty-fifth national assembly of the American Ethical Union.

"Our times will seem relatively simple to those who follow us," Blau said. "Each decision we make is a way station from chaos to order."

Blau told some 100 delegates to the assembly at the Coronado Hotel that every generation needs a goal. "Any short-sightedness or parochialism in our vision will prevent us from reading the signs of the times.

"In the past, people like ourselves were tidying up their world just as we ought to be tidying up our world," he stated.

He described the purpose of the ethical cultural movement as an attempt to humanize man, "not to try and make him like God," and to spread ethical concern through the world.

Four resolutions were passed by the delegates before yesterday's adjournment.

Included was a request that the House of Representatives confine the activities of the Committee on Un-American Activities to its "proper scope," that of investigating matters pertaining to legislation or prospective legislation.

President Kennedy was urged to call a national conference on narcotic addiction to consider legal, medical, psychiatric, social and other proceedures necessary to curb the drug traffic and provide adequate care for addicts.

The union called for improved educational opportunities for children of migrant workers and more adequate housing for migrant families. It also reaffirmed its stand favoring free secular education and the denial of public funds for private or parochial schools.

Former Redbirds Figure in Six of Cardinals' Nine Defeats

Pitchers Fail Again As Phils Win, 11-7

By Neal Russo

April was "Beat the Cardinals Month" for Redbird alumni but Solly Hemus's worries about Cardinal graduates are far from over. The Pirates are due in town next and the world champions have seven men whose former uniforms had birds perched on bats.

At least the St. Louis manager will have today off to shake the hangover of yesterday's 11-7 loss to the Phillies and to make plans for the Pittsburgh invasion Tuesday night at Busch Stadium.

When Redbird discard Bobby Del Greco, a .237 batter last season, came off the bench to deliver two key hits Sunday, he joined these fellow alumni in handing the Cardinals six of their nine losses this season:

1. Eddie Kasko, Reds—drove in tie-breaking run with single.
2. Jim Brosnan, Reds — protected that Cincinnati victory with perfect relief job.
3. Wally Moon, Dodgers—wrecked Redbirds twice with three home runs and seven runs batted in in two nights.
4. Sam Jones, Giants—gained 2-1 victory with relief help from Billy O'Dell whom San Francisco obtained in a deal for ex-Cardinal Jackie Brandt.
5. Bobby Gene Smith, Phillies—singled and scored run, then singled home winning run in 3-2 defeat of Cards Saturday.

Former Cardinals couldn't have had a hand in the other three St. Louis setbacks, all by Milwaukee, because the Braves have no Redbird alumni.

Enter Del Greco.

Del Greco, who earns his pay chiefly for knowing how to catch balls, came through with a pinch single in a seven-run eighth-inning explosion that wiped out a 6-0 Cardinal lead Sunday. Then he doubled and scored the first—and only necessary—run in the four-run tenth.

So "The Greek," as the son of Italy is known, gave Gene Mauch his biggest grin when the manager yelled to him in the clubhouse after the game, "Nice going, Leather."

"Leather guys? Why we're smashers, we scrubbinos," Del Greco told Mauch. Del Greco hailed another bench-warming defensive standout, Ken Walters, who also drilled a pinch single in the big eighth. Walters was a .239 batting patsy in 1960.

When the eighth inning opened, the Birds' 6-0 bulge seemed especially safe because the Phillies hadn't scored that many runs altogether in losing four out of four to ex-teammate Curt Simmons last season. Curt had walked seven men, three more than he had passed in any game in 1960, but the three hits, all singles, off him weren't damaging, and he had struck out five.

However, just when it seemed safe for the Redbirds to call home and have the steaks tossed onto the barecue pit, the Phillie busters went wild.

Although the Phillies landed light jabs (one extra-base hit out of 14 hits) against the home run wallops by Joe Cunningham and Ken Boyer, they quickly flattened Mr. Right and Mr. Left of the bullpen, Lindy McDaniel and Mickey McDermott.

No Surprise to Simmons.

After Johnny Callison opened the eighth with an opposite field, broken-bat single, Simmons walked two men on eight pitches. As Curt departed, he probably wouldn't have been surprised if Lloyd's of London considered his 6-0 lead a bad risk. Simmons's bullpen had betrayed him often last year and twice earlier this season when he left with leads.

Lindy continued his slump, yielding three singles and retiring only one batter. McDermott, a brilliant fireman in his five previous appearances, couldn't stop the blaze this time. He also allowed three singles and got only one man out.

All three hits off McDermott came on first pitches, prompting Mauch to say, "Why not? We knew McDermott wasn't wild."

Bob Miller finally got the side out and Larry Jackson pitched a 1-2-3 ninth before road roommate Boyer lined a drive into the bleachers off Dick Farrell to bring on extra innings.

With one down in the tenth, Del Greco drove a fast ball to the right-field wall for a double. Joe Koppe was safe when Daryl Spencer couldn't handle his grounder and Del Greco took third on the play. Callison, again going to left, poked a run-scoring single. The popguns kept firing. Taylor singling for another run and Pancho Herrera belting his second two-run single. Only the first run was earned.

Regrets by Larry.

When the smoke cleared, Jackson had some regrets. He said he had intended to keep out of the strike zone the pitches which Del Greco and Callison hit. "And you shouldn't throw Del Greco fast balls," Jackson said.

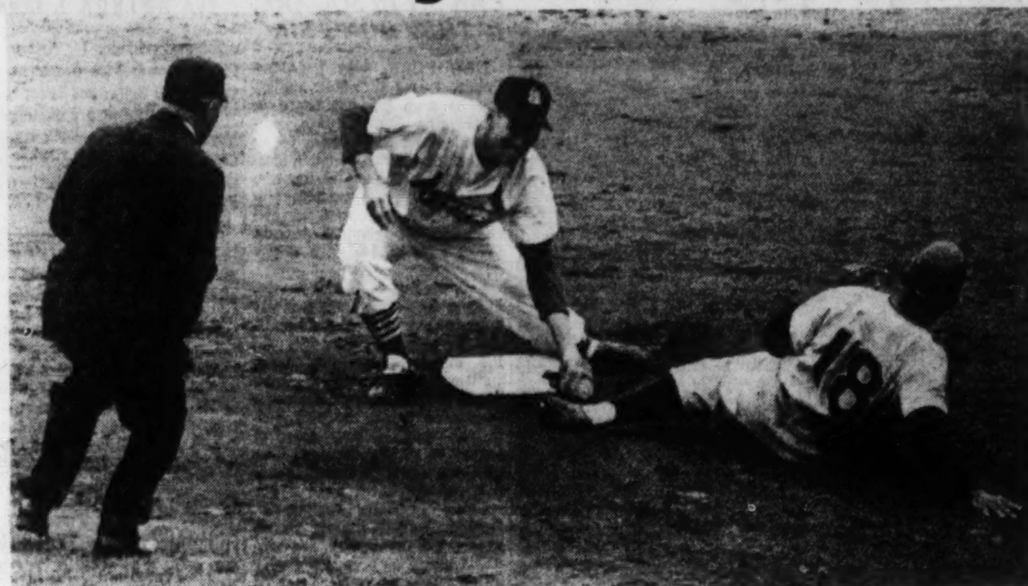

As for the bounder by Koppe that went off Spencer's left wrist into center field, Jackson said, "That ball bounced every way but straight."

Hal Smith, the Arkansas philosopher, noted the numerous Phillie hits to the opposite field and cracked, "They're the ones who are going to be in trouble. They're hitting the wrong way."

But Smitty was serious, too, after the Cardinals dropped their fourth game in five starts, lost the series by 2-1 and fell to sixth place with a 7-9 record.

"Simmons had real good stuff but was wild high," the catcher observed. "Lindy's fast ball didn't have the real good jump on it, so he was throwing more breaking stuff. The ball is slicker in cold weather and his forkball doesn't do enough in that case. McDermott was getting his pitches too high. When he keeps the ball down, it moves much better, especially on his sinker."

Smith added, "My neck got tired from watching all those guys cross the plate."

One Phillie Runner Who Didn't Make It Home

PANCHO HERRERA of Philadelphia, trying to steal second base, is put out by Cardinal shortstop DARYL SPENCER on a throw from catcher Hal Smith in series final at Busch Stadium. The umpire is AL BARLICK. The Phils won, 11-7, in 10 innings.

Kutis Cricketers Win

With Vince Masterson bowling very well and Bill Tatlock and Barrie Pannett starring at bat, the Kutis cricket team defeated Washington U. Club, 35-11, at Forest Park, Sunday. Peter Coleman and Saturna Mitra were outstanding for Washington and Tom Edwards also had a fine day.

Bowling Winners

Edward Plunkett, 748, and Jean Nifong, 765, won the King and Queen bowling tournament at Tropicana Lanes.

Good Hitting by Nieman And Other Birds Wasted

If Bob Nieman continues to pound righthanders as well as lefties, Stan Musial may get a little more rest than planned. The one-time Brownie collected six hits in 12 tries in the Philadelphia series, and only one safety came off a lefthander, Chris Short.

Nieman is at .500 with seven hits in 14 times up. At even .400 after getting two hits in three trips Sunday is Joe Cunningham. He is second to Wally Moon's .417 in the National League.

Hal Smith again showed signs of breaking the shackles by driving in two runs with a double and a single. Another slow starter, Don Landrum, also doubled and singled, climbing from .061 to .105. Curt Simmons beat out two infield hits.

Just to keep the hitting surge going, Manager Solly Hemus scheduled full-scale batting practice today.

Bob Gibson will start for the Cardinals against the Pirates here tomorrow night and Ernie Broglio is due Wednesday night.

That Nightmarish Eighth.

The Phillies' seven-run eighth, blow by blow:

Callison singled to left. Taylor and B. G. Smith walked. McDaniel replaced Simmons. Herrera's bat shattered as he singled to center, scoring Callison and Taylor. Gonzalez singled to right, scoring B. Smith. Sadowski batted for Neeman and grounded out. Coleman batted for Amaro and beat out an infield hit to Cunningham, scoring Herrera.

McDermott replaced McDaniel. Del Greco batted for Dalrymple, who had been announced as the pinch-hitter for Woods, and singled to right on the first pitch, scoring Gonzalez. Walters batted for Lehman and also singled to right on the first pitch, filling the bases. Callison forced Walters at second, Coleman scoring the tying run. Taylor also hit the first pitch, singling to center and scoring Del Greco. Miller replaced McDermott. B. G. Smith flied out.

Great Play by Javier.

Julian Javier made a sensational backhand stop of Lee Walls's smash and started a double play, with shortstop Daryl Spencer getting off a quick, good throw to first. There were two on and nobody out at the time in the fifth inning.

Bobby Smith also turned in a brilliant play, racing for Walt Moryn's foul fly near the St. Louis bullpen and backhanding the ball just as he crashed into the wall. His left elbow was bruised.

Bill Sulzer, veteran Western Union pressbox chief, is recovering from a dislocated right shoulder. He tripped over a step in the pressbox.

The crowd of 8194 surpassed that of a corresponding 1960 home date for the first time. The Birds have a 3-5 home record.

Forty-two players, 21 on each side, broke into the box-score. The game lasted three hours, 38 minutes. . . . Phillie starter Frank Sullivan allowed nine hits in less than three innings.—N.R.

Jensen Says Timing Gone, So He Quit

BOSTON, May 1 (UPI)—Jackie Jensen, star outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, has quit baseball because "suddenly my reflexes seem to be gone," the Boston Traveler said today in a copyrighted dispatch from Kansas City.

The story was written by Traveler baseball writer Bill Liston who interviewed Jensen at Cleveland early yesterday as the 34-year-old player boarded a train for home after taking French leave from the Red Sox.

"I can't hit any more. I can't run. I can't throw. . . . I am quitting only because I have too much pride to be the twenty-fifth man on the Red Sox," the Traveler quoted Jensen.

"We have lost four games already because I have been bad. So I'm quitting."

In his 12 comeback games this year Jensen has been at bat 46 times officially with only six hits for a batting average of .130. He has batted in only one run.

"I don't want to take owner Tom Yawkey's money under false pretenses (estimated 1961 salary $50,000)," the Traveler quoted Jensen. "I always returned value dollar for dollar. Now I don't feel that I can do that any more."

Jensen said he was not quitting this time "as I did last year, because of my family. I'm not quitting because I fear flying, which I still do and always will.

"I don't want to continue hurting the Red Sox. And I certainly don't want to hurt manager Mike Higgins."

Jensen said he didn't let Higgins know in advance that he was quitting because "Mike would have argued with me and tried to talk me out of it."

Eagle on Final Round Helps Palmer Capture Texas Open by Stroke

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 1 (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, who has won just about one out of every three golf tournaments he has entered over the past 15 months, took the Texas Open crown with him as he departed today for Las Vegas, Nev., and the Tournament of Champions.

The 31-year-old Pennsylvanian put on one of his typical come-from-behind finishes yesterday to capture his second straight title here with a final three-under-par 34-34—68 and a 72-hole total of 270.

Palmer and Paul Harney had Eagles. The Palmer eagle on 15 was a great shot. He hit the ball to the green, over a tree in the fairway, and it landed three feet from the pin. The shot was from the rough and was about 250 yards on the par 5 525 yard hole.

Harney's eagle on the eighth hole was a fine shot, too. He drove the green on the 320-yard hole and was only 10 feet from the pin.

Palmer's final flurry put him one stroke ahead of Al Balding of Toronto, Canada, whose 34-35—69 placed him at 271, and two strokes ahead of Harney who wound up with a 34-37—71 and a 272.

Palmer, who has won 12 of the last 37 tournaments he's entered, earned $4300 for his fourth crown of the year. That pushed his year's earnings to $39,886.58, still $7181.96 behind Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa.

Player folded on the final round yesterday and finished in an eight way tie for fourteenth place at 277. His $651.25 boosted his year's total to $47,068.54.

Palmer broke a seven-tournament drouth with his triumph here and ran to 26 the total number of titles he's won since turning pro in January, 1955.

In a little more than six years, he ranks among the top six pros. Sam Snead has won about 80 PGA-sponsored tourneys, while Ben Hogan holds 55 titles, Byron Nelson 46, Carey Middlecoff 37 and Lloyd Mangrum 33.

Mays's Four Home Runs Prove Spahn Dead Wrong

Sports Cameo

By Red Smith

The Big Stick

NEW YORK, May 1 — It has been 20 years since a .400 hitter last walked the earth in the flannel rompers of a major league baseball club. In 1941 Theodore Samuel Williams batted .406 for the Red Sox. Every summer since, then, approximately 800 players have been taking their cuts against big league pitching, statisticians have reduced 16,000 individual records to the third decimal, and not once has a man averaged two hits in five times at bat from April to October.

Joe DiMaggio didn't do it, or Stan Musial, or Willie Mays or Hank Aaron or Mickey Mantle. The gaudiest figure compiled in either league in 20 years was .388 in 1957 — by Ted Williams.

A generation of fans has grown up without ever seeing another .400 hitter. Chances are some never heard of another. In their wide, innocent eyes, Williams is a being apart, a creature from another planet.

We come now to a man whose batting average over five consecutive years was .402 —not .402 for one rollicking summer when all the little ones fell safe, but .402 over five full seasons encompassing 700 ball games and 2700 times at bat. From 1921 through 1925, Rogers Hornsby hit .397, .401, .384, .424 and .403.

The Broadway Pitch

Hornsby's name is in the news because New York's ectoplasmic entry in the National League has signed him as a scout. This astral organization has no players, no playground, no bats, balls, gloves, spikes or sweat, but brother, it's got scouts. Hornsby is No. 21.

In recent years Hornsby has been busy with a sandlot baseball program in and around Chicago. It is unlikely that any fuzz-chinned DiMaggios or Spahns running around loose in that neighborhood will escape his attention, but for the time being his name is more important to his new employers than his qualifications as a judge of raw material.

If all goes well, the still unnamed Mets or Meadowlarks or Empires, or Orphans will set up shop for the start of the 1962 season. Playing in the Yankees' backyard, they must compete against the best in a city that smugly regards itself as the snakepit of the entertainment world. Probably the per capita ratio of suckers is as great in New York as anywhere else, yet every New Yorker deeply believes that he knows the score. Show business is painfully aware that today's eagle-bird in New Haven may be tomorrow's turkey on Broadway.

It is imperative that the new club win acceptance as a bona fide major league operation before the first ball is pitched. That's where men like Hornsby and Babe Herman and George Weiss count big now. On them, the big league stamp is indelible.

Buttering Up the Boss

He managed six clubs, the last in 1953. That very year, while he was still managing Cincinnati, he answered the question himself in a magazine piece written by Roy Stockton which was part autobiography and part prophecy. The title was, "How to Get Fired," and the ink was permitted to dry, mostly, before the Reds canned him.

It wasn't a strikingly original move on Cincinnati's part. Before that, Hornsby had been tossed out by the Cardinals, Giants, Cubs and twice by the Browns. He also served as manager of the Boston Braves, who didn't fire him, exactly. After the 1928 season the Braves' hard-pressed owner, Judge Emil Fuchs, told Rog that Chicago would give five players and $200,000 for him.

"If you don't take it," said Mr. Hornsby with the graceful tact which endeared him to employers all his life, "you are a —— —— fool."

Simply, it boils down to this: Hornsby was a big leaguer who spoke his mind because he assumed that his associates were big leaguers who could take it. They weren't always.

How to Influence People

The "Baseball Register," whose editors like to include off-season interests in a player's dossier, give "Lobby-Sitting" as Hornsby's hobby. Actually, he never was entirely happy among the potted palms unless he had a scratch sheet to read, but he was strictly an amateur of the running horse. Baseball consumed him — wining baseball.

He could be extraordinarily patient with an unpolished kid in the minors sincerely trying to learn, but he had no time for big league players unwilling to sacrifice everything to the game. So the players hated his guts and he didn't care.

He never sought popularity, in the dugout or upstairs. The late Leo Bondy, attorney and treasurer of the Giants, used to tell of his experience with Hornsby when the Giants, having obtained him from the Cardinals for Frank Frisch, were trying to prevail on him to sell his Cardinal stock so he could play for New York. Rog was holding out for his price. Calling at Hornsby's hotel, Bondy found him in bed, introduced himself and went into his most persuasive pitch.

Propped on an elbow, Rog heard him out, his icy stare never wavering. When Bondy paused, Hornsby said, "Why don't you mind your own business," and rolled over. Leo picked up his hat and left. Hornsby got his price.

'Swinging Bad', Said Warren

MILWAUKEE, May 1 (UPI) —When Warren Spahn pitched a no-hitter against the San Francisco Giants on Friday, he ventured the opinion that Willie Mays was "swinging bad." Spahnie was dead wrong.

The "Say Hey" kid hit four homers yesterday to help demolish the Milwaukee Braves, 14-4, and join a select group of eight other sluggers who have accomplished this feat.

"It was my greatest day," Mays said, surpassing his famed over-the-head catch in deep center field against the Cleveland Indians in the 1954 World Series. "Fielding doesn't bother me," Willie said, "but when I'm not hitting, I worry."

He had complained before yesterday's game about his failure to hit in seven tries against the Braves' throwers.

Seeing Ball Real Good.

"I don't know what happened to me," Mays said. "I was seeing the ball real good, and I was using my regular bat."

"When you hit two homers in a game, that's something. Four, it's hard to believe," he said. Mays admitted he might have "pressed" in the ninth if he had gotten another time at bat, knowing he had a chance at a record. The crowd groaned when Mays was left in the on deck circle as Jim Davenport grounded out to end the Giants inning.

The Giants' hitting resurgence after Spahn's no-hitter was astounding. Their five homers Saturday and eight yesterday tied the major league record fashioned by the 1939 New York Yankees, and broke the National League standard of 12 held by the 1953 Milwaukee Braves.

Their eight in yesterday's game tied the major league record for a single game, and the 10 in all equaled the National League mark for two teams.

Pagan Gets into Action.

"What did you feed 'em?" Manager Al Dark of the Giants was asked. "Nothing special, they just started hitting," he said.

The homer spree extended even to light-hitting Jose Pagan, the rookie shortstop, who walloped two yesterday.

Mays's third homer yesterday brought out the tape measure guys. It was pegged at 450 feet or better over the left field bleachers, and called one of the longest ever hit here.

"I think I hit one farther once in St. Louis, but I don't know," Mays said.

Cincinnati Ends Skid.

Cincinnati ended an eight-game losing streak with a 4-2 win over Pittsburgh in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the Pirates won the opener, 6-3. Los Angeles beat Chicago, 2-1, in the first of two but the Cubs won the finale, 10-5. Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 11-7, in 10 innings.

The Detroit Tigers retained the American League lead even though they split with Baltimore. Detroit won the opener, 8-2, and Baltimore the nightcap, 4-2. The New York Yankees also split, beating the Washington Senators 4-3, and then losing a 2-1 decision.

Jim Gentile, Gus Triandos and Ron Hansen of the Orioles, hit successive home runs in the second game of the doubleheader with the Tigers, to tie a mapor league record. All the circuit wallops were hit off Paul Foytack in the seventh inning.

Ken Boyer's brother, Cletis, singled in the eighth inning of the first game of the doubleheader with the Senators to drive in what proved to be the winning run for the Yankees.

Chicago beat Minnesota, 5-3, in 11 innings to take over sole possession of fourth place. Boston downed Cleveland, 4-2, then dropped the second game, 10-1, while the Los Angeles Angels topped the Kansas City A's, 6-4, in the first game, but lost the second, 3-2.

Roy Siever's two-run homer off loser Jack Kralick capped a three-run rally in the 11th by the White Sox against the Twins. Harmon Killebrew hit his first homer of the year for the losers in the last of the 11th off Bob Shaw, who went the distance and gained his second win. Hal Naragon also homered for the Twins.

Four-at-a-Time Willie

WILLIE MAYS, San Francisco Giants slugger, holds four baseballs as he receives congratulations, in the clubhouse, on his four home runs against the Braves at Milwaukee, Sunday afternoon. He thus tied a record. The Giants hit eight homers in defeating the Braves, 14-4.

Most Drake Marks Better Than Those Made in Penn Meet

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 (AP)—A comparison of performances at the Drake and Penn Relays on Friday and Saturday shows the Midwest meet had better marks in 12 of 19 comparable events.

It was no surprise to Coach Oliver Jackson of Abilene Christian, who switches every few years from one meet to the other. Jackson says the track at Drake is much faster than Penn's Franklin Field.

"By the time the hundreds of grammar school and high school boys finish running, the track is all chewed up for the main college events," he observed. "And it's a dead track to start with."

Jackson, whose Abilene team won only one relay event, also pointed out that the lanes at Drake are much wider, allowing for easier handling of the batons and providing more room to race. Abilene lost a chance to win the mile relay when Dennis Richardson fell on a crowded turn.

Weather a Factor.

Drake competitors turned in better figures in nine track events and Penn runners in three. Field men here outscored their Drake counterparts 4-3. It is only fair to point out that the Penn meet took place under cloudy skies, with strong winds, cold temperatures and at times driving rain. The sun shone both days at Des Moines.

Some of the differences were very slight. Baylor's Bill Kemp ran the Drake 100-yard dash in 09.7 against 09.9 by Bob Brown of Penn State. Ronnie Ablowich of Georgia Tech turned in a 52.1 in the Drake 440 hurdles, while Russ Rogers of Maryland State was clocked at 52.2 for the same event in Philadelphia.

Then there was Godfrey Moore of Winston Salem leaping 24 feet, 7¾ inches at Penn in the broad jump to 24-7 for Oregon State's Darrell Horn at Drake. Abilene's winning 440 relay team whipped around Franklin Field in 40.9—tying its own meet record—as against Baylor's 41.1 at Des Moines, and Baylor turned in a 1:24.3 in the 880 to 1:24.8 for Villanova, a triple relay winner at Penn.

Some Differences Sharp.

That's the way it ran for the most part; little differences favoring Drake mostly. There were some sharp differences, like Kansas's record-breaking Drake performance in the two-mile. The time was 7:28.6 compared with 7:34.2 for Michigan at Franklin Field. And there was Western Michigan's 16.50.4 in the four-mile, a new American record. Michigan, running in a rain storm, was timed in 17:16.3 for the same event at Penn.

Four Drake records included a 15-foot, 6-inch pole vault by sophomore George Davies of Gklahoma State. Four competitors tied here at 14 feet. In the two-mile run, Houston's Pat Clohessy, with clocking of 8:58.6 at Des Moines, was much better than Denny Moore of Abilene; the Penn winner in 9:06.4. Rogers ran the 120 high hurdles at Franklin Field in 14 seconds flat as against 14.4 for a pair of Drake performers, Dave Odegard, Big Ten champ from Minnesota, and Bobby Bernard of Texas Christian.

Yale Sets Record.

In other relay races, host Drake ran the mile in 3:11.9, while Villanova won its seventh straight at Penn in 3:14.3; Southern Methodist took the Drake sprint medley in 3:30.9 compared with Yale's 3:25.5 at Philadelphia; the Elis' 9:53.9 in the distance medley — a Penn record—was better than Western Michigan's 9:58.7 at Drake, and Nebraska outdid Villanova in the 480-yard shuttle hurdle, 59.7 to 1:00.8.

Nick Kovalakides of Maryland bettered a Penn record with his 232-foot javelin throw. Steve Pauley of Oregon State won with a 222-9½ toss at Drake.

There you have the figures, but as one coach said, "They mean nothing, you have to meet head on to determine the better man."

Field of 10 Eligibles Expected to Go in Derby Trial Tomorrow

Garwol To Miss Rose Run

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP)—Ten leading 3-year-olds are expected to go to the post tomorrow in the Derby Trial Stakes, the last racing test for Kentucky Derby eligibles.

The one-mile dash, for which 10 were named through the entry box today, should produce at least three or four starters for next Saturday's $125,000-added Derby, the first Triple Crown jewel.

An even dozen Derby probables have not scheduled any more racing before the big one so, barring any mishaps, they figure to be sure Derby starters.

Named officially for the trial are: Four-and-Twenty, Crozier, Dr. Miller, Star X., Injun, He's A Pistol, Gay's Pal, Gayburn, Prince Nerida, and Harry N.

Not to be raced before the Run for the Roses are Ambiopoise, Carry Back, Globemaster, Flutterby, Ronnie's Ace, Light Talk, Sherluck, Loyal Son, Jay Fox, Dearborn, Bass Clef and On His Metal.

Missing from both lists is Harbor View Farm's Garwol, whose last place finish in Saturday's Stepping Stone Purse at Churchhill Downs against a field of Derby eligibles disappointed his trainer, Burley Parke.

Parke said he would ship the colt to New York early this week and planned to have him gelded in an effort to improve his disposition.

Parke said the colt has plenty of ability, but seems to resent urging by a jockey.

Several of the top eligibles are scheduled for long workouts early in the week, serving as their Derby tune-up.

Among those are Carry Back, which will get a slow mile and a quarter—the same distance he'll have to race in Saturday's classic. Ambiopoise and Ronnie's Ace also will get long works.

Flutterby will work out between races tomorrow afternoon.

If three or four use the Derby Trial to earn Derby starts, it will mean a field for the Derby of 15 or 16.

While the Trial is considered one of the major sharpeners for the Derby, it is hardly necessary to win it in order to take the winner's pot in the rose run. Since Black Gold won them both in 1924, only four other Trial winners have duplicated the feat.

Miss Wright Is Augusta Golf Victor

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 1 (UPI)—Youth showed the way here yesterday as Mickey Wright overcame the lead held by veterans Patty Berg and Louise Suggs to take the Women's Titleholders golf championship with a 299.

The long-hitting blonde from San Diego, Calif., took the $1200 top money and the symbolic green coat with a blazing final round 76.

But the cheers were just as loud for Miss Berg, the 43-year-old St. Andrews, Ill., professional who won the first Titleholders in 1937 and came within two strokes of winning her eighth yesterday.

Until Miss Wright came burning down the back nine with a string of precision pars, Miss Berg and four-time Titleholders champion Louis Suggs of Atlanta staged a head-on duel for the crown. The two finished in a tie for the lead at 300 while Miss Wright was on the fifteenth green needing four consecutive pars to win at 299.

"It made it a lot easier for me when I knew what I had to do," Mickey said when it was all over. She had met the challenge with the precision that has made her at 26 one of the top women golfers.

(Doris Phillips, amateur golfer from Belleville, Ill., finished up with 324. Her rounds were 74-79-84-77.)

Veteran Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., had a chance to move into a tie for the lead with only four holes to go but stayed one stroke back on the fifteenth with a bogey and then fell back for good two holes later with another. She finished fifth at 73-302.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., constantly a contender but never a winner in the Titleholders, ended in sixth place with 74-303.

King-Size Swing in Muny Game

BILL KING of the Hoffmeister team, takes a healthy cut at the ball in the sixth inning of the Muny South league game at Heine Meine Field. Hoffmeisters, defending champions, won the game from Red Villas, 9-2. Catcher is BOB HANTACK, umpire, BUD MILLER.

Champ Hoffmeisters Open With 9-2 Win; Armbruster Fans 11

By Dave Lipman

Seven outs after the start of the first 1961 game in the Muny Baseball Association's Heine Meine League yesterday, Jim O'Reilly of the Red Villas said that his team had a good chance in the pennant race this season, but the Hoffmeisters were the team to beat.

His opinion may in no small way have been influenced by the Hoffmeister bats, which had knocked him off the mound with a two-run third inning uprising that gave the defending Muny playoff champions a 4-0 lead at the time. O'Reilly was relieved by Fred Blasberg, who immediately struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

But before the game ended, Blasberg also probably would have agreed that the Hoffmeisters were the team to beat. He gave up five more runs as the Red Villas, runners up to the Hoffmeisters in the 1960 Muny playoffs, bowed, 9-2, in the game at Meine Field.

"They're tough," said O'Reilly, a one-time New York Yankee farmhand, after he left the mound. "But I think we have a good chance, especially if we can get another pitcher. We only have two now—Fred and me."

Armbruster Hurls Well.

As to his performance against the Hoffmeisters, O'Reilly, who had a 9-4 record last season with Sisler-Hummel (now the Connie Haeffners), smiled when asked if he didn't have all his stuff.

"I didn't have any stuff, period," he said.

His rival on the mound didn't experience that difficulty.

Dick Armbruster, a 27-year-old Muny veteran who did some baseball prepping in the Detroit Tiger chain, set down the Red Villas with seven hits while striking out 11 and walking only one.

Tight pitching was even more predominant in the second game of the league's opening doubleheader as Lee Holder and Luck Dawson of the Connie Haeffners outdueled Sonny Meyer of Vonder-Haars, 3-2.

Holder pitched hitless ball for the first three innings, then gave way to Dawson, who followed with two more hitless innings before allowing six hits and one run. He struck out eight and walked four in his six innings. Meyer, who had eight strikeouts, allowed only five hits, but key singles by Jack Brooks in the third and Milk Kupferer in the sixth cost him the two runs.

Don Mumm didn't let opening day in the Muny Association's North Side League bother him as he twirled a sparkling three-hitter and fanned 10 in leading Kutis North to a 3-0 victory over Borbein Young at Fairground Park No. 2.

Mumm got all the batting support he needed from Al Hedrick. The Kutis second baseman gave Mumm a 1-0 lead in the first when he scored Rick Lessman with a sacrifice fly. Then in the third, Mumm scored when Hedrick forced Lessman. And it was Hedrick again in the fifth, this time doubling home Lessman.

In the second game, Jim Doerr came through with a clutch triple with two on in the last of the ninth that gave the Ceresias a 9-8 victory over Union Printers.

Doerr's blow wiped out a 7-6 Printers' lead fashioned on a two-run uprising in the top of the ninth. That rally had nullified Larry Mauer's three-run, eighth-inning homer for Ceresias. Bill Hain had a first-inning homer for the losers.

The Muny Association's new Curt Flood League also launched its season yesterday with the Clowns nipping the Trojans, 11-10, thanks to an 11-hit attack, and the Cats topping the Pelicans, 10-7, despite home runs by the losers' Brown, Mack and Rogers.

Walter Tucker and Ben Pilgram combined to pitch Ballwin to a 2-1 victory over Creve Coeur in a County League game at Ballwin. Two other league games also were played, with Giesler-Jorgen defeating Vigus, 6-4, although the losers came up with home runs by Carl Kramer and A. G. Beckmann, and Keeney-Toelle edging Chesterfield, 11-9.

The Manchester at Twin City game was postponed because of rain.

Murphy's One-Hitter Stops Kutis South

After one out in the top of the first, Mal Murphy of Kimacks, defending champions in the Muny Baseball Association's South Side League, gave up a single to Bill Dittenhofer of Kutis South. That was the only hit he allowed in pitching a 4-0 victory in the second game of the league's opening day's doubleheader yesterday at Carondelet Park No. 1.

Murphy, who came up with the Muny Association's top mound job of the day, fanned 10 and gave up only two walks.

In the first game of the doubleheader, Carondelet Sunday Morning Club survived a two-run rally by the Diamonds in the top of the eighth for a 10-9 triumph.

Larry McCaskey of Moose Lodge, who last week had three hits and fanned 22 batters while pitching a two-hit shutout, continued his one-man uprising in the Southwestern Illinois Intercity League by providing a key hit in the winning rally as his team downed Mercer, 3-2.

McCaskey, who pitched a four-hitter, followed an eighth-inning walk to Bill Harper with a single, sending Harper to third. Harper scored what proved to be the winning run moments later on Don Burns's sacrifice fly. McCaskey also had two other hits.

That left Moose Lodge atop the league's Red Division with a 2-0 record. The only other perfect mark, also 2-0, is boasted by White City, which knocked off Sacred Heart of Granite City, 3-2, in a Blue Division game.

In other Intercity action, Harlan Scheibal and Dave Carnaghi each had three hits in four trips to lead Collinsville to an 11-2 victory over the McAteers of East St. Louis; Pocahontas nipped Maryville, 5-4, on Bill Duncan's sacrifice fly in the last of the eighth, and Troy exploded for six runs in the sixth for an 8-3 victory over Carpenter.

McCaskey's four-hitter was matched by Troy's Gary Wiesemeyer.

Missouri Is Second in Big Eight

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 1 (AP)—The high-riding Oklahoma State Cowboys, thanks to a helping hand from Kansas State, today held a two and a half game lead over Missouri in the Big Eight conference baseball race.

While Oklahoma State was running its undefeated string to 11 Big Eight games in beating Kansas, 17-7, in Stillwater Saturday, Kansas State won the first game of a doubleheader with Missouri, 4-1, here. The Tigers (8-2) won the second game, 2-1, but still lost half a game to O.S.U.

In other league action Saturday, Oklahoma won a doubleheader from Iowa State at Ames, Iowa, 8-3 and 18-8 and Nebraska beat Colorado, 9-7, at Boulder.

Friday doubleheaders this week will find Oklahoma State at Colorado, Nebraska at Kansas and Kansas State at Oklahoma. Missouri plays a single game at Iowa State. Saturday, Missouri and Iowa State play a twin bill in Ames, while the other three sites have single games.

Coast Fives One, Two in A.B.C. Meet

DETROIT, May 1 (AP) — Time is running out for teams in the competition for the Classic team division title at the fifty-eighth annual American Bowling Congress tournament.

Only 12 teams see action before this phase of play ends Friday night. They'll shoot at the leading 5983 total rolled Friday and Saturday by the Brentwood Bowl Club of San Francisco.

For a time it appeared the Zila All-Stars of Los Angeles might wrest the lead last night from their West Coast rivals. The Zilas had a 2954 opening series Saturday and opened with a 1015 game last night. But the attack fell apart the next two games on efforts of 901 and 862 and their 5732 put them in sixteenth place.

The Sargents of Topeka, Kan., finished with 5543 for forty-sixth place.

Top effort last night was a 2999 in regular team play by Central Heating of Gary, Ind., good for eighth place in this division. Ron Freeman (647), Frank Arndt (624) and Bob Logan (600) starred for the Gary club.

Patrick Napoli of New Brunswick, N.J., made the best showing in the minor events, shooting 648 in the doubles and 636 in the singles. He had 547 in the team event to boost his all-events total to 1831.

Philip Megletti of Boonton, N.J., had the top singles count, 657, while John Dayon and Joe Potts of New Brunswick, scored 1220 in doubles.

CITES TUBERCULOSIS PATIENT DIFFICULTY

St. Louis county residents who have tuberculosis are forced to go to Mount Vernon, Mo., 250 miles from St. Louis, for treatment of the disease at a hospital, Dr. William A. Werner, chest physician, said today.

Dr. Werner, a member of the board of the Tuberculosis and Health Society of St. Louis, was moderator of a panel discussion at the society's annual meeting at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The problem of sending county patients that distance for hospitalization could be easily and readily solved by public interest and support to help guide the county and state in finding a way to keep the patient in this general area, he said.

Dr. Werner charged there is laxity in the laws requiring an annual X-ray of barbers, beauticians and food handlers. "I feel that the situation presents a definite gap in tuberculosis control and this should be remedied as soon as possible," he asserted.

Seaking of economic factors, the physician pointed out that although there have been improvements, there still remains an "exceedingly great economic stress on the patient and his family." He suggested that these families can be aided more effectively and in such a way that they will retain their feeling of self-reliance and self respect.

Dr. Werner commended the society for the recent hiring of a rehabilitation co-ordinator to assist families and discussed aid available to individuals. He also spoke on the "tremendous change the course of the disease has taken in the past decade under proper treatment."

Panel speakers included David M. Gilley, an insurance consultant with Union Central Life Insurance Co.; William Maier, an accountant and law student; Sidney Sneider, buyer for Famous-Barr Co., and Irving Spencer, moving company owner.

Topics discussed by the panel were economic factors that arise when tuberculosis strikes a family, the social stigma suffered, hospitalization problem of county residents and need for the annual X-ray of persons in fields dealing closely with the general public.

Mrs. Leonore Goldstein, 4615 Lindell boulevard, received an award for 50 years of service. She has been on the board since 1911. Presentation was made by Leonard Hornbein, society president, to Mrs. Richard Sutter, who accepted for Mrs. Goldstein.

New board members elected at the meeting were Raymond H. Wittcoff, 50 Randelay drive, Ladue; Dr. William S. Klein, 1020 Lafayette street, Florissant; Dr. John P. Wyatt, 414 East Madison avenue, Kirkwood, and Mrs. John Rothschild, 8155 Stratford avenue, Clayton.

MERAMEC BASIN DATA SOUGHT FROM INDUSTRIES

A four-page questionnaire seeking information from industries and businesses considering the Meramec river basin as an industrial site is being sent to chambers of commerce and other organizations in the area by the Meramec Basin Research Project it was announced today.

Information sought includes population, employment, wage rates, commuting facilities, community characteristics including school ratings and numbers, home utilities, government and taxes, hospitals, recreation and other cultural facilities and industrial sites.

The questionnaire will be included in the project report scheduled to be completed late this year. Pertinent information derived from the report will be incorporated into a general study of the basin being conducted by the St. Louis district of the Army Corps of Engineers.

NEW HOSPITAL CHIEF TO CUT JOB OVERLAP

The first job to be tackled by Dr. Kenneth R. Nelson, newly appointed city hospital commissioner, will be the elimination of duplications in operation of health and hospital facilities, Dr. J. Earl Smith said today.

"Our immediate problem will be to talk about this," said Dr. Smith, who is director of the Department of Health and Hospitals. "I have some ideas that I will present to Dr. Nelson and I hope he will present some ideas, too. I don't want a 'yes' man in this job. I want somebody with his own ideas."

Dr. Smith said the overlapping of effort was in expenditure of money and use of personnel.

Dr. Nelson, who reported for duty today, said he wanted to familiarize himself with the St. Louis system before advancing any opinions.

From what he has observed, he said, "a very creditable job is being done here. But one always has to advance and improve. If you hold the line, you are falling backward."

He said Washington and St. Louis universities had medical schools which are among the best in the country and they should be of great value to the city hospital system.

Charles W. Betcher, who resinged as administrator of Malcolm Bliss Health Center last February, criticized Washington University's role in operation of that hospital. He said research was being stressed to the point where patients did not get enough attention. Dr. Nelson was asked about this.

"People must understand that medical care in the United States is on the highest plane in the world," Dr. Nelson said. "It has gotten there through research, teaching and giving good patient care. There will be a difference of opinion on where the emphasis should be placed, but there is no reason any differences cannot be resolved."

Dr. Nelson said he thought research, teaching and patient care should be advanced in "a reasonably equal manner."

The new administrator will receive an annual salary of $14,774. He supervises 3700 employes in five city hospitals. The budget last year was $17,000,000. He will have a rent-free eight-room home and other services worth about $6000 annually.

Dr. Nelson, 56 years old, has just retired as chief medical officer of the United States Coast Guard after 33 years in the Public Health Service. He received his medical degree from the University of Minnesota in 1929.

James W. Meade, who has been acting commissioner, now becomes assistant commissioner.

County

homesite, the tanks were being installed at a rate of 250 a month. Since the stricter regulations were imposed, and sewers are required in those places where septic tanks would be inadequate, only about 25 tanks a month are being installed, he said.

"As recently as 20 years ago, septic tank discharges went into storm water ditches," Mitchell said. "Nobody was too much concerned about it, because of the sparse population in such areas. But as the county grew, complaints about septic tank nuisances mushroomed. We still don't know how many septic tanks are being used in the county, or how many of them are operating satisfactorily."

In the county, a sewer service is offered by some engineering companies which has few parallels elsewhere in the nation. In areas beyond the MSD boundary, these companies build trunk lines to new developments, or to locations where new construction is likely.

The subdivision developers, who provide lateral sewer lines to the homes they are erecting, then make connections with the privately-operated trunk line. They usually sign a contract for an initial charge of about $275 per home, plus payment of an annual service charge ranging from $12 to $24.

The initial charge is included in the cost paid by the homebuyer, and he assumes the responsibility for paying the yearly service charge. Charles B. Kaiser, general counsel for MSD, said that the agreement signed with the subdivision developer usually provides that the annual service charge is a lien against the land, having priority even over the first mortgage.

KAISER SAID the private sewer operator also usually requires the developer to relinquish title to all the lateral lines which he has built in the subdivision. The developer is usually glad to do this, because it relieves him of all future responsibility for the sewers after he has sold the homes, the attorney said.

Kaiser and Mattei are not enthusiastic about the ownership of the lateral sewers being transferred to the private companies. "There is always the likelihood that in future years the homeowners will want a public agency, such as MSD, to buy the private sewers and operate them as part of a public system," Mattei explained. "If this occurs, the private sewer operator, in setting a price on his system, would include the value of the lateral network which he received free, and for which the homebuyers have already made payment. I dislike the idea of people having to pay twice for anything."

Mattei acknowledged that MSD has not been required to pay for such lateral sewers in acquiring some of the private systems in existence in MSD territory before the public district was formed. After two years of negotiation, MSD is acquiring some of the private lines operated by companies owned by Robert Joyce, an engineer, for about $537,000, Mattei said. Value of the lines had been set at about $980,000, he said, but Joyce is giving MSD a quitclaim title to the laterals he did not build.

PURCHASE of a sewer line operated by Russell & Co. for $396,000 was authorized by MSD trustees last year. In this case, the private company had agreed three years earlier to put into an escrow fund the $275 a home initial charge, retaining for itself only the annual service charges. Mattei said that new developments mushroomed so rapidly in the vicinity of the trunk line that MSD was able to buy out the company with the escrow fund accumulation.

Mitchell said that trunk sewers built and operated by a public agency are always preferable, "but when there is no agency and no funds to do the job, the private sewer companies perform a valuable service. Private sewers are always preferable to septic tanks."

The Sterling Engineering & Surveying Co. operates in the county a very large private sewer network, a 68-mile trunk system. With urban development expanding in a 40,000-acre area in the Fee Fee creek watershed, the company will build about another 20 miles of trunk lines this year, a spokesman said.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE, of which Representative L. H. Fountain (Dem.), North Carolina, is chairman, held that NIH cannot accurately estimate the needs of research scientists three to eight years in advance. Yet, the report said, grants are made for such periods and are paid regularly with little effort by NIH to maintain contact with the grantees and reassess the needs from year to year.

On the other hand, the report said, if those receiving grants report funds are inadequate, supplemental money often is made available and such spending ran to $10,800,000 in 1960.

The report made 13 recommendations and several suggestions for procedural changes aimed at more efficient use of money available for grants.

Fountain praised the over-all worth of the research work and the scientists who carry it out.

WICHITA QUARTET WINS BARBER SHOP CONTEST

For the second straight year, the Cavaliers singing quartet of Wichita, Kan., took top honors in the central states regional competition and Encouragement of the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Singing in America.

Other finalists in Saturday's program at Kiel Auditorium were the Kippers, St. Joseph, Mo., second and the Nubbins, Spencer, Ia., third. The three winners will compete for the International Championship at Philadelphia in June.

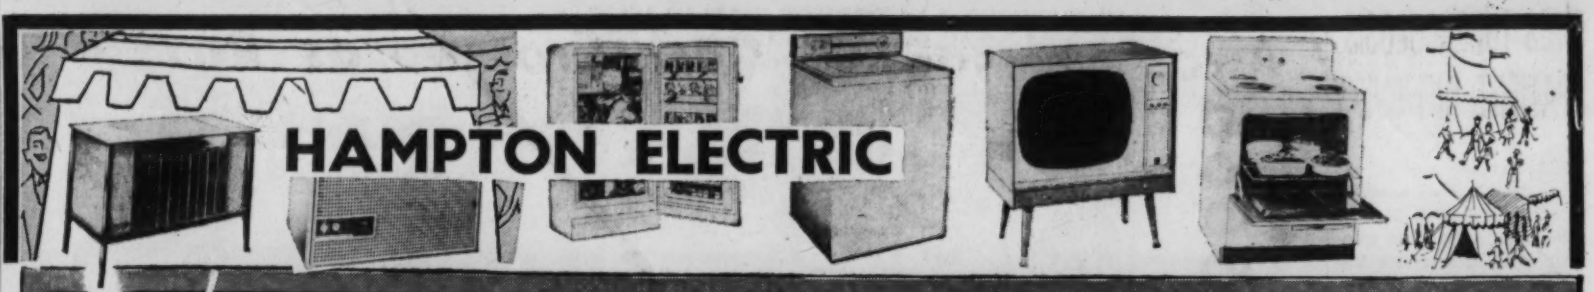

Two alternate quartets were selected for the international competition. They were the Buccaneers, Springfield, Mo., and the Vigortones, Cedar Rapids, Ia. About 2000 persons attended the three-day conference here which ended yesterday with a judges' critique of the quartets.

HEAVIER PENALTIES SOUGHT FOR FALSE BOMB REPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 1 (UPI)—Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy asked Congress today to increase greatly the penalties for making false airplane bomb reports.

He said the present false bomb report law is too lenient to correct the "serious and disturbing" disruption of air travel caused by bomb hoaxes.

He recommended legislation which would set maximum penalties of five years in prison and a $5000 fine for conviction on a felony charge of making a false bomb threat. His proposed bill also provides for a lesser penalty aimed at pranksters of one year in prison and a $1000 fine for conviction on misdemeanor charges. The present penalty is a maximum $1000 fine, one year in prison or both.

Visiting Day for Navy's Newest

Long lines of visitors inch their way aboard the Navy's newest ship, the carrier Kitty Hawk, following commissioning ceremony at Philadelphia Saturday. The carrier is the world's longest ship, at 1047 feet, and is the first of its type to be armed with guided missiles rather than anti-aircraft guns. It will cruise in Caribbean waters on its shakedown voyage. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Salvage Project After 333 Years

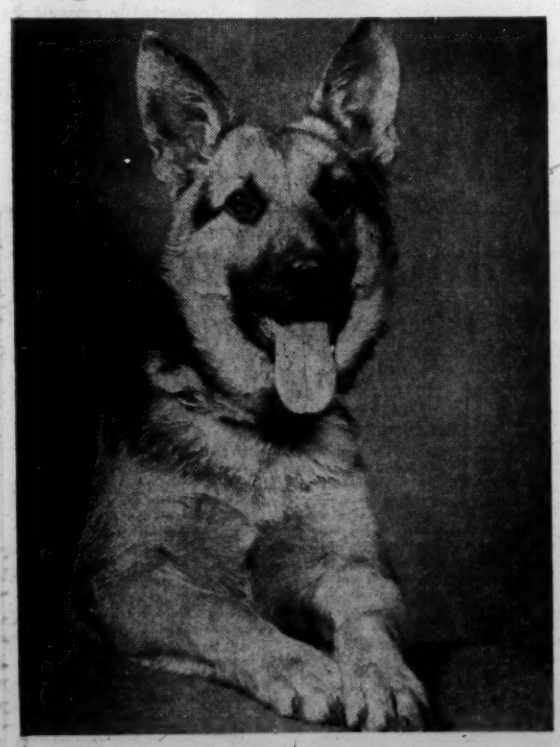

Outlines of the Swedish warship Wasa mark surface of Stockholm harbor as painstaking salvage program nears climax. The vessel, regarded as a mighty craft when built, brought dismay to the nation when it capsized and sank at the start of its maiden voyage in 1628. It was located on the harbor floor in 1954, since when divers have brought to the surface hundreds of relics in preliminary salvage work. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Passive Protest Against H-Bomb

Demonstrators blocking street in London await further developments after being barred from staging a sitdown strike outside Parliament Saturday in protest against Britain's nuclear weapons program. About 2000 took part in the demonstration and 826 were arrested. Police worked in relays removing the demonstrators who went limp on being approached and had to be carried to busses that took them to court. —Associated Press Radiophoto.

Dog of the Week

A Police Department special is the current choice for Dog of the Week at the Humane Society Shelter. She is unmistakably a German shepherd, the breed commonly referred to as police dog and well known for crime detection exploits. Named Stacie, and about 6 months old, she is available for adoption on application in person at the shelter, 1210 Macklind avenue.

Singing Expense Account Blues

"Expense account living is unfair and immoral."
—President JFK

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.

MAYDAY! MAYDAY!

This direct attack on the deductible expense account fell like late Spring frost on the literary barley fields.

From P. J. Moriarty's Chop House in New York to Sam Cohen's Lane Club in San Francisco, baseball writers shrieked as if they had been spiked. And account executives turned ashen.

As a matter of fact, I was sitting with Sam and P. J. himself in the Lane Club when President Kennedy's message reached us. (In a print-damp afternoon daily, born by a tottering press agent.)

"Now if this thing goes on," said P. J., "half the restaurants in the country'll have nothing in them but the waiters. The customers'll be home making hamburgers. I'm afraid to call New York," he said, "and that's the truth of it."

Well, this is a sad way to begin the merry month of May. A time for agonizing reappraisal. Nothing has succeeded so successfully in our taxable years as the deductible item.

"I do a hundred thousand dollars credit business myself. So's the customers have a record. And in New York that's nothing, nothing," said Mr. Moriarty.

Sam Cohen said he would suffer exceedingly if the baseball literati quit entertaining each other. Cohen runs a peculiar credit system—he bills only when he is completely insolvent. When cash is needed.

This happens about every six months. And when the bill for six months hits—!

"You take a place now like '21' or the Stork Club, places like that," said P. J. "It's all business from the TV people and Madison avenue. They've got to take the client to lunch, d'you see?

"So what is the man going to do while he's taking his favorite client to lunch? Is he going to eat a plate of corned beef and cabbage?

"Not at all," said P. J. "He's going to order himself a juicy steak. And maybe a little caviar to start. And a couple of drinks and all that.

He's paying 90 per cent of it to the Government anyway—the cash that is. He'd rather put it in his stomach."

"Now with the newspaper trade we get," said Moriarty, "it's different.

"With the newspapermen, it's not their own money.

"It belongs to the company. To the AP and the Times and the like.

"The newspaperman's got to get it away from them. So he figures his expense account—if you could see them working at the expense account, you wonder how far they could go in the world if they put the same amount of work into business!

"The things they think up," said P. J. "I won't name any names but I've thought to myself, 'That fellow should be writing fiction'. He'd make a million dollars!"

"And then," said Moriarty, "you take the poor man who's got himself accustomed to a yacht. That's where he entertains, d'you see? On the weekends, he's out on the yacht and deducting it. Enjoying his work.

"All that he'll have to give up. Same with the poor fellow who's got the company airplane. They'll ground him unless he can pay the gas bill himself.

"It'll be the rich who suffer," said P. J. "The ones who deduct most will be most deducted. Though I'm afraid to call my store in New York and find out what's happened," he said. "And that's true as I'm sitting here."

Ann Landers

She's Upset Over 'Doll'

DEAR ANN LANDERS: All my married life I've worked hard to help my husband in his business. When he was employed by an ice company I sat home day and night answering the phone and taking guff from the customers. When he was in the moving business and his helper didn't show up I helped him load and unload the truck. Now he has a restaurant and I work as a waitress.

ANN LANDERS

A few months ago he decided to hire a second waitress which I didn't think we could afford. She's a green-eyed redhead and he calls her "doll." All the work she does you can put in a thimble and still sew pretty good. I told him to get rid of her and he said, "She's a drawing card and the customers like her."

It seems to me that people come to a restaurant for good, clean food. The floor show they can get at a night club. Am I right? If you don't agree, please don't answer. I've got plenty of trouble now. WORKHORSE WIFE.

Dear W.H.W.: If you continue to nag your husband to fire the red-head he may get the crazy idea that you're jealous. Do this instead: Tell her AND him what she is expected to do. If she is so busy being a drawing card that she doesn't do the job, tell your husband that he will have to do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your apology for "Pubic Pluckers" was inadequate. Sure, some people who are friendly will brush dandruff off your shoulders and pick threads off your suit. But the majority of people who have the habit aren't doing it because they want you to look neat. They are self-conscious and can't think of anything to say or do, so they keep themselves busy at your expense.

A friend of mine used to do this much to my annoyance. Her faked solicitude griped my soul. I decided to put an end to it. The next time she plucked a non-existent piece of lint off my dress I placed my hand over hers and lifted it off my shoulder with just enough pressure so that she understood. She never pulled that on me again. C.B.W.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife used to be a good sport and go bowling and horseback riding with me. She was a crack shot and a great fisherman. Now that we have an infant son, she won't go with me anymore. She tells me to call the fellows. I really miss her company and have begged her to come along like old times but she says a baby needs its mother. What do you suggest? MOSSIE

Dear Mossie: It's wonderful that your wife has gained a son, but it's a shame she's losing a husband. Tell this Dumb-bunny to hire a sitter and go with you "like old times" or she may live to regret it.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers's booklet, "Help for The Alcoholic," inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Face Refresher Course

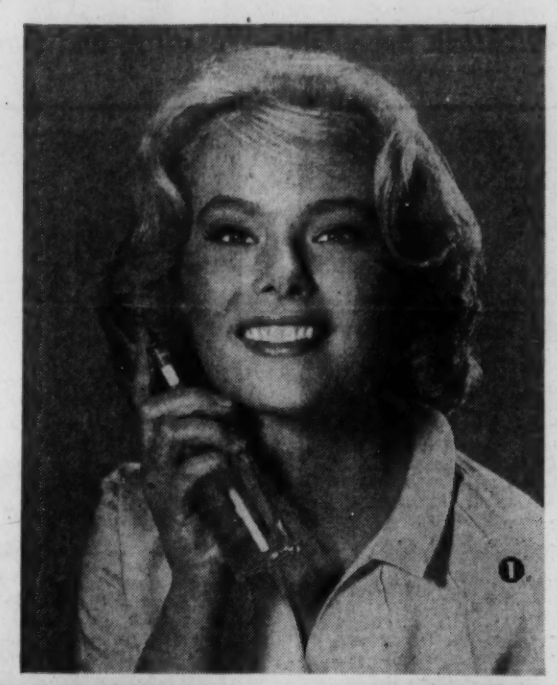

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

1. Ever wonder how an actress maintains the morning fresh look after hours under hot studio lights? Of course, there are techniques for keeping that day-end frazzle from showing. One mid-day refresher is to spray the face with water as Carolyn Komant, Warner Bros. actress, illustrates. Even a purse-size atomizer can be used to moisten the skin. Gently pat dry, and you'll discover those smile lines that peek through make-up have vanished.

2. Another formula for keeping that fresh-up feeling 'round the clock is to apply cologne to the various pulse points. The fragrance is placed behind the ears, at the wrists and in back of the knees. Not only does this provide a cooling sensation, but swirls the wearer in a delightful aroma.

3. A drooping mouth and faded lipline are camera giveaways of pep-less look. Much-photographed Carolyn, seen on TV's "77 Sunset Strip," knows the importance of keeping lips smooth and lustrous. For that day-long dewiness, try outlining mouth with foundation base, coating lips with moisturizer, then applying lip rouge. Technique keeps lipstick from creeping and color fresh and vivid looking.

P.S. The new forward sweep of coiffures puts the emphasis on the eyes. If you'd like to know Hollywood beauty tips to enhance eye loveliness, send 5 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade-Eyes," in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Contract Bridge

By B. Jay Becker

THIS HAND was played in Copenhagen during the European championships in 1948. It occurred during the match between Norway and Great Britain.

West was the late S. J. Simon, author of the classic "Why You Lose at Bridge," and East was the great British star, Terence Reese.

Reese missed his cue in this hand, as he himself relates, but it is doubtful that many players would have done other than he did.

Simon cashed two high clubs, East playing high-low, and then led a third club which Reese ruffed. Reese returned a heart.

The Norwegian declarer took the ace, entered dummy with a diamond, took a spade finesse, got to dummy with another diamond, took a second spade finesse, and made four spades. He lost two clubs and a ruff.

The same series of play took place at the other table when the British declarer, also in four spades, made the contract against the Norwegian East-West pair.

The hand turned out to be a standoff between the two teams, but received wide mention in the bridge world because both Easts missed an opportunity to stop the contract by making an unusual defensive play.

When West leads the third club, East can defeat the contract by discarding a diamond instead of ruffing the club. The effect of this play is that declarer can then enter dummy only once.

Since South requires two spade leads from dummy in order to finesse trumps twice, he eventually must go down after the diamond is discarded by East. East cannot be stopped from making two trump tricks.

The contract is easy enough to defeat on paper. But at the bridge table, where after-thoughts don't count, practically any player holding the East hand would ruff the club and then start thinking about what to do next.

The hand serves to provide additional proof that you can't play bridge mechanically.

Sights to See in Ozarks

By Leonard Hall

LEONARD HALL

WE TOLD in our last column about an Ozark spring tour that combines interest and beauty. The route was from St. Louis to Van Buren, then over to Eminence in Shannon county, and home by way of Salem, Steelville and Potosi. Ironton was suggested as luncheon stop the first day, but before reaching it and after visiting Washington State Park, one may turn aside at Caledonia to see the old Presbyterian Church, which shows both Gothic and Classic Revival influences. On the main street are the handsome Jane Thompson and Martin Ruggles residences in the same Classic Revival tradition, and some pleasant frame houses from pre-Civil War days.

If one has not visited the area, Elephant Rocks at Graniteville are worth seeing. These ancient igneous boulders of huge size, weathered through two hundred centuries into odd potato and elephant shapes, are unique in America. Many starts have been made at creating a State Park here, but to no avail. Chances seem that, in the end, the great boulders will be cut up for building material or tombstones. There are good restaurants in Ironton, as well as tourist facilities here and at Arcadia and out at Lake Killarney. Farther south at Lesterville on Black river, more accommodations are available for the recreation seeker. One of our favorite drives if times permits, however, is to come back north again to Belleview Valley and Highway 32. Here we head west a few miles to county A, then turn south to 49 which joins 21 again just west of Lesterville. This road affords some of the finest views in the eastern Ozarks. Again if there is time, when you come out on highway 21, turn north on county M to Johnson Shut-Ins State Park on Black river, one of Missouri's most spectacular geological wonders.

VAN BUREN on Current river offers more accommodations for the traveler than any other eastern Ozark town. In addition to a recently remodeled hotel, there are several excellent motor courts, and the comfortable house-keeping cottages at Big Spring State Park which open in early May. Restaurants in out-state Missouri have a way of changing hands frequently and going up and down in quality according to ownership. We often wonder what it is that convinces some country folk that, no matter if they've failed in a dozen other callings, they can always open an eating establishment and "get by." No doubt the rising tide of Ozark visitors will change this. They will demand—and eventually get—food as edible as most restaurant food in this vast "hamburger heaven" we call America.

By all means visit Big Spring State Park just four miles from Van Buren. Hike its trails for an hour or a day and enjoy the wildflowers. Then drive back up highways 60 and 21 to Ellington, turn west on 106 to Powder Mill Ferry, and get the folks there to run you by boat down-river to Blue Spring. Few who visit this "Spring of the Summer Sky" can ever forget its beauty. Incidentally, highway 106 is now blacktop and good traveling, instead of the dusty pock-marked gravel of other years.

YOU WILL FOLLOW this road to Eminence, chief outfitting point for float trips on the Current, Jacks Fork, and Eleven Point rivers. Then drive on out to Alley Spring State Park. Alley is one of our largest and most beautiful springs and the park has campgrounds and some cottages. It is so popular, however, that it needs enlarging. The whole Jacks Fork valley is, incidentally, one of the most interesting botanical areas in the Ozarks and many beautiful wildflowers will be found here.

Back to Eminence, now, and north on highway 19 to Current river again. Stop here at Round Spring State Park; another that is bursting its seams. Even so, Park Superintendent Chilton keeps it neat as a pin. Then if you haven't used up all your time—and especially if it is midweek—follow county roads J, K, E and state 119 to Montauk State Park. This beautiful spot is the source of Current river and is a "must" for birding and wildflowering if you are taking three days for your trip. On weekends it is crowded with trout fishermen enjoying fine sport. In midweek you can generally get accommodations; at other times a reservation is needed.

We will leave you to find your way home. You will see wild plum and cherry and peach, redbud and dogwood, a hundred blossoming wildflowers and as many birds if you can identify them. Oak leaves will be "big as a squirrel's ear" to indicate corn planting time and in the evenings you will hear tree frogs, spring peepers and garden toads singing. It's a perfect season to be abroad in the land.

Lady Dottie Adds Years Gracefully

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).

MIDDLE AGE HAS COME to our cat, Lady Dottie.

This is something that shouldn't happen to a dog, but she wears it well.

In testament to her, I must say that I have never in my life before met a living creature who greeted middle age in a more queenly manner.

HAL BOYLE

Lady Dottie wears it not as a tribulation (which, I must confess, middle age sometimes seems to me) or a burden. She bears it as a grace.

She no longer struggles when my wife, Frances, gets out the scissors to clip her claws. She accepts it as a form of beauty treatment and I am sure, if she had money, would tip Frances for the attention.

There was a time when the loving kids down the hall, Mark and Susan, snuggled up to her face only at the possible rebuke of a red tattoo.

But it has been months and months since Lady Dottie decorated them with a scratch. She hardly bothers any more even to scratch the $450 sofa my wife bought a year ago. (Actually, she doesn't have to. She did such a thorough job on it that visitors still exclaim, "My where did you get that wonderful TUFTED sofa?"

No, Lady Dottie now lets our daughter, Tracy Ann, and the kids down the hall pick her up and wear her as a languid liquid fur wrap.

She tolerantly permits their invasion of her dignity, then drips out of their grip and resumes the unruffled empire of herself without malice.

More and more she sleeps. It is said that man is the only animal that sleeps on its back. But Lady Dottie must have decided she is a human being. Now she brazenly naps at mid-day in my favorite chair flat on her back with her legs widespread.

One of her other favorite places to fall asleep is in the doorway between our living room and kitchen. This gives the members of our family the choice of stepping on her, or stepping over her.

A cat awake is supposed to have no other interest than hunting. The more you watch them, the more you believe this.

There was a time when Lady Dottie would throw herself bodily against the window of our apartment to try to reach a bird flying by outside.

She still crouches and prepares to spring at their passage. But she realizes fairly well now that they are not for her.

Her favorite hunting targets are cockroaches. My wife wouldn't like for me to admit publicly that we have cockroaches. But after 13 years of living in the same apartment, although under the terms of our lease we are not permitted to be host to permanent guests, but we do have three of them.

Their names are Jed, Abner and Lili. They tend to haunt packages of cereal whose boxtops promise our daughter that if she can solve a puzzle she can win a free round trip to Paris with her favorite Shetland pony.

My wife complains she can never catch Jed, Abner, or Lili. She sometimes even stoutly denies they live in our apartment.

But when I go into the kitchen for a fresh glass of water during an intermission on the late, late, late movie on television, I often see Lady Dottie carefully stalking Jed—or Abner—or Lili.

She toys with them . . . then lets them get away.

That's why I am convinced for sure that Lady Dottie is middle-aged. When you're middle-aged, you hoard your fun.

Why destroy it?

BOAT WITH A PLUS: Here's a dual-purpose craft—a houseboat that becomes, in winter, with the addition of retractable wheels, a comfortable trailer or cabin for hunting or winter sports. A modified catamaran design—28 feet long, eight feet wide, nine and a half feet high—the unusual boat has four built-in bunks with springs and upholstered mattresses that convert to divans for daytime use, marine-type toilet and washbowl, large sink, icebox, marine stove, tiled floor, foldaway table for six. The main salon, carpeted and draped, provides a large open living area. Powered by a 75-horsepower outboard, the boat can cruise at 25 miles per hour.

GLOWING STEPS: Now comes a new kind of stair light that's two-dimensional in shape, uses electroluminescence instead of ordinary lighting, and is easy to mount on any existing stairway with little or no carpentry. The 4 by 8 by ½ inch panel can be installed nearly flush on a stair riser. It uses almost no current, lasts about 10,000 hours instead of 750 for the ordinary light bulb. The soft, glareless light provides just enough illumination so you can go up and down stairs in safety. About to be marketed, it comes in yellow or green, complete with metal frame and lead-in wires for simple installation. It's also useful in hallways, bathrooms, nurseries, photographic darkrooms.

HAUL ALL: Add a convenience for gardeners: a new portable cart that holds all garden tools and equipment and rolls them along wherever you go, saving trips back to garage or basement for forgotten items. The cart's frame stores five long-handle tools such as rake, shovel and broom, and a metal basket holds sprays, clippers, other hand tools and supplies. There's a removable, two-bushel cloth bag for hauling leaves, weeds and garden debris. And with bag removed, the cart totes cans, fertilizer, other heavy items. All steel with a baked enamel finish, the unit should take tough use. Large rubber-tired wheels make it easy to roll. And the complete unit folds for storage with the tools in place.

Try and Stop Me

FROM A LONG LIST of "definitions" being circulated surreptitiously in Washington's huge Pentagon Building:

A program: An assignment that cannot be completed by a single telephone call.

To activate: To make carbons and add more names to a memo.

Consultant: Any average man more than 50 miles from home.

To implement: To hire more people and wangle additional office space.

Reorientation: Getting used to working again.

Committee: The unwilling, recruited from the unfit to do the unnecessary.

BACKSTAIRS at the WHITE HOUSE

First Families and Their Attire

Mrs. Eisenhower Was the Fussiest Dresser, Mrs. Roosevelt the Least Interested in Clothes

Stories of family life of Presidents and their First Ladies are told in this condensation of Lillian Rogers Parks's new best-selling book, "My Thirty Years Backstairs at the White House." Following is the second installment of the book, rich in anecdotes of behind-the-scenes life in the Presidential mansion.

By Lillian Rogers Parks

With Frances Spatz Leighton

CHAPTER TWO

MRS. TRUMAN merely gritted her teeth when PRESIDENT TRUMAN wore wild sport shirts, but really put her foot down against red slacks.

THE FIRST LADY I felt sorriest for was Mrs. Truman. The most conservative dresser herself, she was shocked at the wild clothes the President loved to deck himself in.

She had to be a kind of watchdog. The funniest moment was when she was getting ready for a trip to Florida with the President and caught his valet packing into his suitcase a pair of red trousers—a gift like the million-and-one wild sport shirts. She lived in mortal fear he'd wear them.

If he wanted to bring the bow tie back into style (which he did), she could stand that; and if he wanted to wear hibiscus-flowered sport shirts among his press buddies, she could grit her teeth; but the bright red slacks —never!

So the red trousers were not going on any trip SHE was going on, and the pants stayed home. But the very next time the President made a trip to Florida without his wife, he wore those pants.

As for her own clothes, Mrs. Truman was always simple and dignified. She went in for suits —even silk suits for teas. Her favorite color was black, and even when I ventured to say you shouldn't wear too much black when you get older, Mrs. "T." repeated: "You can't go wrong with black."

Mrs. Roosevelt hated to be bothered with clothes, and would order up a supply at the beginning of a season. She had a few lace dresses that could be tossed into a suitcase, and would not need ironing when unpacked.

If Mrs. Roosevelt cared the least about clothes, Mrs. Eisenhower cared the most. She collects clothes as others collect demitasse cups or paintings. When I retired from the White House, her evening gowns alone were so numerous that she had appropriated two whole bedrooms in which to store them.

It is true she loved pink. One day I sent a helper to the storeroom for five yards of flannel I needed for a bag to cover a mop so it wouldn't scuff the floor. When he returned, I looked at it aghast.

"It's for Mrs. E., isn't it?" he asked, holding the pink flannel. "No," I snapped, "it's for the mop."

"Well," he said matter-of-factly, "everything else is pink around here, so we may as well have pink mops." And we did.

Mrs. Eisenhower is the only First Lady I have known who fought to remain youthful, and who had not resigned herself to being "matronly." Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Truman automatically chose the matronly type of dress, and Mrs. Hoover emphasized it, and seemed to glory in her "grandmotherliness."

FDR, named one of the best-dressed men, was so clothes-"unconscious" that the day after the attempt on his life, when he was President-elect, he was about to put on the same "unlucky" tie, not even recognizing it as the one he had worn the day before.

And when FDR died, several dozen sweaters were sitting in his room that he had never worn. I myself counted 35 hats, as well as other hats I didn't bother to count, which were still in boxes. The sweaters he had worn were mended and remended, and his hats were battered.

The safety of Presidents is a big problem as is illustrated here at FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S inauguration in 1941. Secret Service agents ignore ceremony, keep an eye on the crowd.

MRS. EISENHOWER fought to remain youthful and wouldn't wear a matronly-type dress.

I'm proud to say I made one of Eisenhower's favorite garments—a cooking apron. He loved to wear it, and would sit down among his guests when he was cooking, with it still on.

Among ourselves, we shared many other private stories about Presidents and their clothes habits—such as Coolidge, who wanted his wife to dress elegantly while he wore oversized underwear, badly fitted shirts, and suspenders much too wide for him. He didn't own a tailored suit until a mill finally sent him free material.

Mrs. Eisenhower, however, would have a dress shortened if she felt it was off by one-quarter inch. She is by far the greatest perfectionist. No hook could be bad or zipper showing or she'd change dresses.

Her husband will go down in sartorial history for changing the inaugural garb from top hat to Homburg. But in my heart, Truman will also go down in history for this: he washed his own undergarments.

Mrs. Roosevelt lived 12 years in the White House knowing an attempt had been made against her husband's life while he was still President-elect, and could happen again.

Few people knew that FDR slept with a gun under his pillow, and that the Secret Service men had ordered Mrs. Roosevelt to carry a gun wherever she went. Backstairs at the White House, we staff members called the guns "His" and "Hers."

It seemed that every crackpot in the country came to see the Roosevelts, some bringing their own food supply. Once it was a ticking clock a man had simply bought before visiting the White House; another time, a call from St. Elizabeth's Hospital to watch out for a man in purple trunks who had escaped and was on his way to "clean out the White House." Fortunately, they got him before he got to the Roosevelts.

These incidents reminded us of the time a man arrived in full dress and top hat and ushered himself into the White House through a comedy of errors. Teddy Roosevelt was President, and because he frequently made late appointments, his evening visitor did not seem unnatural.

He had talked to the man for only a few minutes when the President marched out of the room, pretending to call for drinks but muttering to the butler to "get that crackpot out of here." The guards who later searched him found "that crackpot" was carrying a loaded gun.

President Coolidge, just a little fellow, was least afraid, and thought it a good game to sneak out without his protectors. Eisenhower braved travel abroad when he was warned of possible danger to his life, and Truman hardly changed his schedule, even on the day the shooting took place in the attempt on his life at Blair House.

Funniest along this line—if such grim tales can be funny—is the case of the man who hung around the White House for two weeks. It was during World War II, and there was a law against crossing streets against the red light.

The police were being vigilant, and caught this man crossing from Lafayette Square toward the White House. "I'm going to take you to the station house," said the policeman; whereupon the man replied: "You can't do that. I'm here to shoot the President." He's still at St. Elizabeth's.

Once, when a postal clerk found a bomb in a package, he was highly praised; until it turned out he had sent the bomb himself. There are so many variations on this theme that the Secret Service men are suspicious of everything. Visitors are not allowed to put their hands in their pockets, or even to walk too fast through the White House rooms.

When someone wants to read poetry to the President, or give him a message from God, he is looked over very carefully, and generally finds a good audience in the Secret Service men. When a man says "they" are out to get him and only the President can help, they really pay attention.

Let me warn you—if you want to get a gift through to the White House, don't send a watch. And don't send food; most of it is destroyed. Don't send anything that looks too mysterious. Once, such a package was destroyed, and later proved to be phonograph records that Churchill had sent. That was a hard one to explain.

The White House is probably the only home that actually needs whole rooms for gifts, which are always inspected and X-rayed. Probably the Eisenhowers have accepted more gifts than any other First Family, among them Gettysburg's lawn of shrubbery and its barnful of prize livestock.

We've received some weird presents at the White House, but the one that turned my stomach the most was a gruesome scroll that had been written in human blood and was sent from India.

No matter how disgusting and how batty the gift, the White House secretaries must send a sweet and gracious note acknowledging it. The last time I stopped by the gift department, there were two full-time secretaries doing just that.

TOMORROW: Don't envy a first lady.

BIG PUZZLEMENT about Gina Lollobrigida and husband becoming Canadian citizens and announcing they'd live in Toronto. They looked at estates there but bought nothing. THE SWIRL of human destinies has strange origins. Sometimes there is a connection between the fury of war and the music of angels . . . When the Luftwaffe was putting the torch to London a group in an air raid shelter sought to retain their morale by singing together. They were joined by an 8-year-old whose voice emerged clear and beautiful. At that moment a mother discovered her offspring's talent and soon after she was given voice lessons. CLAUDETTE COLBERT and Julie Newmar appeared in a hit last year, "Marriage Go Round," the play, not the film. Cast members say they feuded during the entire run . . . Martha Carr's OPINION

New Father Upset by the Baby.

Dear Martha:

I AM A MAN and I need your help. My wife has just had a baby and it has changed our whole lives. We can't go any place and the baby cries so it's almost impossible to enjoy staying home. I know I'm acting like a baby, too, but I can't help it. Our bedroom was always full of perfume but since we've had to put the baby's crib in there because of lack of room the place smells like wet diapers. My wife says I'll get used to all this. But will I?

NEW FATHER.

You'll get used to it, all right, if you'll force yourself to step across a thin line into adulthood. The life of another human being has been put into your hands and from here on out your responsibilities will grow and multiply. Measure up to them and you'll be the happiest man in the world; regard them as a burden and inconvenience and you'll be miserable. Don't be discouraged. A first baby can turn a home upside down for the first few weeks and even months. When you get over the shock of being a father for the first time, you'll even grow to accept those little diapers.

Dear Martha:

CONGRATULATIONS to you for the firm answer you gave to "Rich Widower." I am also a widower, not wealthy in money but rich in happy memories of 14 years of marriage to a wonderful woman. I keep house for myself, cook, even bake and do the cleaning. In the evenings I recline in an easy chair with my faithful dog at my feet and thank God for all the happiness granted me in my life. The reason I know that I am lucky is that after I got out of the hospital recently my doctor advised me to get a housekeeper. I had interviews with prospective housekeepers and the experience opened my eyes. One after another the women grew sly when they found I was alone in the world with no children to eventually share my property. I could read their minds. And because I could I decided to try to make the grade alone. It would have been an insult to my wife's memory to take one of these grasping women into our home.

WEALTHY IN MEMORIES.

IN ANSWER TO "Worried Daughter": You've done what you could for your father. You have your own family to think of now. Do not risk breaking up your own marriage by trying to reunite your parents. Your first loyalty now is to your husband.

IN ANSWER TO "Starving Door-to-Door Salesman": It is possible that you have abilities which could be put to good use in other lines of endeavor. Contact the Vocational Counseling Service, 3936 Lindell boulevard, phone OLive 2-8500. Good luck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J.S.": I am very much interested in your letter. Will you call Martha Carr at the Post-Dispatch, MAin 1-1111? I feel you can help me. Your information will be kept in strictest confidence.

Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for Martha's leaflets, "Guide for the Bride," "Wedding Expenses" and "How to Announce Your Engagement."

Common Lung Disorder

DEAR DR. MOLNER: What about bronchiectasis? My husband went to a specialist who said he should have the infected part removed. Our family physician said he did not think it was that serious and to wait. My husband works hard and long hours. He also smokes and drinks heavily. Would this have any effect on his not feeling good and having a continuous cold? MRS. R.K.

DR. MOLNER

Mrs. R.K. will have to wait until tomorrow to get some of the specific answers that her letter poses, but I want to thank her for reminding me of this topic, because it is an important one.

Bronchiectasis (bron-kee-ECK-tuh-sis) is a common lung disorder. It is dilation of the bronchial tubes, especially the smaller branches. These areas become infected, and there is a puddling of mucus and pus.

The symptoms include cough, copious foul sputum, bleeding, shortness of breath, fever, weakness. In fact, hemorrhage from this cause is more common than hemorrhage from tuberculosis.

Likewise, this disease can occur among children as well as adults. In children, it may be due to some defect in lung development, which is the commonest cause in the young ones, or about 75 per cent of the time, it may follow pneumonia, whooping cough or measles.

In adults, some lung or respiratory infection is the primary cause as a rule, and chronic sinusitis is frequently associated with it—a good reason, I should say, for NOT giving in to the popular but mistaken belief that you can't do anything about sinus trouble, so why try. You can.

Another valuable bit of information to keep in mind is that chronic bronchiectasis is often attributed to "bronchitis." Well, to be technical, it IS a form of bronchitis but not in the usual sense of the term as we customarily employ that word.

Bronchiectasis is annoying, stubborn and sometimes extremely dangerous, so it behooves us all to know the fundamentals concerning it. Tomorrow we'll talk a bit about how it is diagnosed, and treated, and answer the other questions asked specifically in today's letter.

"Don't Quit Because of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling. Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Bill Vaughan Says:

THE FRUSTRATION of the hunter who encounters the big moose when he has left his gun at home must be equaled by that of the driver who sees a pedestrian on the curbing when there's no mud puddle handy.

LEAF-RAKING was one of the depression's answers to unemployment. But the man whose job has been automated out of existence today is likely to find there's a machine that rakes leaves, too.

ISN'T IT sort of a slap at the equality of the sexes that, amid all the talk about capturing the minds of men, nobody seems to want the minds of women?

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 1.

NANCY WALKER, co-starring with Phil Silvers in the Broadway musical, "Do Re Me," has been looking for some thing or some place all her life and now she's found it. It's the top of a mountain on the island of St. Thomas in the Caribbean.

This small, red-haired, brown-eyed woman who talks tough, but thinks gently, will make an appearance on the Perry Como show at 8 p.m. Wednesday on NBC-TV (KSD-TV). At a table here at Sardi's we talked about her Shangri-La.

"It's hard to explain," she said. "I always felt an emptiness, some sort of unfulfilled longing. I didn't even know what I was longing for, except I never felt I belonged any place. The first time I set eyes on St. Thomas, I knew I'd found what I needed. It's almost become a religion to me. If I get a five-minute rehearsal break, I want to get on a plane and go down there.

Miss Walker said she used to love New York City, but now she only likes working here, not living here.

"I love the stage and television and the movies, too," she said. "I could never give up acting, but I could move out of Manhattan tomorrow and never look back. I loathe it. It's gotten to be a ridiculous city, ugly, dirty.

"The other day I was riding in a taxi and we were just pulling away from a light when I looked out the window and saw a woman fall down as she came up out of a subway. Do you know that two men walking behind her simply stepped over her? They didn't even stop to give her a hand, or see if she was about to die.

"I took my little girl into a department store here and some dame got in the elevator in front of us and gave her a big shove so she could squeeze in, too. Well, I grabbed this big gal and I said, 'Don't you dare push my child, or any other child. What's your hurry? Do you think this is the last elevator going up?'

NANCY WALKER

"I can get along here because I can take care of myself. If somebody tries to push me around, I'll let him have it, but there are a lot of people in this city who can't fight back. I feel sorry for them. They ought to get out. Too much rudeness, more than that, downright cruelty."

Miss Walker, who is married to David Craig, the vocal coach, met her husband when she went to see him because she had been missing her voice for almost 10 years, and she was literally unable to sing any more.

"I couldn't stand him when I first met him," she said. "I didn't believe he could help me. It was kind of a desperation measure, pushed on me by friends. I wasn't being too charming, but he infuriated me into working with him. He had an opening line like, 'Oh yes, Nancy Walker. You were pretty good once. Whatever happened to you?'"

They have been married for 10 years and have a 7½-year-old daughter, Miranda, who has announced she will be both a ballet dancer and a nurse because neither profession alone would take enough of her time, and she doesn't care to be an actress because that's too easy.

"She seems to have come to that conclusion from watching her mother work," said Miss Walker. "She thinks I'm fairly amusing on stage, but I feel I'm a howling success when occasionally I'm able to amuse her at home."

Miss Walker drank some mid-afternoon coffee and mused aloud about comediennes. She feels the reason there are so few is because most women don't really want to be funny.

"It hurts women's feelings to be laughed at," she said. "It used to hurt mine. I wanted to look like June Allyson and I pictured myself in a leghorn hat leaning over a garden fence. I was shocked and surprised when people thought I was so funny. Since I got reconciled to it, I've made the best of it. I'm in the acting business, Charlie, and if this is what makes the money, that is what I'll do."

Socially she hasn't had the problem of people expecting her to be amusing every times she opens her mouth. Quite the reverse. People seem to think she expects them to be excruciatingly funny.

"They're always trying, and I couldn't care less," she said. "I feel like saying, 'Relax with the jokes and the stories. Tell me your troubles, or what kind of a day it is going to be. Read any good books lately?' I don't crave to be constantly entertained. I can be happy while not laughing.'"

Miss Walker, the daughter of the Dewey Bartos, a well-known vaudeville team, was born in Philadelphia, the home of her mother's family. She grew up on the circuit; her childhood an endless succession of hotels and boarding houses, her playground, one long, similar backstage. It is almost too obvious to say that this must be one of the reasons she has always been looking for a place to call home.

She made her Broadway debut in "Best Foot Forward," and had a very successful run in "Phoenix 55," but her current Broadway show is the biggest hit she has had.

"I'm not one of those who is bored by a long run, believe you me. I've been in so many short runs, I keep looking on the bulletin board for the closing notice. Force of habit."

Miss Walker and her husband and Miranda have an eight-room apartment here, but in a year or two, after they build their house in St. Thomas, they will move there permanently.

"I can get up here by plane in a couple of hours," said Miss Walker. "If I were doing a play, I'd just live in a hotel or sublet a small place. I'd go back and forth just to do one television show. And I could never voluntarily give up the theater, but if it ever gives me up, I have some place to go."

She said she would like very much to make some English movies since she thinks the English do subtle comedy like nobody else.

"The movies, well done, are a great art form," she said, "but there is something wrong with the system in Hollywood. I was out there for years and it's all wrong. Too much buildup for the little starlets to take, too much commotion about make-up, getting the ringlets just right. Too much wasted time. Let's just shoot the picture. Everything's got to be overproduced. And some of the scripts. Oh my.

"I saw a movie the other day that was so infantile, if you showed it in Europe, it would start another war. Well, what am I getting all steamed up about? I've got my island."

If ever you are looking everywhere for Nancy Walker and you simply can't find her, try St. Thomas. That's where she'll be, on top of a mountain, gazing at the blue waters of the Caribbean.

Sandwich Spread

Season chopped chicken with curry powder and lemon juice, add mayonaise to moisten and use the mixture as a sandwich spread.

Good Gravy

Worcestershire, tabasco or cayenne may be just what is needed to season meat gravy made from the dripping in the roasting pan. If you keep caramelized sugar syrup on hand it will add good flavor and rich brown color.

The Eruptions of Vesuvius

The sixth grade, Welcome School, Greenville, S. C., has been awarded a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia in recognition of excellent letters and questions sent to Uncle Ray. Teachers of the fourth through twelfth grade classes may ask their pupils to submit questions for possible awards of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia. Select the best five questions on science, history or geography and send to Uncle Ray in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Drawing of a Vesuvius eruption during past century.

By Ramon Coffman

HERE IS a two-part question about a great volcano:

"How large is Vesuvius, and how many times has it erupt- fore that eruption?

During visits to southern Italy, I have seen old Vesuvius smoking. It has been classed as an active volcano for almost 19 centuries.

There was a time when this volcano seemed to be an innocent part of the landscape. The inside of the crater was covered with grass, and the ancient Romans never had heard of an eruption there. When Spartacus and his army of slaves wanted a camping place in the area, they chose the green crater.

The most famous eruption of a volcano in all history took place 1882 years ago. Vesuvius sent out vast amounts of ashes, mud and lava. Three towns were destroyed. One of them, the city of Pompeii, was buried under ashes. The ashes have been dug away during modern times, and Pompeii is now one of the great sights of Europe.

Q. Was there any warning before the eruption?

A. No eruption had taken place in recorded history, but there had been earthquakes from time to time over a period of 16 years. The shaking of the volcano failed to frighten the persons in the area.

Mount Vesuvius is about three-fourths of a mile in height. It was 600 feet taller before the eruption of 1906 knocked the upper parts of the cone to pieces.

There have been a dozen important eruptions of this volcano since it buried Pompeii. Many other explosions with less force have taken place in the same period.
